Break In Coal Dispute Seen In Washington

Lewis Calls District Presidents Who Pass On Settlement Plans

KRUG, UMW LEADER MAY ATTEND MONDAY SESSION

Truman May Ask John L. To Work Out Contract With Coal Operators

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Signs of a possible break in the soft coal dispute arose tonight as John L. Lewis called in district union presidents who would pass on any settlement plan.

Lewis himself made no announcement but the approximately 30 presidents in the bituminous-producing areas were brought into Washington, where the United Mine Workers are negotiating with the government for higher wages.

Krug Still Absent

Neither Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, who made the present contract covering federal operation of the mines, nor Lewis, has attended the government conferences. Krug's aides were uncertain whether he would return from a western trip before Monday. With Krug absent, Lewis has remained aloof too.

At the conclusion of today's meeting, the conferees recessed until Monday, at which time both Lewis and Krug may attend the session.

A committee of union lieutenants has been talking for the past week with Navy Captain N. H. Collisson, coal mines administrator. Presumably the union men have been building up economic arguments on which to base a demand for higher pay and a shorter work week.

Lewis is proceeding with plans to end the contract with the government November 20, although Krug has questioned his right to do so.

Should President Truman, in his anticipated statement on wage policy within the next few days, remove all controls on coal as well as other industries, there is some chance, in the opinion of labor leaders, that he may ask Lewis to sit down with the coal operators themselves and work out a contract.

Government Controls Mines

The coal mines administration has been running the mines since government seizure last May 22. Krug and Lewis made their contract May 29, ending a 59-day strike. It is believed that another strike would hardly be popular either with the miners or the incoming Republican-dominated Congress.

There was speculation whether fear of restrictive labor legislation might influence Lewis to settle quickly with the government or the operators without a work stoppage.

The National Labor Relations Board, meantime, heard arguments on one of the biggest obstacles in the way of return of the mines to private operation — the unionization of mine supervisors.

The case heard by the three-man National Labor Board involved 136 mine supervisors of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation in Western Pennsylvania.

Court Decision Necessary

Attorney John C. Bane of the Jones and Laughlin Company told the board that there could not be "any real labor peace in the industry" until the courts finally determine whether mine supervisors have a right to be members of the Lewis Union.

Bane said that the supervisors could not be considered employees under the Wagner Labor Relations Act, but even if they could, the United Mine Workers as the rank and file union could not represent them, too.

Attorney Sam Krimsly, representing Lewis' United Clerical Technical and Supervisory Union, said that to have another union in the field would lead to "chaos".

NLRB Chairman Paul M. Herzog said the board would speed a decision on the Jones and Laughlin case, to permit a quiet settlement of the controversy in the Supreme Court, for which it is headed.

Italy Refuses Tito's Trieste Trade Offer

Yugoslav Head Declares He Is Willing To Make Swap For Gorizia

ROME, Nov. 7. (AP)—Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist leader, brought from Marshal Tito today a conciliatory offer to bargain on Trieste, The Italian Government at once rejected Tito's specific offer—as gently as possible.

Togliatti said the Yugoslav chieftain was ready to let Italy keep Trieste—the first such willingness he has shown—provided Yugoslavia could have Gorizia, a smaller city to the north which is slated in the peace treaty to go to Italy, and provided a "Democratic" autonomous rule was set up in Trieste.

Will Not Consider Offer

A few hours later the Italian cabinet—which contains four Communists—announced "Italy cannot consider the cession to Yugoslavia of Gorizia, an integral part of Italian territory and as such recognized unanimously by the Big Four.

The communique expressed willingness to negotiate on other proposals brought from Tito, however, and Foreign Minister Pietro Nenni issued this clarifying statement:

"Obviously (the government) could not take as a point of departure for direct negotiations with Yugoslavia the giving up of an Italian city which the Big Four had already decided ought to remain Italian.

However, the statement added, "the government has noted with the liveliest satisfaction the positive elements which stand out in the news brought by Togliatti which refer to Yugoslavia's renunciation of all claim to Trieste, the reparation of prisoners and the rapid reestablishment of commercial relations between the two countries."

Report Is Published

Togliatti's report of hitherto mysterious three-day mission to Tito was published in the form of an interview with the Communist Newspaper L'Unita just as the foreign ministers council in New York was taking a holiday on the final consideration of the explosive Trieste issue of the Italian peace treaty.

The first indication that Tito would willingly give up Trieste was given in these words of Togliatti: 'Marshal Tito told me he was disposed to consent that Trieste belong to Italy that it be under the sovereignty of the Italian Republic, if Italy consents to leave to Yugoslavia Gorizia, a city which even according to the data of our foreign minister is predominantly Slav."

He added a condition which Tito attached, that Trieste be given "Democratic" autonomous statute under the aegis of the United Nations.

Truman Scoffs Plan That He Quit Office

Terms Suggestion That He Step Aside "Fantastic"; Makes Plans For Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—President Truman brushed aside as fantastic today even the possibility that he will resign to turn over the presidency to the victorious Republicans.

It can be said unqualifiedly that he not only intends to stay on the job, but that he is making plans for his administration under the changes brought by Republican control of Congress.

That he has not even toyed with the idea of quitting is confirmed by everyone who has talked with the President since Tuesday's Republican land slide.

Fulbright Voices Idea

The idea of resignation was voiced by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.)

It would involve the appointment of a Republican Secretary of State immediately preceding the resignation, enabling the appointee to succeed to the presidency.

Fulbright himself stuck by his idea today but said he did not intend to do anything about it—that he had merely advanced it as an observation.

He repeated, however, that he will introduce in the new Congress a constitutional amendment to permit a quick change in the event of another such power split.

The resignation plan, the Arkansan told reporters, was merely a suggestion for a quick way to deal with the current situation. He said there is no question as to its legality in view of the constitution's mention of "resignation" of the Chief Executive. As to procedure, he said the logical person to receive a resignation would be the President of the Senate, who normally receives electoral returns.

Many Are Indignant

"The country has spoken so decisively in the election that it is entitled to have the Republican party in power and see what it can do," Fulbright said.

Officially, the White House takes an attitude that the idea should not be dignified by comment.

Persons close to the President, however, have been indignant, calling it an idea more suitable to the British Parliamentary System than the American constitutional system of government.

Mr. Truman is said to share this view fully.

He had made it clear to intimates that he has not even considered resigning.

His chief concern, it is said, is that the Democratic defeat be not misunderstood abroad and that there be no deviation from the present bi-partisan foreign policy.

U. S. Asserts She Will Keep Pacific Bases

Urges U. N. To Set Up Trusteeship Council; Shuns Veto Talk

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov 7 (AP)—The United States served notice today that it would retain control of mandated Pacific Islands taken from Japan in the recent war if the United Nations finally rejects an American plan for limited United Natilons supervision of those vast island areas.

U. S. To Keep Islands

John Foster Dulles, a United States alternate delegate to the U. N. Assembly, informed the 51-member trusteeship committee of the United States offer of limited supervision which was announced last night in Washington and later told newsmen in effect that this country would keep its hands on the islands.

"If the proposal fails, the administration continues in de facto status under the control of the present administering authority," Dulles said. Some newsmen suggested that this migiht be termed a "take-it-or-leave-it" condition but Dulles did not agree with that interpretation.

In the committee Dulles asked the United Nations to set up a trusteeship council immediately. He coupled this with a warning against bringing the veto into the trusteeship picture at this time.

Russia has lot tipped her hand on trusteeship but there have been reports that she might seek to declare herself a state "directly concerned" and by that interpretation exercise a sort of veto on trusteeships.

Willing To Join Others

Striking at the possibility that any state might seek an "interested" status to invoke a veto, Dulles said:

"The United States is willing to join with others in accepting a system of equality and not asserting a special position in relation to the agreements now before us. We do not want an interpretation of 'States directly concerned' which might import the veto system into the work of the assembly."

Dulles, a New York lawyer and expert on trusteeships, told the committee this country is ready to accept draft agreements submitted by Great Britain, France, Belgium, New Zealand and Australia on eight old League of Nations mandates.

Court Decision On Miners Staff Union Is Sought

NLRB Hears Arguments In Jones And Laughlin Steel, Inc., Case

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Another step to obtain a court decision on the union organizing rights of coal mine supervisory workers was taken today before the National Labor Relations Board.

The board heard arguments in a case involving the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and 136 supervisory workers represented by the united clerical, technical and supervisory employes union, a branch of John L. Lewis' Mine Workers Union.

Will Go To Courts

NLRB Chairman Paul Herzog said the case is expected to go to the Courts for a final settlement.

John C. Bane, Jr., attorney for J. and L. asserted that until the courts do make a ruling there will be no real labor peace in the coal industry. He based his arguments on two points:

1. Supervisory workers were not to be considered as coming under the Wagner Act provisions which requires employers to bargain with employes.

Who Will Swear New Senators In?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Know anybody who has had experience swearing in United States Senators?

There's a job open for the right man, come January 3.

Always before some dignitary has been ready, eager and qualified.

But now—.

Well, it's usually the vice-president's job. But you know what happened to our vice-president.

When there's no Vice-President, the President pro tempore of the Senate inherits the chore.

Kenneth McKellar, Tennessee, is the Senate's President Pro Tem. But his present term will be over when the 80th Congress meets. He has been re-elected, but he must be sworn in too, just like beginning Senators.

Obviously he can't be the swearer, and the swearee, too. Who, then, will swear them in?

Leslie L. Biffle, secretary of the Senate, was consulted as a possible authority. But this was enough to baffle Biffle.

"We like to follow precedent here," he told a reporter, "and now, of course, we have no precedent to follow."

Still, he had some ideas.

WD Will Prosecute For Furlough Lies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—The War Department warned today that former GIs face prosecution for trying to collect more than they are due in terminal leave payments.

Major Gen. W. H. Kasten, Army Chief of Finance, reported "a few" false statements had been spotted among 3,900,000 claims thus far received, and that the evidence was being turned over to the Justice Department.

One former soldier, he said in a statement, tried to collect for time he was absent without leave, after altering his discharge certificate.

OPA Master List Controlled Items Delayed By Doubt

Board Is Uncertain About What To Do With Building Materials

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Uncertainty over what to do about controls over building materials tonight delayed issuance of a "master list of items to be kept under price ceilings.

"It is doubtful that final action will be taken until next week," an administration offical told a reporter. This list had been anticipated this weekend.

Immediate action, he said, is bogged down on the problem of building materials. Another high official commented that the administration's election setback will bring no slackening of price and wage decontrols.

There has been much interagency discussion of what shall be kept on the list.

Phice Administrator Paul Porter has asked Stabilization Director John R. Steelman for a ruling on the decontrol question. Steelman has held a number of conferences with others concerned. He reportedly was giving much consideration to the contention of building contractors that the Veterans Emergency Housing program would be speeded if price controls should be lifted from building materials. This action has been strongly apposed by Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt.

One official reported that Steelman has two possible control lists up for consideration.

One proposes that controls be retained only on rents, sugar, syrups and rice.

The other proposes that controls be retained on those items plus automobiles and such basic commodities as coal, lumber, building material, steel and other metals, and their products.

$250,000 Fire Sweeps Philadelphia Waterfront

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7. (AP)—A four-alarm fire along Philadelphia's sprawling waterfront district leveled one warehouse and swept two others early today, injuring one fireman and causing a major traffic snarl during rush hours.

Fire Marshal George Gallagher, who said it was impossible to estimate damage at this time, expressed belief the blaze started from a lighted cigaret. About $250,000 worth of wool was destroyed.

The fire originated in a box of wooden crates piled in front of the M. Bercowitz and Company, four-story warehouse, quickly spread throughout the structure and then ate away at two neighboring warehouses.

Flames could be seen across the Delaware river in Camden, N. J. Some observers described burning embers as "balls of fire" which fell onto rooftops of other buildings.

O'Conor Has 1,613 Lead In Tight Race For Senate

All But 5 Of State's Polling Places Make Report

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP)—An unofficial tabulation of canvassed returns in 15 Maryland Counties tonight narrowed Governor Herbert R. O'Conor's lead to 1,613 votes in the tight race with D. John Markey, his Republican opponent for a United States Senate seat.

The revised figures, based on unofficial returns from all but five of the state's 1,330 polling places and official revisions in the 15 counties gave O'Conor 236,600 and Markey 234,987.

One Place Missed

Principal revision accounted for a hitherto missing polling place in Baltimore County. Markey picked up 72 votes on the final returns from the county, carrying it 24,936 to 21,437.

Markey gained 101 votes in Garrett county on the basis of canvass returns and O'Conor lost 88 in Somerset. O'Conor gained 53 in Carroll county, and all the other revisions were sma'

Still to be heard from were four polling places in Baltimore City and one in Kent County.

Without any reports from these districts, and without the official revisions, O'Conor had led by 1,789 votes.

On that basis, O'Conor's headquarters claimed victory and estimated the official figures would give the governor a plurality of approximately 2,100 votes.

Markey stood by his statement of yesterday that the final figures would show him the winner by 500 to 1,000.

"Pending completion of the official count, I have no other statement to make," he said.

Around both headquarters there was talk of a recount should the final tally be as close as the unofficial tabulations, but at neither place would a spokesman come out flatly and say there would be one.

Other Tight Race

The canvass was looked to particularly for first returns from four Baltimore City polling places, one in Baltimore county, and one in Kent, from which no reports were available for the unofficial tabulation.

The only other race in which official figures might change the result apparently was in the first Congressional District, where Republican Edward T. Miller won out over Democratic Rep. Dudley G. Roe on the basis of the unofficial count. Miller's plurality was about 1,300 votes on the basis of almost complete returns.

Molotov Pays Visit To President Truman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—Russian Foreign Minister Molotov came to Washington today and had what he termed "a good conversation" with President Truman.

Molotov took time out from his duties at the United Nations meeting in New York to see Mr. Truman and to attend a Soviet Embassy party commemorating the anniversary of the Russian revolution.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross described the Russian's White House visit as purely a social affair.

Through an interpreter, Molotov told Mr. Truman that he had been very happy at his reception in the United States, that Americans are delightful hosts.

Ross related further that Molotov, mindful of Mr. Truman's head cold, inquired about the President's health and was told by Mr. Truman that he felt much better.

More Votes Than Voters Are Found In One Precinct

Baltimore Polling Officials Are Summoned For Hearing Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8 (AP)—Four Baltimore polling place officials received summonses today to appear before the Board of Elections Supervisors tomorrow to explain a discrepancy in returns that showed more votes than voters.

The four conducted the election in the First Precinct of the Sixth Ward, where the supervisors found returns which they said made it appear that 583 ballots were cast by only 293 voters.

D. John Markey, Republican Senatorial Candidate, may lose up to 200 votes by the discrepancy. Because of the importance of even slight fluctuations in the Senatorial race, the election supervisors decided to summon the polling place officials formally.

Similar errors in previous elections were ironed out in informal interviews between the board and the polling place officials involved.

Deputy Sheriff W. Daniel Willicke served the summonses tonight on Benson C. Seymour, Elizabeth C. Young, Democrats, and Cora F.

Colonel Clarence S. Irvine, pilot of the famed B-29 which recently flew non-stop from Hawaii to Cairo, Egypt, to establish a world's record, described the trans-continental flight as a "breeze."

Much Of "Missing" Polish Art Is Found As Quarrel Continues

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (AP)—Some of the "missing" Polish art treasures brought to Canada for safekeeping during the war began turning up today as rival Polish factions continued their quarrel over the valuable collection.

It appeared not unlikely that all of the "lost" treasures would be accounted for soon, but when the present Polish government would get them seemed to be another matter.

The present Polish government, which is friendly to Moscow, and the erstwhile London Polish government in exile, most of whose members are persona non grata in Russia, were telling their story in the Canadian newspapers. They were not speaking to each other directly.

The case of the "lost" treasures came to light last night when the present Polish minister to Ottawa, Dr. Alfred Fiderkiewicz, charged that valuable gold and silver threaded gobelin tapestries and other art works and historical mementoes were "missing" when he took office here a few months ago.

They had been stored, he said, in the Bank of Montreal in Ottawa, on the Canadian government's experimental farm just outside Ottawa, in an Ottawa convent and in Ste. Anne De Beaupre, the Quebec Province Church renowned for its shrine.

Dr. Fiderkiewicz's predecessor as minister here, Dr. W. Babinski, who represented the London Polish government, said the treasures were removed during his regime, but he said he did not know exactly when or by whom. He is living in Ottawa, without official position now.

Tonight it appeared that the treasures in question were worth something considerably less than the original million dollar estimate. It also appeared that all would be uncovered quickly if the two Polish

Jury Acquits Negro; Is Barred For Life

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7. (AP)—Superior Judge William R. McKay today ordered the names of a jury of five men and seven women stricken from the court jury files and barred from future duty for life after they had acquitted a negro laborer on a charge of killing a baby.

The jury found 26-year-old Joseph Burk innocent of slaying Roy Woods, five-months-old son of Mrs. Jeannie Woods, 16 Burk was convicted July 9 of killing Mrs. Woods and sentenced to life imprisonment. The child's body was found beside that of his mother.

"Your verdict in this case is amazing," Judge McKay told the jurors. "This man offered to plead guilty to the child's murder if he was assured of a life sentence. It just doesn't make sense."

The disbarred jury had no comment.

Steering Group Calls Meeting Next Thursday

Prospects Of Trouble Seen In Parceling Out Election Trophies

DEMOCRATS PIN HOPES ON REPUBLICAN MESS-UP

Expect To Junk All Remaining Wartime Controls; Trim Spending

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Victorious Senate Republicans today ordered a head start on whipping together a party program and policy for the first GOP-dominated Congress in a decaded and a half.

Their steering committee goes into a huddle next Thursday.

House Republican leaders already had picked the same day to start things humming in a steering committee meeting of their own. But they saw prospects of trouble over parceling out election trophies.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) spoke in Chicago of trimming to $25,000,000,000 or $30,000,000,000 the budget for the year beginning next July 1. President Truman's revised budget for the current year is around $41,500,000,000.

Taft, who is in line for the Senate Majority Leadership and the chairmanship of the finance committee, said that the budget had to be balanced, but that he did not favor retiring the national debt too fast. He said taxes probably could be cut.

Answers Not Easy

Democrats, too, switched from election post mortems to asking in earnest: "Where do we go from here?" They found no easy answer.

But one thing was sure—whatever their course, President Truman intends to stand firmly at the head of the party. It can be stated without any ifs, ands or buts that the Chief Executive has no intention of resigning and letting the GOP walk into the White House as well as the Capitol.

Whatever hopes for the future Democrats held were based largely on the idea that perhaps the Republicans might mess things up so badly that the people will turn once again to the Democrats, if not in 1948, then in 1950 or 1952.

The GOP, determined that nothing like that shall happen, have a big organizing and planning job to do.

This is how they are going about it:

The steering committees—compact groups of a few key leaders—meet next week to start figuring out the exact position the Republicans should take on taxes, economic controls, war powers and other legislative issues sure to come up in 1947.

Will Make Assignments

In addition they are going to look into the problem of distributing major Congressional posts, available to the GOP for the first time since the early 30s. They have to work out committee assignments and committee chairmanships, and determine whether to stick by a decision of the 79th Congress to abolish some committees and bunch others together.

Whatever their recommendations, these will have to be ratified later on. A conference of all House Republicans has been set for December 2. None has been called yet for GOP Senators.

On the basis of campaign promises and statements and post-election comments from party leaders, the Republicans appear to be ready to move in the direction of:

1. Sharply trimming taxes and government spending.

2. Junking as swiftly as possible all remaining wartime controls. These are the basis of many of the pricing, allocation and rationing programs, also scrapping the President's power to seize struck industries in an emergency.

3. Continuing a bipartisan Foreign Policy in co-operation with the present administration.

Standings Given

How—or whether—they are going to accomplish this, with a Democrat in the White House and large Democratic contingents still in Congress, will be determined later.

Latest standings in the political league, with most of the tabulations

Maryland Democrats Have 18-11 Edge In Senate, 86-37 In House

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7 (AP) — Virtually complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's election today promised the new Democratic state administration an 18-11 working majority in the State Senate and 86-37 edge in the House of Delegates when the Maryland General Assembly convenes in January.

It will, however, have the strongest Republican flavor in 30 years and the number of new faces will be the greatest in a like period.

The Democrats lost two seats in the Senate, where they have a 20-9 majority in the present lineup. They lost five seats previously held by the party, but landed two new ones which formerly were held by Republicans.

Among the present incumbents who went down to defeat were senators Earl Bennett (D) of Dorchester County, Bernard I. Gonder (D) of Garrett County, J. Wilmer Cronin (D) of Harford County, E. Milton Altfeld (D) of Baltimore City, and James W Hughes (R) of Charles.

The nine incumbents who came through include Senators Robert R. Kimble (R) of Allegany County, Wilbur R. Dulin (D) of Anne Arundel; Harold A. Sothoron (D) of Prince Georges, Joseph M. George (D) of Queen Anne's, Thomas F. Johnson (D) of Worcester, and Frank J. Bauer, Wilmer C. Carter, Joseph R. Byrnes, and George W.

Russian Military Display On 29th Anniversary Is Smallest In Years

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP)—Thousands of Russians who packed into Red Square today for the 29th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevist revolution saw one of their smallest military displays in years and heard Marshal Leonid A. Govorov portray the Soviet Union as a nation striving to insure peace for all the world.

Present only in pictures was Generalissimo Joseph Stalin, who five years ago viewed the parade while German armies were hammering at the approaches to Moscow.

(It was the second year in a row that Stalin, who was taking a needed Black Sea vacation at this time last year, did not attend the Red Square ceremonies. Last night Gen. Andrei Zhadanov delivered the annual policy declaration customarily given by Stalin. A year ago the declaration was made by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who is now in New York.

(The Times of London speculated that it was "perhaps on medical advice" that Stalin stayed away this year.)

A light, icy rain fell as the Russians, beginnning a three-day holiday, massed into the historic square.

Govorov, 49-year-old hero of Leningrad, in his address to the troops preceding the parade, referred to the "considerable reduction" in the Soviet Army's strength due to demobilization, but said that Russian armed might remained "a reliable

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Another step to obtain a court decision on the union organizing rights of coal mine supervisory workers was taken today before the National Labor Relations Board.

The board heard arguments in a case involving the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and 136 supervisory workers represented by the united clerical, technical and supervisory employes union, a branch of John L. Lewis' Mine Workers Union.

Will Go To Courts

NLRB Chairman Paul Herzog said the case is expected to go to the Courts for a final settlement.

John C. Bane, Jr., attorney for J. and L. asserted that until the courts do make a ruling there will be no real labor peace in the coal industry. He based his arguments on two points:

1. Supervisory workers were not to be considered as coming under the Wagner Act provisions which requires employers to bargain with employes.

WD Will Prosecute For Furlough Lies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—The War Department warned today that former GIs face prosecution for trying to collect more than they are due in terminal leave payments.

Major Gen. W. H. Kasten, Army Chief of Finance, reported "a few" false statements had been spotted among 3,900,000 claims thus far received, and that the evidence was being turned over to the Justice Department.

One former soldier, he said in a statement, tried to collect for time he was absent without leave, after altering his discharge certificate.

Maryland Democrats Have 18-11 Edge In Senate, 86-37 In House

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—Virtually complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's election today promised the new Democratic state administration an 18-11 working majority in the State Senate and 86-37 edge in the House of Delegates when the Maryland General Assembly convenes in January.

It will, however, have the strongest Republican flavor in 30 years and the number of new faces will be the greatest in a like period.

The Democrats lost two seats in the Senate, where they have a 20-9 majority in the present lineup. They lost five seats previously held by the party, but landed two new ones which formerly were held by Republicans.

Among the present incumbents who went down to defeat were senators Earl Bennett (D) of Dorchester County, Bernard I. Gonder (D) of Garrett County, J. Wilmer Cronin (D) of Harford County, E. Milton Altfeld (D) of Baltimore City, and James W. Hughes (R) of Charles.

The nine incumbents who came through include Senators Robert R. Kimble (R) of Allegany County, Wilbur R. Duiin (D) of Anne Arundel; Harold A. Sothoron (D) of Prince Georges, Joseph M. George (D) of Queen Anne's, Thomas F. Johnson (D) of Worcester, and Frank J. Bauer, Wilmer C. Carter, Joseph R. Byrnes, and George W.

Truman Scoffs Plan That He Quit Office

U. S. Asserts She Will Keep Pacific Bases

Urges U. N. To Set Up Trusteeship Council; Shuns Veto Talk

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov 7 (AP)—The United States served notice today that it would retain control of mandated Pacific Islands taken from Japan in the recent war if the United Nations finally rejects an American plan for limited United Nations supervision of those vast island areas.

U. S. To Keep Islands

John Foster Dulles, a United States alternate delegate to the U. N. Assembly, informed the 51-member trusteeship committee of the United States offer of limited supervision which was announced last night in Washington and later told newsmen in effect that this country would keep its hands on the islands.

"If the proposal fails, the administration continues in de facto status under the control of the present administering authority," Dulles said. Some newsmen suggested that this might be termed a "take-it-or-leave-it" condition but Dulles did not agree with that interpretation.

In the committee Dulles asked the United Nations to set up a trusteeship council immediately. He coupled this with a warning against bringing the veto into the trusteeship picture at this time.

Russia has not tipped her hand on trusteeship but there have been reports that she might seek to declare herself a state "directly concerned" and by that interpretation exercise a sort of veto on trusteeships.

Willing To Join Others

Striking at the possibility that any state might seek an "interested" status to invoke a veto, Dulles said:

"The United States is willing to join with others in accepting a system of equality and not asserting a special position in relation to the agreements now before us. We do not want an interpretation of 'States directly concerned' which might import the veto system into the work of the assembly."

Dulles, a New York lawyer and expert on trusteeships, told the committee this country is ready to accept draft agreements submitted by Great Britain, France, Belgium, New Zealand and Australia on eight old League of Nations mandates.

Terms Suggestion That He Step Aside "Fantastic"; Makes Plans For Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—President Truman brushed aside as fantastic today even the possibility that he will resign to turn over the presidency to the victorious Republicans.

It can be said unqualifiedly that he not only intends to stay on the job, but that he is making plans for his administration under the changes brought by Republican control of Congress.

That he has not even toyed with the idea of quitting is confirmed by everyone who has talked with the President since Tuesday's Republican land slide.

Fulbright Voices Idea

The idea of resignation was voiced by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.)

It would involve the appointment of a Republican Secretary of State immediately preceding the resignation, enabling the appointee to succeed to the presidency.

Fulbright himself stuck by his idea today but said he did not intend to do anything about it—that he had merely advanced it as an observation.

He repeated, however, that he will introduce in the new Congress a constitutional amendment to permit a quick change in the event of another such power split.

The resignation plan, the Arkansan told reporters, was merely a suggestion for a quick way to deal with the current situation. He said there is no question as to its legality in view of the constitution's mention of "resignation" of the Chief Executive. As to procedure, he said the logical person to receive a resignation would be the President of the Senate, who normally receives electoral returns.

Many Are Indignant

"The country has spoken so decisively in the election that it is entitled to have the Republican party in power and see what it can do," Fulbright said.

Officially, the White House takes an attitude that the idea should not be dignified by comment.

Persons close to the President, however, have been indignant, calling it an idea more suitable to the British Parliamentary System than the American constitutional system of government.

Mr. Truman is said to share this view fully.

He had made it clear to intimates that he has not even considered resigning.

His chief concern, it is said, is that the Democratic defeat be not misunderstood abroad and that there be no deviation from the present bi-partisan foreign policy.

Who Will Swear New Senators In?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Know anybody who has had experience swearing in United States Senators?

There's a job open for the right man, come January 3.

Always before some dignitary has been ready, eager and qualified.

But now—,

Well, it's usually the vice-president's job. But you know what happened to our vice-president.

When there's no Vice-President, the President pro tempore of the Senate inherits the chore.

Kenneth McKellar, Tennessee, is the Senate's President Pro Tem. But his present term will be over when the 80th Congress meets. He has been re-elected, but he must be sworn in too, just like beginning Senators.

Obviously he can't be the swearer, and the swearee, too. Who, then, will swear them in?

Leslie L. Biffle, secretary of the Senate, was consulted as a possible authority. But this was enough to baffle Biffle.

"We like to follow precedent here," he told a reporter, "and now, of course, we have no precedent to follow."

Still, he had some ideas.

OPA Master List Controlled Items Delayed By Doubt

Board Is Uncertain About What To Do With Building Materials

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Uncertainty over what to do about controls over building materials tonight delayed issuance of a "master list of items to be kept under price ceilings.

"It is doubtful that final action will be taken until next week," an administration offical told a reporter. This list had been anticipated this weekend.

Immediate action, he said, is bogged down on the problem of building materials. Another high official commented that the administration's election setback will bring no slackening of price and wage decontrols.

There has been much interagency discussion of what shall be kept on the list.

Phice Administrator Paul Porter has asked Stabilization Director John R. Steelman for a ruling on the decontrol question. Steelman has held a number of conferences with others concerned. He reportedly was giving much consideration to the contention of building contractors that the Veterans Emergency Housing program would be speeded if price controls should be lifted from building materials. This action has been strongly apposed by Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt.

One official reported that Steelman has two possible control lists up for consideration.

One proposes that controls be retained only on rents, sugar, syrups and rice.

The other proposes that controls be retained on those items plus automobiles and such basic commodities as coal, lumber, building material, steel and other metals, and their products.

$250,000 Fire Sweeps Philadelphia Waterfront

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7. (AP)—A four-alarm fire along Philadelphia's sprawling waterfront district leveled one warehouse and swept two others early today, injuring one fireman and causing a major traffic snarl during rush hours.

Fire Marshal George Gallagher, who said it was impossible to estimate damage at this time, expressed belief the blaze started from a lighted cigaret. About $250,000 worth of wool was destroyed.

The fire originated in a box of wooden crates piled in front of the M Bercowitz and Company, four-story warehouse, quickly spread throughout the structure and then ate away at two neighboring warehouses.

Flames could be seen across the Delaware river in Camden, N. J. Some observers described burning embers as "bails of fire" which fell onto rooftops of other buildings.

O'Conor Has 1,613 Lead In Tight Race For Senate

All But 5 Of State's Polling Places Make Report

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP)—An unofficial tabulation of canvassed returns in 15 Maryland Counties tonight narrowed Governor Herbert R. O'Conor's lead to 1,613 votes in the tight race with D. John Markey, his Republican opponent for a United States Senate seat.

The revised figures, based on unofficial returns from all but five of the state's 1,330 polling places and official revisions in the 15 counties gave O'Conor 236,600 and Markey 234,987.

One Place Missed

Principal revision accounted for a hitherto missing polling place in Baltimore County. Markey picked up 72 votes on the final returns from the county, carrying it 24,936 to 21,437.

Markey gained 101 votes in Garrett county on the basis of canvass returns and O'Conor lost 88 in Somerset. O'Conor gained 53 in Carroll county, and all the other revisions were sma'

Still to be heard from were four polling places in Baltimore City and one in Kent County.

Without any reports from these districts, and without the official revisions, O'Conor had led by 1,789 votes.

On that basis, O'Conor's headquarters claimed victory and estimated the official figures would give the governor a plurality of approximately 2,100 votes.

Markey stood by his statement of yesterday that the final figures would show him the winner by 500 to 1,000.

"Pending completion of the official count, I have no other statement to make," he said.

Around both headquarters there was talk of a recount should the final tally be as close as the unofficial tabulations, but at neither place would a spokesman come out flatly and say there would be one.

Other Tight Race

The canvass was looked to particularly for first returns from four Baltimore City polling places, one in Baltimore county, and one in Kent, from which no reports were available for the unofficial tabulation.

The only other race in which official figures might change the result apparently was in the first Congressional District, where Republican Edward T. Miller won out over Democratic Rep. Dudley G. Roe on the basis of the unofficial count. Miller's plurality was about 1,300 votes on the basis of almost complete returns.

Molotov Pays Visit To President Truman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—Russian Foreign Minister Molotov came to Washington today and had what he termed "a good conversation" with President Truman.

Molotov took time out from his duties at the United Nations meeting in New York to see Mr. Truman and to attend a Soviet Embassy party commemorating the anniversary of the Russian revolution.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross described the Russian's White House visit as purely a social affair.

Through an interpreter, Molotov told Mr. Truman that he had been very happy at his reception in the United States, that Americans are delightful hosts.

Ross related further that Molotov, mindful of Mr. Truman's head cold, inquired about the President's health and was told by Mr. Truman that he felt much better.

More Votes Than Voters Are Found In One Precinct

Baltimore Polling Officials Are Summoned For Hearing Today

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8 (AP)—Four Baltimore polling place officials received summonses today to appear before the Board of Elections Supervisors tomorrow to explain a discrepancy in returns that showed more votes than voters.

The four conducted the election in the First Precinct of the Sixth Ward, where the supervisors found returns which they said made it appear that 583 ballots were cast by only 293 voters.

D. John Markey, Republican Senatorial Candidate, may lose up to 200 votes by the discrepancy. Because of the importance of even slight fluctuations in the Senatorial race, the election supervisors decided to summon the polling place officials formally.

Similar errors in previous elections were ironed out in informal interviews between the board and the polling place officials involved.

Deputy Sheriff W. Daniel Willieke served the summonses tonight on Benson C. Seymour, Elizabeth C. Young, Democrats, and Cora F.

Much Of "Missing" Polish Art Is Found As Quarrel Continues

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (AP)—Some of the "missing" Polish art treasures brought to Canada for safekeeping during the war began turning up today as rival Polish factions continued their quarrel over the valuable collection.

It appeared not unlikely that all of the "lost" treasures would be accounted for soon, but when the present Polish government would get them seemed to be another matter.

The present Polish government, which is friendly to Moscow, and the erstwhile London Polish government in exile, most of whose members are persona non grata in Russia, were telling their story in the Canadian newspapers. They were not speaking to each other directly.

The case of the "lost" treasures came to light last night when the present Polish minister to Ottawa, Dr. Alfred Fiderkiewicz, charged that valuable gold and silver threaded gobelin tapestries and other art works and historical mementoes were "missing" when he took office here a few months ago.

They had been stored, he said, in the Bank of Montreal in Ottawa, on the Canadian government's experimental farm just outside Ottawa, in an Ottawa convent and in Ste. Anne De Beaupre, the Quebec Province Church renowned for its shrine.

Dr. Fiderkiewicz's predecessor as minister here, Dr. W. Babinski, who represented the London Polish government, said the treasures were removed during his regime, but he said he did not know exactly when or by whom. He is living in Ottawa, without official position now.

Tonight it appeared that the treasures in question were worth something considerably less than the original million dollar estimate. It also appeared that all would be uncovered quickly if the two Polish

Jury Acquits Negro; Is Barred For Life

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7. (AP)—Superior Judge William R. McKay today ordered the names of a jury of five men and seven women stricken from the court jury files and barred from future duty for life after they had acquitted a negro laborer on a charge of killing a baby.

The jury found 26-year-old Joseph Burk innocent of slaying Roy Woods, five-months-old son of Mrs. Jeannie Woods, 16 Burk was convicted July 9 of killing Mrs. Woods and sentenced to life imprisonment The child's body was found beside that of his mother.

"Your verdict in this case is amazing," Judge McKay told the jurors. "This man offered to plead guilty to the child's murder if he was assured of a life sentence. It just doesn't make sense."

The disbarred jury had no comment.

Prospects Of Trouble Seen In Parceling Out Election Trophies

DEMOCRATS PIN HOPES ON REPUBLICAN MESS-UP

Expect To Junk All Remaining Wartime Controls; Trim Spending

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Victorious Senate Republicans today ordered a head start on whipping together a party program and policy for the first GOP-dominated Congress in a decaded and a half.

Their steering committee goes into a huddle next Thursday.

House Republican leaders already had picked the same day to start things humming in a steering committee meeting of their own. But they saw prospects of trouble over parceling out election trophies.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) spoke in Chicago of trimming to $25,000,000,000 or $30,000,000,000 the budget for the year beginning next July 1. President Truman's revised budget for the current year is around $41,500,000,000.

Taft, who is in line for the Senate Majority Leadership and the chairmanship of the finance committee, said that the budget had to be balanced, but that he did not favor retiring the national debt too fast. He said taxes probably could be cut.

Answers Not Easy

Democrats, too, switched from election post mortems to asking in earnest: "Where do we go from here?" They found no easy answer.

But one thing was sure—whatever their course, President Truman intends to stand firmly at the head of the party. It can be stated without any ifs, ands or buts that the Chief Executive has no intention of resigning and letting the GOP walk into the White House as well as the Capitol.

Whatever hopes for the future Democrats held were based largely on the idea that perhaps the Republicans might mess things up so badly that the people will turn once again to the Democrats, if not in 1948, then in 1950 or 1952.

The GOP, determined that nothing like that shall happen, have a big organizing and planning job to do.

This is how they are going about it:

The steering committees—compact groups of a few key leaders—meet next week to start figuring out the exact position the Republicans should take on taxes, economic controls, war powers and other legislative issues sure to come up in 1947.

Will Make Assignments

In addition they are going to look into the problem of distributing major Congressional posts, available to the GOP for the first time since the early 30s. They have to work out committee assignments and committee chairmanships, and determine whether to stick by a decision of the 79th Congress to abolish some committees and bunch others together.

Whatever their recommendations, these will have to be ratified later on. A conference of all House Republicans has been set for December 2. None has been called yet for GOP Senators.

On the basis of campaign promises and statements and post-election comments from party leaders, the Republicans appear to be ready to move in the direction of:

1. Sharply trimming taxes and government spending.

2. Junking as swiftly as possible all remaining wartime controls. These are the basis of many of the pricing, allocation and rationing programs, also scrapping the President's power to seize struck industries in an emergency.

3. Continuing a bipartisan Foreign Policy in co-operation with the present administration.

Standings Given

How—or whether—they are going to accomplish this, with a Democrat in the White House and large Democratic contingents still in Congress, will be determined later.

Russian Military Display On 29th Anniversary Is Smallest In Years

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP)—Thousands of Russians who packed into Red Square today for the 29th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevist revolution saw one of their smallest military displays in years and heard Marshal Leonid A. Govorov portray the Soviet Union as a nation striving to insure peace for all the world.

Present only in pictures was Generalissimo Joseph Stalin, who five years ago viewed the parade while German armies were hammering at the approaches to Moscow.

(It was the second year in a row that Stalin, who was taking a needed Black Sea vacation at this time last year, did not attend the Red Square ceremonies. Last night Gen. Andrei Zhadanov delivered the annual policy declaration customarily given by Stalin. A year ago the declaration was made by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who is now in New York.

(The Times of London speculated that it was "perhaps on medical advice" that Stalin stayed away this year.)

A light, icy rain fell as the Russians, beginnning a three-day holiday, massed into the historic square.

Govorov, 49-year-old hero of Leningrad, in his address to the troops preceding the parade, referred to the "considerable reduction" in the Soviet Army's strength due to demobilization, but said that Russian armed might remained "a reliable

Police Investigate Report Of Assault

Police said last night no arrests had been made in connection with the report that a young negro broke into the North End Produce Company, 439 North Mechanic street, and inflicted minor knife wounds upon Mrs. Martha Dusic, wife of Michael Dusic, manager of the company, about 9 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Dusic, who works as a clerk in the store, said she was grabbed by the negro when she walked into a hallway. Apparently frightened the intruder fled and Mrs. Dusic ran into the street where she fainted.

Her husband said he was away at the time and added that neighbors immediately called police who arrived at the scene, searched the area, and later arrested a suspect. The negro held was released about 11 p. m. after witnesses told police he was not the man seen near the building.

While Dusic was at police headquarters, the intruder attempted to enter his home, located on the second floor above the store. His wife glanced out the kitchen window and saw the negro peering through the glass. He fled again.

Dusic said his wife threw her arm upward when the negro grabbed her in the hallway. She was treated at her home by a local physician for lacerations of the arms, apparently caused by a penknife carried by the intruder.

Dusic said the same negro, who has made several attempts to enter his home during the past two months, evidently climbed on top of an old truck in the rear of the building to reach the back porch. He added that nothing was taken from the store last night.

Dusic reported the negro has a "stocky build, weighs about 170 pounds and is five feet, five inches tall." He said the man looked "more like a mulatto and had curly hair."

Assistant Police Chief John J. Treiber said last night that Detective Lt. R. Emmett Flynn and Detective Thomas J. See investigated the complaint adding that no arrests had been made. Neither of the Dusic's, he said, could identify the man police picked up in the neighborhood.

shaven and appeared in good spirits although a little grave. He spoke to a number of acquaintances and was seen shaking hands with several persons. Since his confinement to the county jail, he has spent much of his time reading and playing chess, at which game he has become quite good according to jail attendants.

Cosner is basing his plea on "temporary insanity", according to his attorneys, who will attempt to prove that Mrs. Cosner's actions drove her husband temporarily insane.

As it became more and more evident that juror after juror had an opinion in the case and the court patiently questioned each one, court attaches and spectators seemed to realize the difficulty encountered in getting a jury. Numerous people were heard to remark afterwards that "the court did the right thing, no one around here wants to serve on this jury."

Shores Challenges Procedure

"This is a most extraordinary procedure on the part of the Court," Shores declared, as his motion was overruled.

Defense counsel contended the use of a Tucker county jury actually amounted to a removal of the trial to that county. Selection of a Grant county jury was ruled out, it was said, because the Cosner family has a number of relatives in that section.

Shores had Clerk of the Court Paul Dayton take the stand, and the latter testified that 96 men had been examined for possible jury duty. He explained that a number of others listed as prospective jurors were dead, had moved away or could not be located by county officers. Dayton also said there are 513 names in the jury box.

Luke McDowell, a member of the jury commission, also was called to the stand, and he estimated that there are between four and six thousand Mineral county men enrolled on the registration books—and that at least half of that number could be considered as prospective jurors.

Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin did not present any argument over the ruling by Judge See, but defense attorneys indicated that the decision might be the basis of an appeal in event the final verdict in the trial is against the accused slayer.

Mineral county court attaches yesterday admitted they experienced the most difficult time in thei careers in finding jurors to serve in the case of the State versus the former Keyser mailman.

Cognizant of the fact that Mineral county jurors are showing the greatest reluctance to serve in the present case and also fearful that the court may exhaust its entire quota of jurors, Judge Ernest See indicated yesterday afternoon that he may draft jurors from an adjoining county in the event a jury is not selected from the two panels scheduled to appear today.

Judge See, referring to Section 5280 of the statutes on juries, showed that the court may draft jurors from an adjoining county in the event a jury "cannot be conveniently found" in the county in which the felony was committed.

Judge See indicated yesterday that in his opinion, this statute fills the bill as far as the present case is concerned with court attaches saying they can't recall a time when citizens showed such reluctance to serve on a jury. Such a move, if carried out, would mean a postponement of the case.

Incidentally, when a panel is exhausted in Mineral county, the clerk does not scurry out to snag individuals of leisure found on the streets but a complete new panel is drawn and the sheriff dispatched to summon them.

Prosecutor Rankin said yesterday that he has seven state witnesses called to testify regarding the tragedy enacted in the Cosner home early the morning of September 3. They are: Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff and Trooper L. E. Proudfoot, Coyd Yost, Keyser photographer; Dr. T. T. Huffman, Verna Alt, sister of Cosner's wife; Gladys Wilson, another sister of Mrs. Cosner; and Cpl. Russell Alt, a brother, now stationed at Fort George G. Meade, Md. Another sister, Mrs. Mary Schiffhaur, has been excused on account of illness, it was reported yesterday.

The defense will present a larger number of witnesses including: D. P. Taylor, clerk at the Corwin Hotel, Keyser; Creed Taylor, Keyser hardware dealer; Mrs. Bessie Cosner, the defendant's stepmother; Mrs. Laura Kline, of Keyser; Mrs. Grace Yost, a next door neighbor of the Cosner family; Mrs. Hazel Lacy, of Keyser; Howard A. Bennett, John I. Rogers, Dr. T. C. Giffin, and Dr. Joseph L. Knapp, superintendent of the West Virginia Hospital for the Insane at Weston.

Other defense witnesses will be Frank Hott, Mary Slaughter, Thomas Ward, William Knott, Bruce Montgomery, Paul Kiser, Marion Cosner, Paul J. Davis, John F. Hamilton, Mayor John Freeland, James Broome, Abe Harmon and Mrs. Joanna Staggs, all of Keyser.

However, the outstanding defense witness according to Attorney H. G. Shores will be Cosner himself—the cool and collected defendant who will tell his story in his own way.

"Cosner is going to make a splendid witness," Shores said yesterday.

The defense attorney did not divulge if the defendant's two young sons would be called to the jury box to testify in the case.

shaven and appeared in good spirits although a little grave. He spoke to a number of acquaintances and was seen shaking hands with several persons. Since his confinement to the county jail, he has spent much of his time reading and playing chess, at which game he has become quite good according to jail attendants.

Cosner is basing his plea on "temporary insanity", according to his attorneys, who will attempt to prove that Mrs. Cosner's actions drove her husband temporarily insane.

As it became more and more evident that juror after juror had an opinion in the case and the court patiently questioned each one, court attaches and spectators seemed to realize the difficulty encountered in getting a jury. Numerous people were heard to remark afterwards that "the court did the right thing, no one around here wants to serve on this jury."

Shores Challenges Procedure

"This is a most extraordinary procedure on the part of the Court," Shores declared, as his motion was overruled.

Defense counsel contended the use of a Tucker county jury actually amounted to a removal of the trial to that county. Selection of a Grant county jury was ruled out, it was said, because the Cosner family has a number of relatives in that section.

Shores had Clerk of the Court Paul Dayton take the stand, and the latter testified that 96 men had been examined for possible jury duty. He explained that a number of others listed as prospective jurors were dead, had moved away or could not be located by county officers. Dayton also said there are 513 names in the jury box.

Luke McDowell, a member of the jury commission, also was called to the stand, and he estimated that there are between four and six thousand Mineral county men enrolled on the registration books—and that at least half of that number could be considered as prospective jurors.

Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin did not present any argument over the ruling by Judge See, but defense attorneys indicated that the decision might be the basis of an appeal in event the final verdict in the trial is against the accused slayer.

Mineral county court attaches yesterday admitted they experienced the most difficult time in their careers in finding jurors to serve in the case of the State versus the former Keyser mailman.

Cognizant of the fact that Mineral county jurors are showing the greatest reluctance to serve in the present case and also fearful that the court may exhaust its entire quota of jurors, Judge Ernest See indicated yesterday afternoon that he may draft jurors from an adjoining county in the event a jury is not selected from the two panels scheduled to appear today.

Judge See, referring to Section 5280 of the statutes on juries, showed that the court may draft jurors from an adjoining county in the event a jury "cannot be conveniently found" in the county in which the felony was committed.

Judge See indicated yesterday that in his opinion, this statute fills the bill as far as the present case is concerned with court attaches saying they can't recall a time when citizens showed such reluctance to serve on a jury. Such a move, if carried out, would mean a postponement of the case.

Incidentally, when a panel is exhausted in Mineral county, the clerk does not scurry out to snag individuals of leisure found on the streets but a complete new panel is drawn and the sheriff dispatched to summon them.

Prosecutor Rankin said yesterday that he has seven state witnesses called to testify regarding the tragedy enacted in the Cosner home early the morning of September 3. They are: Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff and Trooper L. E. Proudfoot, Coyd Yost, Keyser photographer; Dr. T. T. Huffman, Verna Alt, sister of Cosner's wife; Gladys Wilson, another sister of Mrs. Cosner; and Cpl. Russell Alt, a brother, now stationed at Fort George G. Meade, Md. Another sister, Mrs. Mary Schiffhaur, has been excused on account of illness, it was reported yesterday.

The defense will present a larger number of witnesses including: D. P. Taylor, clerk at the Corwin Hotel, Keyser; Creed Taylor, Keyser hardware dealer; Mrs. Bessie Cosner, the defendant's stepmother; Mrs. Laura Kline, of Keyser; Mrs. Grace Yost, a next door neighbor of the Cosner family; Mrs. Hazel Lacy, of Keyser; Howard A. Bennett, John I. Rogers, Dr. T. C. Giffin, and Dr. Joseph L. Knapp, superintendent of the West Virginia Hospital for the Insane at Weston.

Other defense witnesses will be Frank Hott, Mary Slaughter, Thomas Ward, William Knott, Bruce Montgomery, Paul Kiser, Marion Cosner, Paul J. Davis, John F. Hamilton, Mayor John Freeland, James Broome, Abe Harmon and Mrs. Joanna Staggs, all of Keyser.

However, the outstanding defense witness according to Attorney H. C. Shores will be Cosner himself—the cool and collected defendant who will tell his story in his own way.

"Cosner is going to make a splendid witness," Shores said yesterday.

The defense attorney did not divulge if the defendant's two young sons would be called to the jury box to testify in the case.

TALENT PROGRAM MARKS ASSEMBLY

Fort Hill High School's regular assembly period yesterday was featured by a musical talent program supervised by A. J. Stauffer, of the Science Department.

Joseph Kesecker was master of ceremonies and Karl G. Perry, chairman of the assembly program committee, arranged the production. Mrs. Arthur Schliefman was in charge of the stage.

The program opened by the playing of "Clarinet Polka" by the "Scarecrows," a group of students who have former a three-piece bang. Members of the band are Donald Burgess, Donna Zembower and Royce Hendrickson.

Dorothy Brinkman, a sophomore, accompanied by Dolores Riggs, sang "Ciribirabin." An accordian solo, "This Is Always," was played by Doris Jean Poorbaugh. Elaine Smith and Dorothy Marker did a tap dance to the tune of "Route 66."

Agnes Wotring accompanied James Hager on the piano as the latter sang, "You Are Love." A bass quartet composed of Harry Johnson, Jack Digg, Robert Evans, and Joe Patsy played, Margare Robinson sang "The Very Thought of You," accompanied by Dolores Riggs.

A ballet dance by Colleen Burke, accompanied by her mother Mrs. Stanley Burke, was the next attraction, followed by Dolores Riggs piano solo, "Humming Blues."

Lua Sykes directed David Weber and Lynn Sheetz in the playing of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and "Aunt Dina's Quilting Party." The Scarecrows' rendition of "Someday" concluded the program.

The Scripture was read by members of the Verse Speaking Choir, directed by Miss Gerardine Pritchard. Arlene Whitesell, Dolores Chase, Jean Allen, Althea Ranck, Elton Watson, Doris Jean Poorbaugh, David Naff, Charles Hammaker, Robert Crabtree, Carlyn Ringler, Nancy Williams, Kathleen, Lloyd, Louis Wigfield, and Colleen Breighner make up the choir.

Beer Taster Needed To Test Brew's Safety

BALTIMORE (AP)—The city fathers are wondering whether to hire the services of a tester or taster so they can sell 1,500 quart bottles of beer they came by in a raid on some pre-grain-restriction brew.

City Solicitor Simon Sobeloff said before the beer is sold somebody must find out whether it's "fit for human consumption," but he didn't specify how.

Under a 1945 amendment to the state liquor law all alcoholic beverages seized in raids are in cases of conviction to be turned over to the local subdivision to sell at public auction for the benefit of its treasury. This is Baltimore's first such consignment.

Administration In Lewis' Mine Hole

There is a factor in the controversy between the government and coal miners so important it should not be overlooked. It does not concern such matters as take-home pay, pay for travel time or vacation with pay, which, far-reaching as they are, have become incidental in any modern wage controversy. It concerns the future of the soft-coal industry, which is now under government operation as a result of action by President Truman.

John L. Lewis is making new demands for his men, and these demands are not directed at the mine owners but at the government. For that reason the situation has become involved politically. Whatever decision the government makes will be based more upon its political effect than its economic justifiability.

For this reason concessions may be made which will make it impossible for private ownership to ever resume operation. The government may be in the coal mining business indefinitely, and at the expense of the American taxpayer.

If this happens in the coal industry, the pattern could be followed in other industries. Seeing miners tapping the federal treasury, other unions could be expected to clamor for similar handouts. This is a trend that, unless stopped in its tracks by the new Congress, points to government operation and eventual ownership of basic industries. John L. Lewis has the administration in the mine hole, and is making the most of it.

This is another problem bequeathed to the new Congress by a man now dead whose sepulchral voice was heard over radio stations during the recent campaign, vainly urging voters to take another dose of his claptrap elixir.

If there is a manpower shortage, at least no WPA can be accused of hoarding manpower.

Prescription For Radio Broadcasting Offered

The Federal Communications Commission tactfully suggested some improvements in broadcasting. One of the chief suggestions of the FCC in its report, which apparently had been based on a long and thoughtful study, concerned advertising excesses. The report did not mention that atrocity of atrocities, the singing commercial, but the FCC obviously had it in mind.

Contrary to some opinion, we didn't think the FCC was trying to put the heat on the radio industry. As a public duty, it merely had done a good job of rounding up public complaints and presented them to the broadcasters for what they might see fit to do about them. Up to now, so far as we have heard, there has been only one constructive reaction from the radio industry. That came from William S. Paley, chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System, in a speech before the radio convention in Chicago. Mr. Paley dealt with "criticism" of the radio. Some of it, he said, was unreasonable. And so it is, no doubt. Any industry, or any institution, can make that complaint with full justification.

But Mr. Paley went on to urge the radio industry to heed more of the criticism than it now does. He specifically mentioned advertising excesses which are irritating or offensive or illogical. The CBS executive wants this done not only because he has an obvious and conscientious realization of the broadcaster's responsibility, but also because his industry is constantly threatened by another big trouble. That is the ever-present threat of Government control. Radio stations exist by virtue of a short-term by-your-leave from the Federal Communications Commission.

Anyone who enjoys the radio—and most of us do to some extent—may hope that the broadcasting industry will take active steps to follow Mr. Paley's prescription, with perhaps an added effort to raise the general level of intellectual taste in broadcasting somewhere near the present elevel of moral taste. Radio, since it offers free almost everything that is fit for the ear to hear, has a unique problem. Its vast audience, while generally enthusiastic, is inclined to be wanting both in discrimination and in patience. It would be sad if, through short-sightedness, the industry should abuse that lack of discrimination, dull its audience's enthusiasm and try its patience too far.

The result might be Government censorship or operation. That would be a double blow—the partial loss of our cherished freedom of expression, and the inheritance of some tremendously dull programs.

A good sport is a fellow who thinks fun is worth the trouble.

The National Crusade ~ainst Tuberculosis

Rumors current for some time that a new approach to the conquest of tuberculosis was being charted were explained recently when the United States Public Health Service gave its approval to the use of a new tuberculosis vaccine which is described as conferring increased resistance to the disease.

As with all such discoveries, the popular tendency is to overrate its effectiveness. Medical science has by its amazing success in discovering new treatments for diseases raised the hope that it will find a specific remedy for tuberculosis and all other diseases which are difficult to treat.

The new vaccine, BCG, has merely been approved as of some value in reducing the number of cases of tuberculosis. It is neither a preventive nor a cure. It is useful only in areas where diet and sanitary conditions are such as to encourage the spread of tuberculosis. It is of some effect in helping potential sufferers from the disease to reduce their chance of infection.

It may be useful in the 300 United States counties in which the TB death rate is above 75 a year for each 100,000 of population, and in instances where a high rate of infection is recorded because of lack of proper facilities for treatment.

Great progress has been made in protecting society from tuberculosis, but it has been made by applying the result of close observation in conventional treatment, and latterly, by bold and highly skilled surgery. The best hope of further progress is in early case finding, prompt treatment, and the education of the people in cooperating with public health authorities and physicians to control the spread of the disease.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

JUNIOR'S EATING HABITS

MANY hold the erroneous opinion that chubbiness in children is a yardstick to measure the state of nutrition. Thus a fat boy or girl would be considered well nourished and a thin one undernourished. Actually poundage depends not only on the calories ingested but also on body structure, family characteristics, and activity.

Better clues are available to indicate whether a youngster is healthy. The color and texture of the skin as well as the appearance of the nails and mucous membranes are significant. So is the condition of the hair and the firmness of the muscles, particularly those used to maintain posture. An alert expression is a valuable sign, as is the general behavior. There are other findings which necessitate laboratory procedures such as X-rays and blood counts.

As a rule, weight increase is rapid during the first year but often continues at an irregular pace during the next three or four years. Just because gains do not occur by leaps and bounds, we must not conclude that illness exists. In other words, when the cards are down the hale and hearty tot may not make as good a score as his scrawny but more wiry companion.

Health is promoted thru sufficent rest, plenty of outdoor play, and freedom from emotional strain. Of equal importance is a normal diet. By the time the baby is 18 months old, proper eating habits should be established. Gradually his meals have been enlarged so that he is now receiving milk, cereals, vegetables, fruits, meat soups, eggs, puddings, breadstuffs, and crisp bacon. With the development of teeth a wider variety is possible and he should be willing to partake of all types of food, depending upon his size and individual requirements.

Here is where the parents must show wisdom, for, in spite of unlimited choices, there are certain edibles which are more vital than others. The daily list includes green and yellow vegetables, meat, fish, or poultry, egg, whole grain cereals, fruits, fruit juices, bakery goods, a pint of milk, cheese, and ice cream or milk pudding.

Few realize that a growing child's needs approach those of one who does hard labor. So long as the essentials are taken there is little occasion to restrict the amount that can be consumed unless there is a preference for one food at the expense of others.

Hunger is most likely to be absent in the presence of excitement or fatigue. Some do not get enough exercise or nibble too much between meals. Others experience that irresistible urge to rebel against rules and regulations. This trait of human nature is more prone to occur if the menus are monotonous or should failure to eat attract attention. Consequently, force seldom accomplishes anything. Much better results are obtained when parents show disinterest in junior's refusal or assume a calm but firm attitude.

Since hunger and appetite are associated the problem solves itself unless an issue is made of the entire affair. By encouraging wholesale eating habits during the first year, many unpleasant situations can be avoided.

WISHFUL THINKING

W.F.M. writes: Is there anything to the rumor I heard that doctors have found a cure for diabetes? It consists of the injection of something into the pancreas, thus allowing the cells to come back to life.

REPLY

Not to my knowledge. Every year several "cures" are given publicity, but the old reliable is still insulin, which controls symptoms.

MORE MOONSHINE

E.G.W. writes: Is there any truth to the statement that it is always best to have the hair cut on a full moon?

REPLY

Nothing to this superstition. Think of the load that would be thrown on our barbers were the situation true.

LOOK ELSEWHERE

B.K. writes: Altho I have symptoms of an underactive thyroid, such as dry skin and sensitivity to cold, a metabolism test showed plus 12. What other causes could be reponsible for these symptoms?

REPLY

Hereditary or nervous factors may be to blame.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

AUTUMN IN NEW YORK

New York—It's wonderful to be back here in New York in the autumn . . . the leaves and the stock market dropping together.

You know what the stock market is . . . it's a yo-yo with somebody else pulling the strings.

I don't know whether it's a bear market or not, but I telephoned my broker and he called me "Honey" and growled.

A broker . . . that's a bookie who wears Hoover collars.

The market has really been dropping.

In fact, you don't get the reports on regular ticker tape anymore . . . they print it on cleansing tissue so when you get through reading it you have something to dry your tears on.

President Truman was in town to make the opening address for the UN conference, and when he rode down Wall Street they didn't throw ticker tape out the window; they showered him with pawn tickets!

One guy advised me to invest in a certain common stock.

He said "You'll make a barrel of money!

I took his advice and wound up wearing it home.

HIT AND RUN

THE

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Americans Must Take Stock Of Their Country; We Need Good Republicans Helping Truman Inside, Not Criticizing Outside; Ex-Marine Emphasizes Its Importance

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Elections are just a little like wars. After they are over we ought to sit down and take stock of things and see how we can improve the country. I am not at all sure that we have done enough stock-taking lately. Perhaps a lot of us have taken our country too much for granted.

But the boys who were out fighting for their country have been doing a lot of thinking. When you're sitting out in foxholes or lying in a hospital tent, you have to think; and sometimes I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing if our more extreme politicians, capitalists and labor leaders were put in just such a position—so they could do more thinking, too.

Along this line, I received a letter the other day from a young Marine, John McCulloch of Wooster, Ohio, which struck me as so good that I am going to publish part of it.

"You see," writes John McCulloch, "I never realized before I received my discharge from the Marines what a hell of a condition our country is in today. Of course, I ran up against some pretty disgusting examples while in the service, but I thought our government could handle the situation in due time.

"Since I have returned to the States, it is hard for me to comprehend how messed up the situation has become. It isn't necessarily the strikes, black markets, etc., that worry me. But what does worry me is the fact that our government doesn't seem able to cope with the problems.

"Today the word politics is synonymous with graft. People speak the word with disgust, and usually mistrust the men associated with it. Actually, we should be very proud of politics and respect the men connected with it.

Whose Fault Is It?

"For weeks now I have been pondering and worrying about this dilemma, trying to figure out whose fault it is, and the solution. I have now discovered whose fault it is and that the solution is comparatively simple.

"It is my fault and millions like me. People today are criticizing our whole political set-up and blaming just about everything on President Truman. And yet these people themselves don't do a darn thing about it. They just sit back and complain."

It seems to me that ex-Marine John McCulloch in his simple, direct way, hit the nail right on the head. I, myself, in this column, have done my share of complaining. I have thrown the spotlight of criticism on a lot of politicians, including President Truman—and deservedly so.

However, it is also important to remember that we have just passed through a five-year period of stirring up millions of people to kill each other, and it's bound to be tough undoing all this hatred. Furthermore, the job of beating our swords back into plowshares is sometimes tougher than forging the weapons of battle. It's especially tough when everyone drops his tools, doffs his uniform, lays aside his patriotic motives, and expects to get back to the good old days—without his help.

Don't Blame Washington

As I sit in Washington, watching the ebb and flow of politics and politicians, I find two things depressing. One is the tendency, so eloquently noted by John McCulloch, to blame everything on Washington. The other is the failure of Washington to attract good men.

Even with the best men in the world, however, Washington can't solve all the nation's problems. A lot of those problems come from a factory owner wanting too much profit or a labor union getting too high-handed; or from the fact that all of us have let down a little since the war and are thinking too much about the almighty dollar, rather than about our neighbor whose son was missing in action—and the whole community, at that time, tried to be thoughtful and neighborly. But now we have forgotten that neighbor and have gone on to worrying about meat and new automobiles and other selfish things.

Even were President Truman the most brilliant leader in the world—which he certainly doesn't pretend to be—he couldn't solve a lot of these post-war problems. We have to solve them ourselves. We have to be just as considerate and thoughtful as we were when our neighbor's boy was missing in action; we have to drive just as carefully and help people along the road just as often as we did when gasoline was rationed. In other words, we have to think just a little more about the other fellow; and if we do, we really help our country and ourselves.

A Coalition Government

Putting a lot of opposition politicians in congress to make more speeches isn't going to help things much. A certain amount of opposition is healthy and essential. But it can be carried too far and tear the country to pieces.

On the other hand, if President Truman could persuade a few more good men to work with him in the executive branch of the government, if he could bring in some able Republicans to share his responsibilities, then the country definitely would benefit.

For the next two years we face a political house divided against itself. That can have a paralyzing effect on any nation. It could be disastrous.

If, on the other hand, influential and able Republicans were to occupy government positions of trust and importance, this could tide the nation over a dangerous period. Truman has not hesitated to do this when it comes to foreign affairs and famine relief. He has used two powerful and conservative Republicans, Vandenberg of Michigan and Austin of Vermont, as leaders of foreign policy. And he invited Herbert Hoover, despite vigorous Democratic advice to the contrary, to take the lead in famine relief.

However, the inclination of most Republicans will be to stay out of the Democratic domestic picture. They will be tempted to say: "The Democrats made their own bed; let them lie on it. Two years from now we can reap the harvest of their mistakes."

Two years from now, however it may be too late—too late to head off another depression and the war which usually follows depression.

Jefferson's Advice

During the difficult period which this nation faced after the Revolutionary War, Thomas Jefferson wrote:

"There is a debt of service due from every man to his country, proportioned to the bounties which nature and fortune have measured to him."

That is just another way of saying what John McCulloch, the ex-Marine, said in 1946—"It's my fault and millions like me."

In other words, we've all got to do our part, whether it be the alleged big boys in Washington or the little folks back home who have a great deal to do with the final destiny of their country, even if they don't always realize it.

We've all got to serve. In doing so, we've got to get back to the fundamentals of the Sermon on the Mount and remember that after all we are our brother's keeper—if we are to weather this, one of the most chaotic periods of human history.

"Austerity" Of Socialism--What It Boils Down To

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

A LETTER FROM ENGLAND

"Dear Jim:

"We have at last sold our business. It was quite an effort to give up, after all the years we put into it, but we realized it was time we both had a rest, so we parted with it.

"Things don't seem to be improving in the old country very much. Rationing of food and clothes is very irksome and everybody, more or less, is thoroughly fed up and tired of it all.

"We wonder how you are going on over there, as we hear quite a lot of your strikes and black marketing of food, so guess you are not finding things very easy.

"The annoying part for us, is, that some beautiful things are being made over here, household goods and clothes, etc., but they are all being exported. We want them very badly as our shops are full of expensive trash, but we can't buy any of the goods made for export only.

"There is an exhibition on at present, which has cost thousands of pounds, to show us the wonderful things Britain is making, but none of them is being produced for us, and yet we are crying out for them. That's what war has done for us.

Neutral Nations Sitting Pretty

"We won it, with your help, and yet countries that were neutral or over-run by the Germans seem to be sitting pretty, while we have to go without all these things, because we need the dough to pay for the war.

"We have had an appalling summer, worst for very many years; our fruit nearly all ruined and the farmers all around have lost heavily on their crops.

"We don't write to you as often as we would like to, as things are so monotonous and dreary here, and we don't seem to have anything cheery to write about.

"We don't get a chicken to eat here from one year's end to another, as what there is around (and they are down to a minimum) on account of feeding stuff are all sold in the black market at fabulous prices.

"We'd love to know how you are getting on. If you were over here, you wouldn't have an earthly chance of building anything. You'd have to get a permit for any of the materials you would require, which they wouldn't allow you in the first place because you weren't working for the Government, and if you managed to build anything out of any material you might have by you, they would soon make you pull it down, because it wasn't done by their permission, which they wouldn't give you anyway.

"Well, there we are on our own troubles again, but we would like to hear how you get on over this sort of thing.

"Our milk ration being such a small allowance, we have taken to drinking goat's milk, and it is not at all bad.

Government Takes Farm Produce

"Believe me, although we are living in the heart of the country, we don't get any farm produce at all, it is all taken by the Government or the black market, and of course we miss the fish we used to have from the shop.

"But still life is sweet and we are still running the Lanchester on the meagre petrol ration. I have just paid through the nose for some re-treaded tyres, twice the price new tyres used to be, but she is still running sweet and we get around.

"We hope you are getting a better deal than we are."

Socialist "austerity"—as the British call it—seems to boil down to two questions: How much of your money shall we take to build houses for those who worked (and vote) for us? Or, what is my fair share of what you have earned?

Many Changes Are Coming--But For Better--As Result Of Election

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—It wasn't during the campaign just closed that the Republicans won the election. They won it many, many weeks ago—in fact, long before any campaign speeches were made.

There were, as a matter of fact, very few nation-wide speeches in the campaign. The battle was carried on by states and by districts and yet a phenomenal sameness emerged. People everywhere felt the same—they had had enough of New Dealism and radicalism.

The American people made up their minds in 1944 to get rid of the New Deal and radicalism, but with the war on they hesitated to make a change in any branch of the government.

But whatever doubts there may have been during the war, those doubts have been removed since V-J Day as President Truman and the Democratic party bungled reconversion and the labor situation.

The vote from coast to coast showed a uniform trend. The American people revealed, as they sometimes do both in presidential and congressional elections, that they are a homogenous people and that the interests of the people of Massachusetts aren't any different from those of California.

It cannot be said that the American people have turned to the center or to the right. They have turned away from radicalism and left-wing extremes in public policy. They exercised their historic right of veto—to turn out the incumbent party without necessarily getting a blueprint of what the newcomers in power would do. That is American habit, and it is one of the characteristics of a representative system of government.

Strictly speaking, the Truman administration was repudiated. If America had a parliamentry system like Canada or other democracies, President Truman would go out of office and a Republican would be inaugurated. As it is, the country must wait for two years for the chance to elect a President. Meanwhile, warfare between the executive and legislative branches of the government can retard progress on the reconversion front.

If the Democratic Party leaders are smart now, they will recognize the new trend and conform to it rather than fight it. If Mr. Truman turns to the left and listens to the Wallaces and the Peppers, he will make certain an even bigger Republican landslide in 1948.

The radicals will be saying, of course, that "reaction" won and that the forces of wealth and greed and so forth have been given control over Congress. If they examine the situation carefully, they will find that American labor—skilled labor, intelligent labor, fair-minded labor—helped to swell the Republican tide this week and found in the ballot box a way to get around the tyranny of "closed shops" and Wagner Act bludgeoning. The American workingman knows how to use a secret ballot and this time he used it to get rid of the radicals who have been undermining American prosperity and forcing an imbalance in the economic situation that has brought us dangerously near to a recession. The indirect effect of strikes was devastating. Lack of a constructive labor policy cost the Truman administration the election.

There need be no recession. If productivity is increased and a restraining hand is placed by legislation, state and federal, on those who haven't sufficient faith in the merits of trade unionism and use violence and picketing or fraudulent tactics to get members into unions or to hold them there, then the American economic system can go forward to unexampled prosperity.

The election means no sudden changes, but it does mean exposure and a housecleaning—exposure of the disloyal elements, Among them the parlor pinks, who are playing Russia's game in America. The bipartisan coalition on foreign policy will continue because it is loyal to America. It will not be broken down by the radicals because the American people have sensed the trends of communism and have repudiated them at the polls.

A Republican Congress will be a novelty to the youth of our country. Many have grown adult without seeing a change in the political complexion of our government. It is refreshing to have such a change if only to impress millions of young men that in this country no party is the proprietor of America and no party can dictate to free men, either through CIO-PAC tactics or political machines, how the individual's ballot shall be cast.

The radical still have much influence in the White House and the powers of the presidency are very extensive, especially the veto.

Also the radicals still control the Supreme Court of the United States. It is said that sometimes the judges read the election returns. Certainly the Democratic Party has abused its power in the matter of appointing judges and a Republican Senate doubtless will insist that judicial appointments be made hereafter on the same bipartisan basis as they used to be made by both Republican and Democratic administrations before the New Dealers began packing the judiciary.

Many changes are coming—but they are for the better. America has shown the world that the people who believe in solvency and in a fair deal are in the majority in this country.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

One of these days I'm going to catch up on my Shakespeare. I've seen many of his plays, but I haven't read him since P.S. 44. The only playwright whose work I really know is the talented Hungarian, Ferenc Molnar. I've been reading him since I graduated from Nick Carter and the Liberty Boys of '76. A Deep Thinker recently chided me for liking Molnar's gay comedies, "No social significance," he complained. My rebuttal was simple—"Drop dead."

Billy Rose

I first met Molnar in Budapest in 1924. One evening I was walking along the Dirty Brown Danube with a music publisher. As we passed one of the sidewalk cafes, he pointed to an aristocratic old boy blowing on his coffee. "That's Molnar," he said, as if he were showing me the Acropolis in Athens. Like a funny-paper American tourist I walked right up to him and boomed, "Good evening. How are you, Mr. Molnar?"

The dramatist put down his coffee, screwed a monocle into his pink face, and said, "I am not a cocotte to be spoken to on the street."

I stammered, "I am a great admirer of your plays. I know them well."

"You mean the successes?" he sneered. "Liliom, The Guardsman—"

"Yes — and the failures too," I said. "Riviera, Olympia, The Miracle in the Mountains."

I guess I must have said the right thing. Every playwright has his favorite fizzles, plays he liked even though the public didn't.

"Sit down," he smiled. "Have a cup of coffee."

We talked until dawn outlined the Royal Palace on the far side of the river. When we said goodbye, I knew I had been listening to one of the world's great conversationalists. I think he tells a story better than any of the word-merchants I've been privileged to listen to—Ben Hecht, Gene Fowler, George M. Cohan, Ludwig Bemmelmans.

We next met up in New York. He had skipped out of Budapest two jumps ahead of the Brownshirts. Eleanor and I threw a little dinner party for him one night. I'm still embarrassed when I recall that the main course was goulash—it was like serving a scoop of vanilla to a retired soda jerk. After the coffee and brandy, he told us some stories about Rothschild, the banker, and the beggars of Europe who were always plotting to nick him for a hand-out.

I like the one about the beggar who came to Rothschild's house and actually got in to see him. The financier referred him to his secretary, who turned him over to the butler, who sent him down to see the porter, who directed him to the gatekeeper, who promptly booted him in the pants and sent him sprawling out on the sidewalk.

"Did you get anything?" asked another beggar, who happened to be passing.

"Not exactly," said the one in the gutter, "but the organization in that establishment is simply magnificent!"

Another beggar was luckier. His hard luck story got him ten marks from Rothschild. When he bragged about this, a comrade-in-arms said, "Bah! I would have gotten fifty."

"No you wouldn't," said the first. "I don't think the House of Rothschild is doing so well these days. When I went by the living room, I saw the Baron's two daughters playing together on one piano."

Then there's the story of the beggar who sad-talked Rothschild out of a few coins. An hour later the Baron saw the beggar eating caviar in a fine restaurant. "You out to be ashamed of yourself," said Rothschild indignantly. "You beg, and then squander your money on caviar."

The beggar was even more indignant. "When I don't have money, I can't eat caviar. When I do have money, I mustn't eat caviar. Tell me then, when do I eat caviar?"

A couple of sloppy and smelly panhandlers were talking in front of the Baron's house. "Let me go in," said the older rag-bag. "I have more experience in dealing with the rich."

He turned the handle of the door and it slowly swung open. He saw no one inside and started walking up the grand staircase. Suddenly Rothschild himself appeared at the head of the stairs. The bum was petrified with fright. Rothschild got one whiff of him, then reached for his nostrils with one hand and for his pocket with the other. Throwing him a gold crown he choked, "Take this. Only get out of here!" The beggar picked up the coin and ran. Outside, he proudly displayed the money to his bug-eyed friend. "You see," he said grandly. "You have to know how to talk to these people."

I have room for only one more—the one about Rothschild's funeral. A beggar crashed the funeral procession and started to cry louder than anybody else. One of the family came up to him and said, "Why do you weep so? The Baron was no relative of yours."

"That's why," said the beggar.

Administration In Lewis' Mine Hole

There is a factor in the controversy between the government and coal miners so important it should not be overlooked. It does not concern such matters as take-home pay, pay for travel time or vacation with pay, which, far-reaching as they are, have become incidental in any modern wage controversy. It concerns the future of the soft-coal industry, which is now under government operation as a result of action by President Truman.

John L. Lewis is making new demands for his men, and these demands are not directed at the mine owners but at the government. For that reason the situation has become involved politically. Whatever decision the government makes will be based more upon its political effect than its economic justifiability.

For this reason concessions may be made which will make it impossible for private ownership to ever resume operation. The government may be in the coal mining business indefinitely, and at the expense of the American taxpayer.

If this happens in the coal industry, the pattern could be followed in other industries. Seeing miners tapping the federal treasury, other unions could be expected to clamor for similar handouts. This is a trend that, unless stopped in its tracks by the new Congress, points to government operation and eventual ownership of basic industries. John L. Lewis has the administration in the mine hole, and is making the most of it.

This is another problem bequeathed to the new Congress by a man now dead whose sepulchral voice was heard over radio stations during the recent campaign, vainly urging voters to take another dose of his claptrap elixir.

If there is a manpower shortage, at least no WPA can be accused of hoarding manpower.

Prescription For Radio Broadcasting Offered

The Federal Communications Commission tactfully suggested some improvements in broadcasting. One of the chief suggestions of the FCC in its report, which apparently had been based on a long and thoughtful study, concerned advertising excesses. The report did not mention that atrocity of atrocities, the singing commercial, but the FCC obviously had it in mind.

Contrary to some opinion, we didn't think the FCC was trying to put the heat on the radio industry. As a public duty, it merely had done a good job of rounding up public complaints and presented them to the broadcasters for what they might see fit to do about them. Up to now, so far as we have heard, there has been only one constructive reaction from the radio industry. That came from William S. Paley, chairman of the board of the Columbia Broadcasting System, in a speech before the radio convention in Chicago. Mr. Paley dealt with "criticism" of the radio. Some of it, he said, was unreasonable. And so it is, no doubt. Any industry, or any institution, can make that complaint with full justification.

But Mr. Paley went on to urge the radio industry to heed more of the criticism than it now does. He specifically mentioned advertising excesses which are irritating or offensive or illogical. The CBS executive wants this done not only because he has an obvious and conscientious realization of the broadcaster's responsibility, but also because his industry is constantly threatened by another big trouble. That is the ever-present threat of Government control. Radio stations exist by virtue of a short-term by-your-leave from the Federal Communications Commission.

Anyone who enjoys the radio—and most of us do to some extent—may hope that the broadcasting industry will take active steps to follow Mr. Paley's prescription, with perhaps an added effort to raise the general level of intellectual taste in broadcasting somewhere near the present elevel of moral taste. Radio, since it offers free almost everything that is fit for the ear to hear, has a unique problem. Its vast audience, while generally enthusiastic, is inclined to be wanting both in discrimination and in patience. It would be sad if, through short-sightedness, the industry should abuse that lack of discrimination, dull its audience's enthusiasm and try its patience too far.

The result might be Government censorship or operation. That would be a double blow—the partial loss of our cherished freedom of expression, and the inheritance of some tremendously dull programs.

A good sport is a fellow who thinks fun is worth the trouble.

The National Crusade Against Tuberculosis

Rumors current for some time that a new approach to the conquest of tuberculosis was being charted were explained recently when the United States Public Health Service gave its approval to the use of a new tuberculosis vaccine which is described as conferring increased resistance to the disease.

As with all such discoveries, the popular tendency is to overrate its effectiveness. Medical science has by its amazing success in discovering new treatments for diseases raised the hope that it will find a specific remedy for tuberculosis and all other diseases which are difficult to treat.

The new vaccine, BCG, has merely been approved as of some value in reducing the number of cases of tuberculosis. It is neither a preventive nor a cure. It is useful only in areas where diet and sanitary conditions are such as to encourage the spread of tuberculosis. It is of some effect in helping potential sufferers from the disease to reduce their chance of infection.

It may be useful in the 300 United States counties in which the TB death rate is above 75 a year for each 100,000 of population, and in instances where a high rate of infection is recorded because of lack of proper facilities for treatment.

Great progress has been made in protecting society from tuberculosis, but it has been made by applying the result of close observation in conventional treatment, and latterly, by bold and highly skilled surgery. The best hope of further progress is in early case finding, prompt treatment, and the education of the people in cooperating with public health authorities and physicians to control the spread of the disease.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

JUNIOR'S EATING HABITS

MANY hold the erroneous opinion that chubbiness in children is a yardstick to measure the state of nutrition. Thus a fat boy or girl would be considered well nourished and a thin one undernourished. Actually poundage depends not only on the calories ingested but also on body structure, family characteristics, and activity.

Better clues are available to indicate whether a youngster is healthy. The color and texture of the skin as well as the appearance of the nails and mucous membranes are significant. So is the condition of the hair and the firmness of the muscles, particularly those used to maintain posture. An alert expression is a valuable sign, as is the general behavior. There are other findings which necessitate laboratory procedures such as X-rays and blood counts.

As a rule, weight increase is rapid during the first year but often continues at an irregular pace during the next three or four years. Just because gains do not occur by leaps and bounds, we must not conclude that illness exists. In other words, when the cards are down the hale and hearty tot may not make as good a score as his scrawny but more wiry companion.

Health is promoted thru sufficent rest, plenty of outdoor play, and freedom from emotional strain. Of equal importance is a normal diet. By the time the baby is 18 months old, proper eating habits should be established. Gradually his meals have been enlarged so that he is now receiving milk, cereals, vegetables, fruits, meat soups, eggs, puddings, breadstuffs, and crisp bacon. With the development of teeth a wider variety is possible and he should be willing to partake of all types of food, depending upon his size and individual requirements.

Here is where the parents must show wisdom, for, in spite of unlimited choices, there are certain edibles which are more vital than others. The daily list includes green and yellow vegetables, meat, fish, or poultry, egg, whole grain cereals, fruits, fruit juices, bakery goods, a pint of milk, cheese, and ice cream or milk pudding.

Few realize that a growing child's needs approach those of one who does hard labor. So long as the essentials are taken there is little occasion to restrict the amount that can be consumed unless there is a preference for one food at the expense of others.

Hunger is most likely to be absent in the presence of excitement or fatigue. Some do not get enough exercise or nibble too much between meals. Others experience that irresistible urge to rebel against rules and regulations. This trait of human nature is more prone to occur if the menus are monotonous or should failure to eat attract attention. Consequently, force seldom accomplishes anything. Much better results are obtained when parents show disinterest in junior's refusal or assume a calm but firm attitude.

Since hunger and appetite are associated the problem solves itself unless an issue is made of the entire affair. By encouraging wholesale eating habits during the first year, many unpleasant situations can be avoided.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

AUTUMN IN NEW YORK

New York—It's wonderful to be back here in New York in the autumn . . . the leaves and the stock market dropping together.

You know what the stock market is . . . it's a yo-yo with somebody else pulling the strings.

I don't know whether it's a bear market or not, but I telephoned my broker and he called me "Honey" and growled.

A broker . . . that's a bookie who wears Hoover collars.

The market has really been dropping.

In fact, you don't get the reports on regular ticker tape anymore . . . they print it on cleansing tissue so when you get through reading it you have something to dry your tears on.

President Truman was in town to make the opening address for the UN conference, and when he rode down Wall Street they didn't throw ticker tape out the window; they showered him with pawn tickets!

One guy advised me to invest in a certain common stock.

He said "You'll make a barrel of money!

I took his advice and wound up wearing it home.

HIT AND RUN

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Americans Must Take Stock Of Their Country; We Need Good Republicans Helping Truman Inside, Not Criticizing Outside; Ex-Marine Emphasizes Its Importance

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Elections are just a little like wars. After they are over we ought to sit down and take stock of things and see how we can improve the country. I am not at all sure that we have done enough stock-taking lately. Perhaps a lot of us have taken our country too much for granted.

But the boys who were out fighting for their country have been doing a lot of thinking. When you're sitting out in foxholes or lying in a hospital tent, you have to think; and sometimes I wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing if our more extreme politicians, capitalists and labor leaders were put in just such a position—so they could do more thinking, too.

Along this line, I received a letter the other day from a young Marine, John McCulloch of Wooster, Ohio, which struck me as so good that I am going to publish part of it.

"You see," writes John McCulloch, "I never realized before I received my discharge from the Marines what a hell of a condition our country is in today. Of course, I ran up against some pretty disgusting examples while in the service, but I thought our government could handle the situation in due time.

"Since I have returned to the States, it is hard for me to comprehend how messed up the situation has become. It isn't necessarily the strikes, black markets, etc., that worry me. But what does worry me is the fact that our government doesn't seem able to cope with the problems.

"Today the word politics is synonymous with graft. People speak the word with disgust, and usually mistrust the men associated with it. Actually, we should be very proud of politics and respect the men connected with it.

Whose Fault Is It?

"For weeks now I have been pondering and worrying about this dilemma, trying to figure out whose fault it is, and the solution. I have now discovered whose fault it is and that the solution is comparatively simple.

"It is my fault and millions like me. People today are criticizing our whole political set-up and blaming just about everything on President Truman. And yet these people themselves don't do a darn thing about it. They just sit back and complain."

It seems to me that ex-Marine John McCulloch in his simple, direct way, hit the nail right on the head. I, myself, in this column, have done my share of complaining. I have thrown the spotlight of criticism on a lot of politicians, including President Truman—and deservedly so.

However, it is also important to remember that we have just passed through a five-year period of stirring up millions of people to kill each other, and it's bound to be tough undoing all this hatred. Furthermore, the job of beating our swords back into plowshares is sometimes tougher than forging the weapons of battle. It's especially tough when everyone drops his tools, doffs his uniform, lays aside his patriotic motives, and expects to get back to the good old days—without his help.

Don't Blame Washington

As I sit in Washington, watching the ebb and flow of politics and politicians, I find two things depressing. One is the tendency, so eloquently noted by John McCulloch, to blame everything on Washington. The other is the failure of Washington to attract good men.

Even with the best men in the world, however, Washington can't solve all the nation's problems. A lot of those problems come from a factory owner wanting too much profit or a labor union getting too high-handed; or from the fact that all of us have let down a little since the war and are thinking too much about the almighty dollar, rather than about our neighbor whose son was missing in action—and the whole community, at that time, tried to be thoughtful and neighborly. But now we have forgotten that neighbor and have gone on to worrying about meat and new automobiles and other selfish things.

Even were President Truman the most brilliant leader in the world—which he certainly doesn't pretend to be—he couldn't solve a lot of these post-war problems. We have to solve them ourselves. We have to be just as considerate and thoughtful as we were when our neighbor's boy was missing in action; we have to drive just as carefully and help people along the road just as often as we did when gasoline was rationed. In other words, we have to think just a little more about the other fellow; and if we do, we really help our country and ourselves.

A Coalition Government

Putting a lot of opposition politicians in congress to make more speeches isn't going to help things much. A certain amount of opposition is healthy and essential. But it can be carried too far and tear the country to pieces.

On the other hand, if President Truman could persuade a few more good men to work with him in the executive branch of the government, if he could bring in some able Republicans to share his responsibilities, then the country definitely would benefit.

For the next two years we face a political house divided against itself. That can have a paralyzing effect on any nation. It could be disastrous.

If, on the other hand, influential and able Republicans were to occupy government positions of trust and importance, this could tide the nation over a dangerous period. Truman has not hesitated to do this when it comes to foreign affairs and famine relief. He has used two powerful and conservative Republicans, Vandenberg of Michigan and Austin of Vermont, as leaders of foreign policy. And he invited Herbert Hoover, despite vigorous Democratic advice to the contrary, to take the lead in famine relief.

However, the inclination of most Republicans will be to stay out of the Democratic domestic picture. They will be tempted to say: "The Democrats made their own bed; let them lie on it. Two years from now we can reap the harvest of their mistakes."

Two years from now, however it may be too late—too late to head off another depression and the war which usually follows depression.

Jefferson's Advice

During the difficult period which this nation faced after the Revolutionary War, Thomas Jefferson wrote:

"There is a debt of service due from every man to his country, proportioned to the bounties which nature and fortune have measured to him."

That is just another way of saying what John McCulloch, the ex-Marine, said in 1946—"It's my fault and millions like me."

In other words, we've all got to do our part, whether it be the alleged big boys in Washington or the little folks back home who have a great deal to do with the final destiny of their country, even if they don't always realize it.

We've all got to serve. In doing so, we've got to get back to the fundamentals of the Sermon on the Mount and remember that after all we are our brother's keeper—if we are to weather this, one of the most chaotic periods of human history.

"Austerity" Of Socialism--What It Boils Down To

A LETTER FROM ENGLAND

"Dear Jim:

"We have at last sold our business. It was quite an effort to give up, after all the years we put into it, but we realized it was time we both had a rest, so we parted with it.

"Things don't seem to be improving in the old country very much. Rationing of food and clothes is very irksome and everybody, more or less, is thoroughly fed up and tired of it all.

"We wonder how you are going on over there, as we hear quite a lot of your strikes and black marketing of food, so guess you are not finding things very easy.

"The annoying part for us, is, that some beautiful things are being made over here, household goods and clothes, etc., but they are all being exported. We want them very badly as our shops are full of expensive trash, but we can't buy any of the goods made for export only.

"There is an exhibition on at present, which has cost thousands of pounds, to show us the wonderful things Britain is making, but none of them is being produced for us, and yet we are crying out for them. That's what war has done for us.

Neutral Nations Sitting Pretty

"We won it, with your help, and yet countries that were neutral or over-run by the Germans seem to be sitting pretty, while we have to go without all these things, because we need the dough to pay for the war.

"We have had an appalling summer worst for very many years; our fruit nearly all ruined and the farmers all around have lost heavily on their crops.

"We don't write to you as often as we would like to, as things are so monotonous and dreary here, and we don't seem to have anything cheery to write about.

"We don't get a chicken to eat here from one year's end to another, as what there is around (and they are down to a minimum) on account of feeding stuff are all sold in the black market at fabulous prices.

"We'd love to know how you are getting on. If you were over here, you wouldn't have an earthly chance of building anything. You'd have to get a permit for any of the materials you would require, which they wouldn't allow you in the first place because you weren't working for the Government, and if you managed to build anything out of any material you might have by you, they would soon make you pull it down, because it wasn't done by their permission, which they wouldn't give you anyway.

"Well, there we are on our own troubles again, but we would like to hear how you get on over this sort of thing.

"Our milk ration being such a small allowance, we have taken to drinking goat's milk, and it is not at all bad.

Government Takes Farm Produce

"Believe me, although we are living in the heart of the country, we don't get any farm produce at all, it is all taken by the Government or the black market, and of course we miss the fish we used to have from the shop.

"But still life is sweet and we are still running the Lanchester on the meagre petrol ration. I have just paid through the nose for some re-treaded tyres, twice the price new tyres used to be, but she is still running sweet and we get around.

"We hope you are getting a better deal than we are."

Socialist "austerity"—as the British call it—seems to boil down to two questions: How much of your money shall we take to build houses for those who worked (and vote) for us? Or, what is my fair share of what you have earned?

Many Changes Are Coming--But For Better--As Result Of Election

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—It wasn't during the campaign just closed that the Republicans won the election. They won it many, many weeks ago—in fact, long before any campaign speeches were made.

There were, as a matter of fact, very few nation-wide speeches in the campaign. The battle was carried on by states and by districts and yet a phenomenal sameness emerged. People everywhere felt the same—they had had enough of New Dealism and radicalism.

The American people made up their minds in 1944 to get rid of the New Deal and radicalism, but with the war on they hesitated to make a change in any branch of the government.

But whatever doubts there may have been during the war, those doubts have been removed since V-J Day as President Truman and the Democratic party bungled reconversion and the labor situation.

The vote from coast to coast showed a uniform trend. The American people revealed, as they sometimes do both in presidential and congressional elections, that they are a homogenous people and that the interests of the people of Massachusetts aren't any different from those of California.

It cannot be said that the American people have turned to the center or to the right. They have turned away from radicalism and left-wing extremes in public policy. They exercised their historic right of veto—to turn out the incumbent party without necessarily getting a blueprint of what the newcomers in power would do. That is American habit, and it is one of the characteristics of a representative system of government.

Strictly speaking, the Truman administration was repudiated. If America had a parliamentry system like Canada or other democracies, President Truman would go out of office and a Republican would be inaugurated. As it is, the country must wait for two years for the chance to elect a President. Meanwhile, warfare between the executive and legislative branches of the government can retard progress on the reconversion front.

If the Democratic Party leaders are smart now, they will recognize the new trend and conform to it rather than fight it. If Mr. Truman turns to the left and listens to the Wallaces and the Peppers, he will make certain an even bigger Republican landslide in 1948.

The radicals will be saying, of course, that "reaction" won and that the forces of wealth and greed and so forth have been given control over Congress. If they examine the situation carefully, they will find that American labor—skilled labor, intelligent labor, fair-minded labor—helped to swell the Republican tide this week and found in the ballot box a way to get around the tyranny of "closed shops" and Wagner Act bludgeoning. The American workingman knows how to use a secret ballot and this time he used it to get rid of the radicals who have been undermining American prosperity and forcing an imbalance in the economic situation that has brought us dangerously near to a recession. The indirect effect of strikes was devastating. Lack of a constructive labor policy cost the Truman administration the election.

There need be no recession. If productivity is increased and a restraining hand is placed by legislation, state and federal, on those who haven't sufficient faith in the merits of trade unionism and use violence and picketing or fraudulent tactics to get members into unions or to hold them there, then the American economic system can go forward to unexampled prosperity.

The election means no sudden changes, but it does mean exposure and a housecleaning—exposure of the disloyal elements. Among them the parlor pinks, who are playing Russia's game in America. The bipartisan coalition on foreign policy will continue because it is loyal to America. It will not be broken down by the radicals because the American people have sensed the trends of communism and have repudiated them at the polls.

A Republican Congress will be a novelty to the youth of our country. Many have grown adult without seeing a change in the political complexion of our government. It is refreshing to have such a change if only to impress millions of young men that in this country no porty is the proprietor of America and no party can dictate to free men, either through CIO-PAC tactics or political machines, how the individual's ballot shall be cast.

The radical still have much influence in the White House and the powers of the presidency are very extensive, especially the veto.

Also the radicals still control the Supreme Court of the United States. It is said that sometimes the judges read the election returns. Certainly the Democratic Party has abused its power in the matter of appointing judges and a Republican Senate doubtless will insist that judicial appointments be made hereafter on the same bipartisan basis as they used to be made by both Republican and Democratic administrations before the New Dealers began packing the judiciary.

Many changes are coming—but they are for the better. America has shown the world that the people who believe in solvency and in a fair deal are in the majority in this country.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

One of these days I'm going to catch up on my Shakespeare. I've seen many of his plays, but I haven't read him since P.S. 44. The only playwright whose work I really know is the talented Hungarian, Ferenc Molnar. I've been reading him since I graduated from Nick Carter and the Liberty Boys of '76. A Deep Thinker recently chided me for liking Molnar's gay comedies. "No social significance," he complained. My rebuttal was simple—"Drop dead."

Billy Rose

I first met Molnar in Budapest in 1934. One evening I was walking along the Dirty Brown Danube with a music publisher. As we passed one of the sidewalk cafes, he pointed to an aristocratic old boy blowing on his coffee. "That's Molnar," he said, as if he were showing me the Acropolis in Athens. Like a funny-paper American tourist I walked right up to him and boomed, "Good evening. How are you, Mr. Molnar?"

The dramatist put down his coffee, screwed a monocle into his pink face, and said, "I am not a cocotte to be spoken to on the street."

I stammered, "I am a great admirer of your plays. I know them well."

"You mean the successes?" he sneered. "Liliom, The Guardsman—"

"Yes — and the failures too," I said. "Riviera, Olympia, The Miracle in the Mountains."

I guess I must have said the right thing. Every playwright has his favorite fizzles, plays he liked even though the public didn't.

"Sit down," he smiled. "Have a cup of coffee."

We talked until dawn outlined the Royal Palace on the far side of the river. When we said goodbye, I knew I had been listening to one of the world's great conversationalists. I think he tells a story better than any of the word-merchants I've been privileged to listen to—Ben Hecht, Gene Fowler, George M. Cohan, Ludwig Bemmelmans.

We next met up in New York. He had skipped out of Budapest two jumps ahead of the Brownshirts. Eleanor and I threw a little dinner party for him one night. I'm still embarrassed when I recall that the main course was goulash—it was like serving a scoop of vanilla to a retired soda jerk. After the coffee and brandy, he told us some stories about Rothschild, the banker, and the beggars of Europe who were always plotting to nick him for a hand-out.

I like the one about the beggar who came to Rothschild's house and actually got in to see him. The financier referred him to his secretary, who turned him over to the butler, who sent him down to see the porter, who directed him to the gatekeeper, who promptly booted him in the pants and sent him sprawling out on the sidewalk.

"Did you get anything?" asked another beggar, who happened to be passing.

"Not exactly," said the one in the gutter, "but the organization in that establishment is simply magnificent!"

Another beggar was luckier. His hard luck story got him ten marks from Rothschild. When he bragged about this, a comrade-in-arms said, "Bah! I would have gotten fifty."

"No you wouldn't," said the first. "I don't think the House of Rothschild is doing so well these days. When I went by the living room, I saw the Baron's two daughters playing together on one piano."

Then there's the story of the beggar who sad-talked Rothschild out of a few coins. An hour later the Baron saw the beggar eating caviar in a fine restaurant. "You out to be ashamed of yourself," said Rothschild indignantly. "You beg, and then squander your money on caviar."

The beggar was even more indignant. "When I don't have money, I can't eat caviar. When I do have money, I mustn't eat caviar. Tell me then, when do I eat caviar?"

A couple of sloppy and smelly panhandlers were talking in front of the Baron's house. "Let me go in," said the older rag-bag. "I have more experience in dealing with the rich."

He turned the handle of the door and it slowly swung open. He saw no one inside and started walking up the grand staircase. Suddenly Rothschild himself appeared at the head of the stairs. The bum was petrified with fright. Rothschild got one whiff of him, then reached for his nostrils with one hand and for his pocket with the other. Throwing him a gold crown he choked, "Take this. Only get out of here!" The beggar picked up the coin and ran. Outside, he proudly displayed the money to his bug-eyed friend. "You see," he said grandly. "You have to know how to talk to these people."

I have room for only one more—the one about Rothschild's funeral. A beggar crashed the funeral procession and started to cry louder than anybody else. One of the family came up to him and said, "Why do you weep so? The Baron was no relative of yours."

"That's why," said the beggar.

Texas Couple Open Old-Time Grist Mill Bakery In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven years ago, Peter and Dorothy Schwarze came to New York from Texas with an idea. They wanted to find out how an old-fashioned grist mill bakery that transformed raw wheat into finished bakery products would fare in the big city.

Equipped with two assets — Mrs. Schwarze's baking skill and her husband's patented electrically-operated stone mill that turns out wheat and white flour simultaneously — the couple set up shop in uptown Manhattan, and started turning out baked goods from the wheat they milled on the premises.

As in most real life success stories, the Schwarzes did not make a million overnight. Far from it. They borrowed money from a friend to pay their first month's rent and the check bounced. Luckily, the bank thought they had a good idea, and let them stay for a while.

The Schwarzes had no money with which to advertise. So they baked miniature loaves of bread, painstakingly typed little wrappers for them, and distributed the samples in front of the store. Mrs. Schwarze loaded up a market basket and ventured down to Riverside Drive, where housewives of the neighborhood sunned their children on warm days.

By the time a Department of Sanitation inspector warned the couple that they couldn't distribute any more samples unless they were prepared to come back and pick up all the wrappers, "the seed was sowed," as Schwarze puts it. He adds:

"Those women certainly were suspicious at first. Scores of them would refuse the sample, thinking there was a catch to it. But as soon as one accepted a loaf, they'd all come back for one."

MILLER-BAKERS — Peter and Dorothy Schwarze.

Today, Mommy and Daddy, as the soft-spoken Schwarzes call each other, have more business than they can handle comfortably. Most of their sales are mail orders—hundreds of loaves of pure wheat, rye and white bread and simple pound cakes and muffins are shipped out every week. Every morning, Schwarze flicks a switch and starts his mill going. When the flour is ground, he begins baking—"Mommy taught me all I know about baking, and there's no trick to it," he says.

White-haired Schwarze, who comes from a family of flour millers, invented his unique grist mill 12 years ago, before he had any idea of leaving Texas for New York. As he explains it, the mill is a combination of the old stone method of milling wheat and modern inventiveness. It stands about three feet high, and is fed from an overhanging wheat bin. The stones start grinding, and wheat flour comes out of one spout, while white flour spurts from another.

Schwarze says he's just received two more mill stones from abroad (the pair in the mill now come from France) and probably will put together another mill. He is meticulous about grinding the wheat daily and also grinds rye flour, cornmeal, and soybeans. The flour, as well as the bakery goods, is marketed.

Hearing On Liquor License Set Today

A hearing will be held in Circuit Court today on the remonstrance filed against issuance of the Class C club liquor, wine and beer license to Arthur Arnone Post, American Legion, Eckhart.

The application was filed several weeks ago by Charles K. Dyche for the Legion post. A number of church members and other Eckhart residents oppose issuance of the license. Clarence Shutter is attorney for the Legion post, while William A. Gunter is attorney for the group opposing issuance of the license.

Following a hearing before Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, of Hagerstown, here yesterday in the equit. action involving sales of stock in the Queen City Dairy, attorneys agreed to submit their cases on briefs. Judge Mish set a time limit of two weeks for submission of the briefs.

The action was filed by J. William Loar, a stockholder, against Clarence U. Llewellyn, a director; Harvey E. England, a former director; John H. Stiffler, former manager of the dairy, and James H. Laher, Blair County, Pa. Later an amended bill of complaint was filed by the plaintiff, and the hearing yesterday was on demurrers filed by the defendants.

D. Lindley Sloan, George Henderson and F. Brooke Whiting are attorneys for Loar, while the defendants are represented by Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., and Thomas Lohr Richards.

Released On Bond

Charged with robbery, Raymond Gray, Cumberland, held for action of the January grand jury, has been released from the county jail under $500 bond. Daniel White, George Stewart and Gray were arrested October 21 on a charge of taking a wallet from Wilmont Londeman as the latter alighted from his car on Baltimore street. Each was held under $500 bond for grand jury action. Stewart has been released from jail to undergo hospital treatment, while White is still in jail.

Fame Of Iowa Violin Maker Almost Unknown To Neighbors

WATERLOO, Ia., (AP)—Up an ancient stairway and around the corner—in a studio crowded with violins—lives and works a skilled craftsman whose artistry goes almost unnoticed by Waterloo citizens. Yet he is known by musicians of stringed instruments throughout the nation.

Familiar to Waterloo, however, is the wooden violin silhouette which hangs in front of the dormer windows of Charlie Nelson's shop over a grocery store in the heart of the east side business district.

Charlie was nine years old when he came from Sweden to Pennsylvania with his folks. During his 'teens, he remembers, he was often punished for fiddling at "hoedown" dances.

He joined the Army in 1893 and spent the next 14 years attached to a cavalry band unit. He served as drum major for the band in the Spanish-American War.

Following his discharge Charlie went to St. Paul where he became acquainted with Dave Rubinoff, then an almost unknown musician. Rubinoff owns a violin made by Nelson and another quarter-size instrument Nelson made for Rubinoff's son.

One of the first quarter-sized violins made by Nelson was for his own son, Ross, then only four years old. Ross became director of a twin-cities band while he was 12, but he died at 21.

Nelson also has two daughters living in San Francisco, so the 73-year-old artist lives alone with his Spitz dog "Nuffie."

Charlie makes everything except the steel strings and pegs for his instruments. He has worked out secret formulas for the dyes and varnishes he uses. Even the violin scrolls are carved by the elderly craftsman.

Sometimes a violin may take a number of years to complete because of lack of time and materials. A violin for a Waterloo teacher took 15 years to finish.

$12 Buys $4,000 Worth Of Stamps

IPOH, Malaya, (AP)—A trip to the postoffice has brought prospects of a small fortune to a local Chinese stamp collector.

Chong Mun Siew, purchased for his collection a sheet of 100 British Military Administration 25 cent stamps at their face value—the equivalent of $12.

Examining the stamps, Chong discovered the printer had run the stamps through the press twice and each bore a double "BMA Malaya" surcharge.

Postal officials, after a checkup lasting more than three months, reported they could find no evidence that any other such errors exist.

Local and London bidders already have offered Chong $40 for each stamp or $4,000 for the sheet. So far he has declined to sell.

Fame Of Iowa Violin Maker Almost Unknown To Neighbors

WATERLOO, Ia., (AP)—Up an ancient stairway and around the corner—in a studio crowded with violins—lives and works a skilled craftsman whose artistry goes almost unnoticed by Waterloo citizens. Yet he is known by musicians of stringed instruments throughout the nation.

Familiar to Waterloo, however, is the wooden violin silhouette which hangs in front of the dormer windows of Charlie Nelson's shop over a grocery store in the heart of the east side business district.

Charlie was nine years old when he came from Sweden to Pennsylvania with his folks. During his 'teens, he remembers, he was often punished for fiddling at "hoedown" dances.

He joined the Army in 1893 and spent the next 14 years attached to a cavalry band unit. He served as drum major for the band in the Spanish-American War.

Following his discharge Charlie went to St. Paul where he became acquainted with Dave Rubinoff, then an almost unknown musician. Rubinoff owns a violin made by Nelson and another quarter-size instrument Nelson made for Rubinoff's son.

One of the first quarter-sized violins made by Nelson was for his own son, Ross, then only four years old. Ross became director of a twin-cities band while he was 12, but he died at 21.

Nelson also has two daughters living in San Francisco, so the 73-year-old artist lives alone with his Spitz dog "Nuffie."

Charlie makes everything except the steel strings and pegs for his instruments. He has worked out secret formulas for the dyes and varnishes he uses. Even the violin scrolls are carved by the elderly craftsman.

Sometimes a violin may take a number of years to complete because of lack of time and materials. A violin for a Waterloo teacher took 15 years to finish.

$12 Buys $4,000 Worth Of Stamps

IPOH, Malaya, (AP)—A trip to the postoffice has brought prospects of a small fortune to a local Chinese stamp collector.

Chong Mun Siew, purchased for his collection a sheet of 100 British Military Administration 25 cent stamps at their face value—the equivalent of $12.

Examining the stamps, Chong discovered the printer had run the stamps through the press twice and each bore a double "BMA Malaya" surcharge.

Postal officials, after a checkup lasting more than three months, reported they could find no evidence that any other such errors exist.

Local and London bidders already have offered Chong $40 for each stamp or $4,000 for the sheet. So far he has declined to sell.

Red Morning Is Compared With Local Historians

Reviewing Ruby Frazier Frey's, "Red Morning," for members of the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club, yesterday at the library, Mrs. Robert W. Work, explained that the title was taken from the Indian's name "Red Morning" for the heroine, Jane Frazier.

The speaker told her audience that according to Laudermilk's "History of Cumberland," the "historical background of the book is quite accurate. Will's Creek settlement, where the first storehouse and blockhouse were built, was across the river where Ridgeley now stands. Fort Cumberland, on the site of the present Episcopal church, was built shortly before Braddock arrived to accommodate the enlarged army."

However, the part concerning the place and other details of the capture of Jane differs from the "History of Allegany County," by James W. Thomas and Judge T. J. C. Williams. Although Mrs. Frey agrees with this book concerning the fact that Jane made her escape in the company of two Dutch prisoners, Mrs. Frey embellishes the plans and means of travel to suit her novel.

The love interest is furnished by Jane and John Frazier. They were real people back in 1755, the time of the story, "but they have been glamorized a good bit by the novelist. All that concerns Jane and John is a little too melodramatic and reminds one too much of our 'Westerns' in the movies," the reviewer declared.

Although the story of General Edward Braddock is well told by Mrs. Frey, who pictures him as he apparently was, a bigoted, self-reliant, English officer, accustomed to high living, fond of gambling and in debt and too proud to receive instructions or advice from his inferiors, as he considered all provincials to be, the reviewer explained that she did not feel the character portrayals are strong.

For, "when you finish the book, you have the feeling of just having passed a number of people on the street. You don't really get to know them intimately nor share their thoughts and motives."

Mrs. Frey's descriptions of colonial life in general and of the hardships endured by the troops as they made their way towards the fatal battle on the Monongahela, near Fort Duquesne, are excellent, Mrs. Work reported. Stressing her topic she pointed to the scenes at Gist's settlement where the advance troops and Jane find all the inhabitants except one old woman massacered and scalped, and the sympathy engendered for the British troops in these strange forests, filled with horrors, where if he lagged behind or stepped off the trail an Indian would be lying in wait for him, and in the battle itself where, "one feels the full impact of the pain that seized the soldiers when attacked by the hidden, war-hooping French and Indians. But Jane's capture by the Delaware Indians and life in the village in Ohio is told in far less detail than the events leading up to this climax.

Problems Of Higher College Education Are Discussed

Jay Jason, instructor of modern languages of Frostburg State Teacher's College, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club last night at Central YMCA.

He spoke on the higher college education and problems confronting schools and colleges in the "Atomic Age". Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard introduced Mr. Jason and Miss Anna Nicht presided at the session.

Stressing the "down to earth" problems the speaker listed the principal ones as teacher shortages, teacher salaries, what to do about the returned veterans, educational equipment, such as text books and the expanded program, with it's natural result of over crowded class rooms.

Listing several remedies, Mr. Jason suggested that the professional standing of teachers be raised and placed on a similar level with lawyers and doctors. He also advocated teachers be paid larger salaries; have adequate facilities and inducements to encourage persons to enter the teacher training field.

A musical program was presented by Patricia Anderson and Lorraine Kompanek, who sang several popular numbers and led the group singing. Josephine Kompanek accompanied them at the piano.

Miss Pritchard was assisted in arrangements by Miss Gerardine Pritchard, Mrs. Carl Perry, Dr. Ethel Dantzic and Mrs. Irene Pike.

The bride was attired in an aqua colored dress, fashioned with high neckline, trimmed in silver sequin. With it she wore black accessories and a corsage of gardenias completed her costume.

Her maid of honor wore a pink costume, with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Frey's descriptions of colonial life in general and of the hardships endured by the troops as they made their way towards the fatal battle on the Monongahela, near Fort Duquesne, are excellent, Mrs. Work reported. Stressing her topic she pointed to the scenes at Gist's settlement where the advance troops and Jane find all the inhabitants except one old woman massacered and scalped, and the sympathy engendered for the British troops in these strange forests, filled with horrors, where if he lagged behind or stepped off the trail an Indian would be lying in wait for him, and in the battle itself where, "one feels the full impact of the pain that seized the soldiers when attacked by the hidden, war-hooping French and Indians. But Jane's capture by the Delaware Indians and life in the village in Ohio is told in far less detail than the events leading up to this climax.

Problems Of Higher College Education Are Discussed

Jay Jason, instructor of modern languages of Frostburg State Teacher's College, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club last night at Central YMCA.

He spoke on the higher college education and problems confronting schools and colleges in the "Atomic Age". Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard introduced Mr. Jason and Miss Anna Nicht presided at the session.

Stressing the "down to earth" problems the speaker listed the principal ones as teacher shortages, teacher salaries, what to do about the returned veterans, educational equipment, such as text books and the expanded program, with it's natural result of over crowded class rooms.

Listing several remedies, Mr. Jason suggested that the professional standing of teachers be raised and placed on a similar level with lawyers and doctors. He also advocated teachers be paid larger salaries; have adequate facilities and inducements to encourage persons to enter the teacher training field.

A musical program was presented by Patricia Anderson and Lorraine Kompanek, who sang several popular numbers and led the group singing. Josephine Kompanek accompanied them at the piano.

Miss Pritchard was assisted in arrangements by Miss Gerardine Pritchard, Mrs. Carl Perry, Dr. Ethel Dantzic and Mrs. Irene Fike.

Vets Will Get Dividends On Life Insurance

Servicemen and veterans in this area who held National Service Life Insurance policies will be eligible for a dividend as soon as the Veterans Administration can compute the surplus of premium receipts over benefit payments, it was reported yesterday by William A. Burns, officer in charge of the Cumberland contact office.

The contact representative estimated it would take the agency "at least a year" to check 18,000,000 policies held by 15,000,000 different policy-holders before the amount of the refund could be determined in each case.

The reason for the surplus, the VA representative asserted, is not that the government over-estimated the number of battle casualties in the war, but that a margin of safety had been allowed in fixing payments.

From Different Fund

Payments on policies which mature as a result of death or total disability due to the hazards of war, the VA representative pointed out, come from a separate Congressional appropriation, not from the fund or premium receipts from policy-holders.

Burns said that the only payments made from NSLI premiums were those arising from death by natural causes, not directly attributable to the war. The only effect a relatively low combat casualty rate would have would be that a higher percentage of policy-holders would continue to pay their premiums throughout the war.

Computation of benefits, Mr. Burns revealed, will be based on the age of the policy-holder, the amount of insurance he carried, and the length of time he made premium payments. He said that it was thought that persons who held policies for only a very brief period might not be given any payments, but a "substantial number" including those who have let their policies lapse, would be eligible.

The Veterans Administration urged veterans who have National Service Life Insurance to give careful consideration to the settlement provisions of their policies.

Burns explained that the insurance Act of 1946 opened a large field of new settlement options designed to provide for the various needs and circumstances of veterans' beneficiaries.

Optional Settlements

The new optional settlements, which went into effect August 1, 1946, range from lump sum payments to monthly installments during the life of the first beneficiary. Under the original law, the only settlements authorized were monthly income or annuity payments.

The VA official stated that if the insured veteran has not selected on of the optional settlements and dies, the insurance is paid in 36 equal monthly installments to his beneficiary. He said the beneficiary may elect to receive installments over a longer period. Under no circumstances, however, may a designated beneficiary receive a lump sum settlement unless the insured selected that type of option before he died.

On of the main advantages of the new settlement provisions is that veteran can select a combination of payments. For instance, they can specify that a certain amount of their insurance be paid to their beneficiary in a lump sum at the time of their death, and that the remainder be paid in monthly installments over a given period or during the lifetime of their beneficiary. When electing a settlement option for G. I. insurance, the veteran should consider what his beneficiary's future circumstances may be, Burns said.

Veterans who wish to obtain full information regarding the new NSLI optional settlements should contact the VA office located at Room 10, 111 Union street, Cumberland.

Randolph Thanks All For Support

Defeat of Representative Jennings Randolph of the Second Congressional District, West Virginia, in Tuesday's election, brought expressions of regret from many Cumberlanders who held the Elkins legislator in high esteem. His co-operation with Marylanders in such projects as the Savage river dam, the Cumberland airport at Wiley Ford and Potomac river problems, won him a host of friends here.

From his home in Elkins, Representative Randolph said yesterday morning he sent the following telegram Wednesday to Melvin C. Snyder, Kingwood, his successful opponent:

"You have been given the opportunity for great service. Accept my most sincere congratulations as you undertake this important task."

Expressing his appreciation to the voters of the Second District who supported him, Randolph said:

"I shall always cherish the warm friendships which I was privileged to hold during my 14 years as a member of the House of Representatives of the United States. During my service I eagerly and earnestly worked for what I sincerely believed to be for the best interests of all of the citizens of the 15 counties. My efforts were always extended to all of the people rather than to any special group.

"I conducted as vigorous a campaign as it was possible to make There was, however, no word or action of mine which was bitter or unfair toward my opponent. It is my sincere wish that Melvin C. Snyder enjoy good health and happiness during his Congressional career."

Congressman-elect Snyder is a former prosecuting attorney of Preston county and served as a colonel in World War II.

Alien Fiancees May Enter Under Special Ruling

The Local Red Cross office said yesterday that it has received notice of a new ruling which provides that alien fiancees of ex-servicemen may enter the country on a non-immigrant passport visa for a period of three months.

Mrs. Louise Dean, chairman of home service, said she has had several inquiries from local men trying to bring their fiancess to this country. She said the new ruling, Public Law 471, applies to women who are citizens of countries with over-subscribed immigration quotas and provides that they must marry within three months or be deported.

Various affadavits must be made out by the American fiance, Mrs. Dean said. Among them are his intention to marry, proof that he is free to marry, a copy and his birth and discharge certificates and a statement from his employer that he is gainfully employed. He must also put up a $500 bond with the immigration authorities which would be forfeited in the event of deportation.

Mrs. Dean said the Red Cross office would aid in filling out these affadavits.

Alien Fiancees May Enter Under Special Ruling

The Local Red Cross office said yesterday that it has received notice of a new ruling which provides that alien fiancees of ex-servicemen may enter the country on a non-immigrant passport visa for a period of three months.

Mrs. Louise Dean, chairman of home service, said she has had several inquiries from local men trying to bring their fiancess to this country. She said the new ruling, Public Law 471, applies to women who are citizens of countries with over-subscribed immigration quotas and provides that they must marry within three months or be deported.

Various affadavits must be made out by the American fiance, Mrs. Dean said. Among them are his intention to marry, proof that he is free to marry, a copy and his birth and discharge certificates and a statement from his employer that he is gainfully employed. He must also put up a $500 bond with the immigration authorities which would be forfeited in the event of deportation.

Mrs. Dean said the Red Cross office would aid in filling out these affadavits.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Veteran's Wife Has Message For Wife Of Another Ex-Serviceman

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

One of the letters printed in this column a few weeks ago was from the wife of a discharged veteran who was making her very unhappy by his frequent outbursts of ugly temper over trifles. Because she was expecting a baby, the situation upset her even more than it normally would, and she was beginning to feel the whole thing was more than she could stand.

Now, from the wife of another veteran, who also went through a difficult time with her husband, comes a cheering letter addressed to the first one. It is so full of sympathetic understanding, practical suggestions and good, sound common sense that I feel it will interest and help many another wife bewildered by the attitudes shown by a husband back from the wars. For that reason, I am printing the letter in full:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I should like to address my letter to the young lady whose letter appeared in your column signed 'Unhappy.'—

"I was casually reading 'Advice to the Lovelorn' when I suddenly realized that the disconcerting situations you were describing coincided exactly with so many of the things my husband and I have experienced during the past year. Your husband's actions are so much like my husband's that I'm inclined to think it is a sort of war-illness. I assure you I have been desperate to know how to cope with him and to help him through his readjustment period.

"You see, my son was one month old when his daddy came home, and I think my husband felt that he had walked from one 'ball-and-chain' right into another. He certainly hadn't realized how confining a small baby is to the parents, nor had he anticipated a tired, sometimes unglamorous, wife. He expected the attention the baby was now getting, for, before he went overseas, I had catered to his whims completely.

"I know, as all mothers do, how one feels during pregnancy, but that condition is natural, and his attitude is so unnatural for a healthy, young man, and so terribly wrong. If you feel as I did, you want your husband with you constantly after such a long separation.

"Finally, I realized that we were just together too much. We exhausted our conversation and bickered incessantly. I reasoned with myself that when we were engaged, we saw each other only a few hours a week, and, when he was in the army, hardly at all. So now I encourage my husband to take up hobbies, to go out with old friends, to go home alone and visit with his parents occasionally, and he always comes back refreshed and willing—even glad—to come home to his little family.

"Things do improve with time and patience. My husband is still inclined to gripe, sometimes is childishly violent, and is somewhat anti-social. But imagine my surprise when he suggested, recently, that we invite friends inone evening to play bridge—my favorite pastime—which he had heretofore flatly refused to learn. I know now that we invite friends in one evening and is not just being hateful.

"If anyone thinks that the problems of the soldier's wife ended when the boys came marching home 'safe and sound' they are utterly mistaken. Her real job—the greatest test of her patience and understanding — has only begun. The best advice I can give you is to put your own feelings into the background and concentrate on making a fine home and a happy family. You'll soon find yourself being repaid in the love and consideration of your husband and children.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

GEORGE: "Yes, I certainly would like to hear why you call that an old fashioned idea, Judge."

OLD JUDGE: "Glad to tell you, George. Until recently, a person known as an alcoholic was generally treated as a social outcast. Little if anything was done to understand him or help him. But, during the past few years, medical research and study has developed that alcoholics are really sick people . . . that there is usually a deep-rooted physical, social or emotional reason behind their behavior. That's why today so much is being done to help them by finding out and correcting the condition that leads them to excess."

GEORGE: "How many folks are there like that, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, according to scientific research, 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly. 5% do so unwisely, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage of the sick people I'm talking about."

GEORGE: "That certainly gives me a clearer picture. It's the most sensible approach I've ever heard on the subject."

Newest Young Timers' Hairdo Is An Eton Schoolboy Cut

[By The Associated Press]

The gals have not only snatched big brother's trousers and dad's shirts—they have adopted their kid brothers' hair cut. The newest hairdo to make a hit with teen-agers and their older sisters is the Eton Cut, a brand new hairdo fashioned after an Eton schoolboy's haircut.

Victor Vito, New York hair designer, created it because of the wistful yearning the current crop of debs and sub-debs have for a well-brushed shining head of hair.

THE ETON CUT . . . New hairdo with an American flair designed by Victor Vito.

No pins, no poufs, no fuss and feathers are required with this new coiffure. The bangs are cut short and brushed to one side—it's all in the shaping, says Victor. The purpose of it is to achieve a strictly ingenue American look.

Gals that have leaned toward the long page-boy with or without bangs because they wanted to effect smooth simplicity without fuss will appreciate this new modern hairdo.

More important is the fact that except for a clipping of the front locks, no chopping of the hair is required. The girls can still wear their hair long, which is the way they like it.

Another interesting angle is that whereas with the side-parted page-boy a bow, clip or flower must be used to anchor the hair, this new hairdo makes no pretense at anything but simplicity. At the same time you'll feel just as happy wearing it at the school dance as you will at a football game.

Elephants Selling At 50 Cents A Pound

DENVER, (AP)—If you're looking for a 4 to 5-ton elephant, it may cost you $4,000 to $5,000—f.o.b. dealer's elephant lot, plus the expenses of the mahout accompanying the beast intransit. The price is an example of the inflation among creatures of the zoo, says Clyde E. Hill, city park zoo superintendent. In 1940 a pretty fair hay-burning pachyderm cost $2,500, he recalled. Lions are going at $250 compared with $100 six years ago, although the roars may be louder while meat is scarce. Zebras, stripes included, are up $350 at $800.

When Cow Eats $130 How Rich Is Its Milk?

BEATTYVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—It was give and take for Mrs. Mary Dunigan's cow. The cow was giving her milk, while it was taking $130 in currency she had in a tobacco sack—and chewing it. So explained Mrs. Dunigan in an affidavit when she brought a well-masticated batch of bills to a Beattyville bank to have it exchanged for more usable notes. Mrs. Dunigan said the cow snitched the money bag from her pocket while she was busy with the milking. She barely managed to retrieve it, she added, before the money went where the green grass goes.

Synthetic rubies and sapphires are practically identical by every chemical and physical standard with natural rubies and sapphires.

CAMERAMEN MAKE ARCH—There was nothing camera shy about Maurice Kaplan and his bride, the former Miss Marguerite Hicks, as they left the church. Borrowing a page from military books, members of the Huntington, W. Va., Photographic Society formed an arch of cameras to honor the couple, members of the staff of the Huntington Herald Dispatch. Victor Vito, New York hair designer, created it because of the wistful yearning the current crop of debs and sub-debs have for a well-brushed shining head of hair.

No pins, no poufs, no fuss and feathers are required with this new coiffure. The bangs are cut short and brushed to one side—it's all in the shaping, says Victor. The purpose of it is to achieve a strictly ingenue American look.

Gals that have leaned toward the long page-boy with or without bangs because they wanted to effect smooth simplicity witnout fusiness will appreciate this new modern hairdo.

More important is the fact that except for a clipping of the front locks, no chopping of the hair is required. The girls can still wear their hair long, which is the way they like it.

Another interesting angle is that whereas with the side-parted page-boy a bow, clip or flower must be used to anchor the hair, this new hairdo makes no pretense at anything but simplicity. At the same time you'll feel just as happy wearing it at the school dance as you will at a football game.

THE ETON CUT . . . New hairdo with an American flair designed by Victor Vito.

Elephants Selling At 50 Cents A Pound

DENVER, (AP)—If you're looking for a 4 to 5-ton elephant, it may cost you $4,000 to $5,000—f.o.b. dealer's elephant lot, plus the expenses of the mahout accompanying the beast intransit. The price is an example of the inflation among creatures of the zoo, says Clyde E. Hill, city park zoo superintendent. In 1940 a pretty fair hay-burning pachyderm cost $2,500, he recalled. Lions are going at $250 compared with $100 six years ago, although the roars may be louder while meat is scarce. Zebras, stripes included, are up $350 at $800.

When Cow Eats $130 How Rich Is Its Milk?

BEATTYVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—It was give and take for Mrs. Mary Dunigan's cow. The cow was giving her milk, while it was taking $130 in currency she had in a tobacco sack—and chewing it. So explained Mrs. Dunigan in an affidavit when she brought a well-masticated batch of bills to a Beattyville bank to have it exchanged for more usable notes. Mrs. Dunigan said the cow snitched the money bag from her pocket while she was busy with the milking. She barely managed to retrieve it, she added, before the money went where the green grass goes.

Mineral County Court Sets Trial Dates For 6 Cases

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 7—Six civil and appeal cases pending before the Mineral County court were set for trial today: For November 12: first—James W. Boyland vs. Robert Green; second—W. W. Long vs. Loyal Order of Moose; third—Moses Schifflett vs. Edgar Ellifritz. For November 13: first—James W. Green vs. Russell and Catherine Guthrie; second—the State vs. Raymond W. Orndorff; third—Ira M. Keys vs. Samuel Wilford Brown.

Several cases were continued until the January term of court. Twelve appeal cases and one motion, all of long standing, were ordered dismissed.

Warnick who was indicted at the July term of court on the charge of stealing a watch, valued at $50, and other articles from Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, came before the court and pleaded guilty. The court gave him a sentence of from one to 10 years in the penitentiary; then placed him under parole for three years.

Council Meeting

At a meeting of the City Council held Wednesday night with Mayor John C. Freeland and councilmen Frank Mott, Glen E. Smith and Ralph Casteel attending the letting of bids for the erection of the new Fire Building was considered.

Attending also were Bruce Montgomery, William Knott, M. E. Minnich and E. T. Kessel of the Citizens' Building Committee, and Edgar Brunk, Jesse Cheshire and W. J. Cross of the Fire Company's Building Committee.

Ray Coffman, local architect and contractor submitted tentative plans for the proposed building, one showing the structure in an incomplete stage, and another showing the building completed in all its rooms and departments.

The plans were approved and Coffman instructed to prepare final plans both of the completed structure and the incomplete design of the structure. When the final plans are received the joint council and committees will decide on them. The decision to adopt them will hinge on the possibility of getting materials needed for the completed structure.

Food

Clever Cooks . . . These Chinese

STUFFED LOBSTER . . . Sea-food delicacy.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Except for the previous book, "New Chinese Recipes," by the same authors, there has never, in my opinion, been a better foreign cookbook for American homes than "Old Chinese Recipes," by Fred Wing and Mabel Stegner. The book is sold for the benefit of United Service to China.

Authentic Chinese ingredients are again obtainable in Chinatowns throughout the country.

"Old Chinese Recipes" contains eighty authentic Cantonese recipes. Items covered are Soups; Poultry; Chop Suey; Pork; Beef; Sea Food; Rice; and Miscellaneous. Here are a few examples:

Stuffed Lobster
(Young-Loong-Har)

In a saucepan bring to a boil: 2 quarts water. Plunge in and cook for 2 minutes, 2—1-pound lobsters. Remove from water. With shells on, cut each lobster lengthwise in two, then across in 1½ inch long pieces. Cut each claw in three sections. Discard intestines and head shells. Place lobsters in a shallow baking dish or casserole.

Mince ¼ pound pork very fine or put through the fine knife of a food chopper and place in a mixing bowl.

Peel, finely mince, and add ½ cup water chestnuts. Finely mince and add ½ cup bamboo shoots, 1 tablespoon scallions, 1 teaspoon ginger root. Add 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1 tablespoon sherry, 2 teaspoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1 tablespoon oil or melted fat.

Mix all together thoroughly and place on top of lobsters in casserole. In a deep frying pan or kettle with a tight fitting cover, place water a half inch deep. On a trivet or rack deep enough to hold dish above water place dish containing lobsters. Cover kettle tightly, bring to a boil, and steam over a moderately low flame about 45 minutes, adding more water if necessary. Serve immediately with hot, cooked rice. Serves four.

Chicken Broth Fried Rice
(Shong-'Tong-Chow-Fon)

Cut 3 slices of bacon in one-inch pieces and place in a preheated, heavy, 10-inch frying pan. Cook over a moderate flame until crisp and add 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 4 cups cooked rice.

Cook over a moderately high flame, stirring constantly, about 10 mins.

Sprinkle in and stir constantly, 2 tablespoons soy souce. Finely dice and add 2 tablespoons scallions, break in 2 eggs.

Bring to a boil, 2 cups well seasoned chicken broth.

Orange Free State Decides War's Over

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—For farmers in the Orange Free State, the end of the war was Nov. 1, 1946. More than two-thirds of the entire area of the Free State is under option to Johannesburg financiers for gold prospecting. Under the contracts, the farmers get the equivalent of 10 cents an acre per year for the duration of the war, after which the rate increases gradually to a maximum of about 90 cents an acre. Since the end of hostilities there has been controversy over the start of increased option rates.

Area Fire Chiefs Form Association

Plans to organize the Allegany-Garrett Fire Chiefs Association were taken at a meeting in Frostburg Wednesday night at which seven companies were represented.

The group named Harland A. Lashier, chief of the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company, temporary chairman and O. H. Geiger, assistant chief of the Corriganville company, temporary secretary.

Geiger said yesterday that past and present line officers of all volunteer companies in Allegany and Garrett counties are eligible for membership. He added that the purpose of the organization is a closer co-operation of district fire-fighting groups.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 27, in the Potomac Fire Hall in Westernport.

Mice Plague Poland's Crops

WARSAW, Poland. (AP)—A plague of field mice destroyed high percentages of farm crops in many sections of Poland this year.

The semi-official newspaper Rzeczpospolita said a statement issued at an agricultural conference recently in Szczecin reported field mice were responsible for a 30 per-cent loss in harvests. In several districts 82 per cent of the crops were ruined during the summer, and 43 per cent of the winter crops.

He was also honored by the Welsh International Singers, consisting of Welsh singing groups from the United States and Canada when he was selected as the main speaker the first Sunray in September, this year, and made an address in the Welsh language before 3,000 guests in the Armory at Akron, Ohio. The occasion was the annual festival of the American and Canadian singing groups.

Biennial School Census Is Taken At Central High

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, Nov. 7—The regular biennial school census was taken at Central High school this week.

All children whose parents or legal guardians are residents of the county and who had not reached 21 years of age by September 1, 1946, are enumerated in the census.

The census is made necessary by the school law in Maryland which makes schools free to white and colored youths up to the age of 21 years. The guidance program in the high schools calls for follow-up of graduates and withdrawals at intervals for a period of 10 years. Keeping information on the census sheets up to date will help high school principals and teachers make their follow-up more complete.

Educators are taking greater responsibility for youth until they are placed in jobs, according to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel. If the school people are to develop a program of education and recreation for this group, it is necessary to have the facts on their number, employment, non-employment, further education status, Mr. Ramey said in a communication to the principals and teachers.

Data on young children are needed for principals and county superintendents to plan for the number of students to expect in succeeding years. With the recent increased birth rate it is important that the figures on young children be watched carefully, he said.

Information will be available for the doctors and nurses in charge of the Child Health clinics who seek to have remediable physical defects removed before children enter school. Parents may be notified in June that their children should be vaccinated before September 1, so that late entrances will be avoided.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health compares the names of young children with the birth register for the purpose of insuring complete registration.

The State and Federal Departments find complete data on young children in the school census extremely valuable for the purpose of estimating populations between the regular decennial censuses.

A new, revised and simplified family form has been prepared for this year's census that will be used for succeeding years as well.

Christmas Dance Planned

A Christmas dance to be held Thursday night, December 19, was planned by the Student Council of Central High School at their meeting Thursday afternoon.

Ted Williams and his Aristocrats will play the music. It will be semi-formal and grades 9 to 12 of the school will be allowed to come.

Addresses Assembly

Miss Anne Sloan, child welfare chairman, James P. Love Post No. 92, American Legion, addressed the Central Junior High School assembly Thursday morning. She spoke on "Peace" and compared the children's happiness in this country to those of German children.

An Armistice program was presented by the students of Room 206.

Brief Mention

The Ladies Auxiliary of Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met Thursday night at the VFW home. Mrs. Sarah Schlereth, president, was in charge.

Legion Completes Plans For Dance On Armistice Day

Barton Post To Transport Relatives To Services In Cumberland

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON, Nov. 7—Plans were completed last night by Barton Post No. 189, American Legion, for a dance to be held Monday, November 11. The dance, fourth of a series, will be held in the firemen's armory, South Eutaw street, with music furnished by the Aristocrat's orchestra.

Joseph Davis, commander, who will act as chairman, appointed the following committee to work with him, J. Irvin Martin, Charles Howell and Richard Davis.

The post voted to notify all next of kin of men of this vicinity who were killed in action in World Wars No. 1 and 2, of the unveiling of the Honor Roll in Cumberland on Armistice Day, November 11. Brief Memorial services will be held in the City Hall, 10:30 a. m. and transportation will be furnished by the local post for all relatives wishing to attend these services. These persons are asked to notify the post or one of its members as soon as they know they are going to attend the services.

A movie "Trees and Homes" will be presented in the club room on Monday, November 18 at 8 o'clock.

House rules were approved at the meeting, effective immediately. The post voted not to allow any gambling on its premises. An athletic committee will be appointed at the next regular meeting which will be Wednesday, November 20. The club will sponsor a basketball team and is formulating plans for taking over the franchise in the Bi-State baseball league for 1947.

The membership drive is progressing satisfactorily, according to Paul Davis, adjutant, and the goal of 150 members is expected to be reached by the deadline, November 11, Davis stated.

Following the meeting refreshments were served, the first since the opening of their new home, October 8.

Data on young children are needed for principals and county superintendents to plan for the number of students to expect in succeeding years. With the recent increased birth rate it is important that the figures on young children be watched carefully, he said.

Information will be available for the doctors and nurses in charge of the Child Health clinics who seek to have remediable physical defects removed before children enter school. Parents may be notified in June that their children should be vaccinated before September 1, so that late entrances will be avoided.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health compares the names of young children with the birth register for the purpose of insuring complete registration.

The State and Federal Departments find complete data on young children in the school census extremely valuable for the purpose of estimating populations between the regular decennial censuses.

A new, revised and simplified family form has been prepared for this year's census that will be used for succeeding years as well.

Legion Completes Plans For Dance On Armistice Day

Barton Post To Transport Relatives To Services In Cumberland

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON, Nov. 7—Plans were completed last night by Barton Post No. 189, American Legion, for a dance to be held Monday, November 11. The dance, fourth of a series, will be held in the firemen's armory, South Eutaw street, with music furnished by the Aristocrat's orchestra.

Joseph Davis, commander, who will act as chairman, appointed the following committee to work with him, J. Irvin Martin, Charles Howell and Richard Davis.

The post voted to notify all next of kin of men of this vicinity who were killed in action in World Wars No. 1 and 2, of the unveiling of the Honor Roll in Cumberland on Armistice Day, November 11. Brief Memorial services will be held in the City Hall, 10:30 a. m. and transportation will be furnished by the local post for all relatives wishing to attend these services. These persons are asked to notify the post or one of its members as soon as they know they are going to attend the services.

A movie "Trees and Homes" will be presented in the club room on Monday, November 18 at 8 o'clock.

House rules were approved at the meeting, effective immediately. The post voted not to allow any gambling on its premises. An athletic committee will be appointed at the next regular meeting which will be Wednesday, November 20. The club will sponsor a basketball team and is formulating plans for taking over the franchise in the Bi-State baseball league for 1947.

The membership drive is progressing satisfactorily, according to Paul Davis, adjutant, and the goal of 150 members is expected to be reached by the deadline, November 11, Davis stated.

Following the meeting refreshments were served, the first since the opening of their new home, October 8.

Get A Good Mattress; You Spend A Third Of Your Life In Bed

SUPER COMFORT . . . can be achieved in a hide-a-bed sofa when the right bedding is provided for comfort.

By The Associated Press

There are so many important things to look for when buying bedding that it seems the wisest course after first understanding your needs is to buy from a reliable merchant and select the product of a reputable manufacturer.

Comfort is an individual reaction. You may be a stickler for an innerspring mattress which has considerable "give" to it; your husband may prefer a mattress which provides firmer support. Other members of the family may prefer soft or hard mattresses. Young growing children need firm sleep foundations as a too-soft mattress may cause poor posture which might be difficult to correct.

There are no bargains in bedding. You get what you pay for. When you consider that a third of your life is spent in bed, price should be incidental.

The chief differences in innerspring mattresses are the number of coils, their shape and the way they are held together. These factors, incidentally, determine the degree of comfort. While the number of coils does not necessarily indicate the quality of a mattress, a good innerspring seldom has less than 180 coil.

Of the solid upholstered mattresses, those filled with felted cotton are the best. The type into which loose cotton fibers have been blown and the one which has loose fibers in the center with felted layers above and beneath it, tend to mat down and become lumpy with use.

Good mattresses have strong reinforced borders to keep their edges erect and neat. They have firm handles, too, to facilitate turning, and ventilators to keep the inside of the mattress fresh.

Boxsprings should have rattan borders and coils that are handtied to each other, to the base and to the border with a special kind of twine; the upholstery is securely fastened to the frame and the construction is noiseless.

Flexible open coil springs do not furnish a closed surface when depressed, so it is best not to use them with an innerspring mattress. But they are ideal for use wit ha solid upholstered mattress because of their high degree of resilience.

A good pillow should be light in weight, buoyant and free from odor, dust, stiff feathers and lumps. The light pillow is always superior. To test it for resiliency lay the pillow flat and press down the center with both hands. The more completely it rebounds, the better the feathers.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Live the Constructive Life

The people who have the most friends are those who are continually thinking and saying kind things about other people—not tearing them to pieces, and trying to discredit them. We all have enough faults and don't want them advertised!

It is an inspiring sight to see a new building arise from the bedrock of the earth. For months I have noted workmen do just this from my office window. An old, useless building was torn down, and this new, beautiful one put in its place. We should continually be reconstructing our minds and lives. Read Oliver Wendell Holmes's "The Chambered Nautilus." We should cast from us our "outgrown shell" rebuilding our thoughts and character to such an extent that they tower anew each day and year of our lives.

The body reacts at once to every constructive thought and good act. Billie Muldoon, the great athletic trainer used to say it was wonderful how the human body reacted to "just a little kindness." Kindness, you see, is constructive. So is even a smile.

There is a dearth of constructive thought in the world. That is why people's minds are so filled with fear and foreboding. Waves of uncertainty are sweeping the earth. I listened to an important individual being interviewed over the radio. He was from one of "the down under" countries of Europe. He was asked if the people in his country thought there was to be another war. He replied that they had no time to think such thoughts as they were too busy reconstructing from the last one. He was amazed at such thoughts of another war on this side of the Atlantic

It would be stupid not to be aware of all the perils about us, and to combat them to the full—but only with constructive ideas! Too many people look upon these perils and disturbances as of no concern of theirs—but they concern us all—deeply so. "New occasions," said James Russell Lowell, "teach new duties; Time makes ancient good uncouth." We may have to travel with the tide, but we have the opportunity to guide that tide.

If you live the constructive life, you will live longest—best! And earn happiness as an additional reward.

Protected, 1946, by The George Matthew Adams Service.

How Much To Buy

If cauliflower is to be one of the vegetables for a dinner for five or six persons buy two to two and a half pounds of cauliflower—but watch to see that the green leaves are not overheavy in weight.

Ice Cream Redeems Young Worshippers

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—One Sunday George Z. Best, clerk to the city court and active Methodist churchgoer, bribed a half dozen younger members of the congregation with ice cream "if they would keep quiet during services."

They kept quiet, and the following week they were joined, Pied Piper fashion, by 72 well-behaved novices demanding their half-pint of ice cream.

Best's current program: all children under 12 receive checks as they enter the service. Each check—and child too, Best hopes—is later redeemed at the corner drug store with a dish of ice cream.

Obedient Burglars

DONINGTON, England—(AP)—"Put down that silver and get out," shouted 76-year-old Mrs. Nellie Chapman to burglars in her dining room at midnight. They did.

We should cast from us our "outgrown shell" rebuilding our thoughts and character to such an extent that they tower anew each day and year of our lives.

The body reacts at once to every constructive thought and good act. Billie Muldoon, the great athletic trainer used to say it was wonderful how the human body reacted to "just a little kindness." Kindness, you see, is constructive. So is even a smile.

There is a dearth of constructive thought in the world. That is why people's minds are so filled with fear and foreboding. Waves of uncertainty are sweeping the earth. I listened to an important individual being interviewed over the radio. He was from one of "the down under" countries of Europe. He was asked if the people in his country thought there was to be another war. He replied that they had no time to think such thoughts as they were too busy reconstructing from the last one. He was amazed at such thoughts of another war on this side of the Atlantic

It would be stupid not to be aware of all the perils about us, and to combat them to the full—but only with constructive ideas! Too many people look upon these perils and disturbances as of no concern of theirs—but they concern us all—deeply so. "New occasions," said James Russell Lowell, "teach new duties; Time makes ancient good uncouth." We may have to travel with the tide, but we have the opportunity to guide that tide.

If you live the constructive life, you will live longest—best! And earn happiness as an additional reward.

How Much To Buy

If cauliflower is to be one of the vegetables for a dinner for five or six persons buy two to two and a half pounds of cauliflower—but watch to see that the green leaves are not overheavy in weight.

Ice Cream Redeems Young Worshippers

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—One Sunday George Z. Best, clerk to the city court and active Methodist churchgoer, bribed a half dozen younger members of the congregation with ice cream "if they would keep quiet during services."

They kept quiet, and the following week they were joined, Pied Piper fashion, by 72 well-behaved novices demanding their half-pint of ice cream.

Best's current program: all children under 12 receive checks as they enter the service. Each check—and child too, Best hopes—is later redeemed at the corner drug store with a dish of ice cream.

Obedient Burglars

FOG

The fog is blowing in through the Golden Gate as I write.

It is so thick and so clinging that you cannot see your hand before your face.

It spreads across the city like a great web. It lies upon the city like a pall. The city is dissolved in this impenetrable mist.

And out of the fog come strange and eerie sounds. There is the low and constant mooing of the bell on Alcatraz Island. There are the sudden, wild screams of the bell buoys further out. There is the constant jangle of traffic moving dangerously.

Nothing moves swiftly in the fog. Its white billows have slowed everything down. They even seem to have slowed life down. People move slowly and carefully. Trucks move by in a shrouded darkness. Buildings are blurred. There is constant confusion, bells ringing and jangling, horns screaming for right of way. And some of the same confusion seems to have hit the people. They cannot see ahead. They are swathed by dismay and discouragement. They grope their way languidly.

Looking out at the white blankness I am thinking of the letters that lie before me. I believe that something like this fog has hit the nation. There are no longer the definite standards which our fathers knew and by which they lived. It is impossible to tell whether you are turning right or left. Everything is dissolved by fog. The old signposts are gone and there are no new ones yet. We wonder where it is all going to end. We don't much care as long as we get through the day and put it behind us.

But life should mean much more than that. It meant much more than that to the people who founded this country. Read some of their old diaries. Days were precious things then. There was much inconvenience and danger but there was little doubt, for people saw a steady light burning through the fog.

That light is burning still. It is a light of faith. It is a light which enabled men to do great and splendid things—to consecrate their lives for noble purposes—to sacrifice willingly—to see greater vista than the personal confusion which surrounds them.

The great light still burns and the great voices still speak out of the fog. Listen to those voices. Some of them are very old—some of them will always be new. When life is hopelessly befogged . . . when you can go no further by your own effort . . . read the Sermon on the Mount. It was not a religious document. There was a young man who knew that He was doomed to die if He'd live for the truth. Yet deliberately he took the last few hours of his life to speak that truth as he saw it.

Read Milton's Sonnet to his Blindness. There can be no thing more desolate than blindness. Yet out of his fog he could write, "They also serve who only stand and wait." Read books like Maugham's "Of Human Bondage" which are an everlasting record of the struggle in the human soul.

Listen to the voices that come out of the fog. Lincoln's voice at Gettysburg, Roosevelt's voice when he cried to a panic sticken nation, "We have nothing to fear but fear." Listen to all of them. The fog may come. It may be a long time before we see clearly again but the great voices go on. And on. And the whole test of life is this—Dare you listen? Have you what it takes?

Rapid Breathing Causes Hysteria In Woman

NEW YORK. (AP)—A woman who became hysterical through heavy, rapid breathing is described by Dr. Haddon M. Carryer in the Proceedings of the Staff Meetings of the Mayo Clinic.

Her attacks frequently started when she was tired, tense, or anxious, Dr. Carryer said. She breathed faster, and began to feel giddy and week with tingling in the hands or feet. Then she would breathe still harder to resist the feelings. This made them worse and she would lie down with her eyes tightly closed, remaining conscious but unable to answer questions. This state would last a few minutes to an entire day.

The attacks disappeared when she was told that they came simply from over-breathing or hyperventilation of the lungs, Dr. Carryer said. She was instructed to hold her breath, or rebreathe air from a paper sack.

The hyperventilation, he said, may result from stimulation by mental excitement or reflex stimulation by pain, heat, or cold. The speed-up in breathing reduces the normal reservoir of carbon dioxide in the lungs, and brings chemical changes in the body.

Cool Off Utensils

After using aluminum and other metal cooking utensils allow them to cool off for a few minutes before soaking them. Otherwise, they may warp from a too rapid change in temperature.

This Bird Finds Coffee Good To Last Beakful

FRESNO, Calif., (AP)—Mrs. Harold Hensley has coffee every morning with Nickey. Nickey is a parrot. Nickey, with the Hensleys six of his seven years, has got to be such a coffee hound that he dances on his perch when he whiffs the morning aroma from the kitchen. He grasps a spoon in one claw and stirs his coffee before sticking his bill in it. If the coffee is too hot he squawks in the best lunch-counter manner.

Honor Warsaw Defenders

WARSAW (AP)—The presidium of the Polish national council of the homeland has awarded the Grunwald Cross to three generals who participated in the defense of Warsaw against the German attack in September, 1939. They are Gen. Wladyslaw Korczye; Gen. Juliusz Rommel and Brig.-Gen. Bronislaw Prugar-Ketling.

FRESNO, Calif., (AP)—Mrs. Harold Hensley has coffee every morning with Nickey. Nickey is a parrot. Nickey, with the Hensleys six of his seven years, has got to be such a coffee hound that he dances on his perch when he whiffs the morning aroma from the kitchen. He grasps a spoon in one claw and stirs his coffee before sticking his bill in it. If the coffee is too hot he squawks in the best lunch-counter manner.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7—Whatever has been printed about George Raft—and brother, quite a bit has been columned lately—hasn't hurt his screen career. Talk is that George does not affix his signature to a contract unless it calls for a round $100,000 or more and considering that he's been around these parts for 20 years or more, that isn't bad—not bad at all. Ben Bogeaus, who made the commercially profitable "Mr. Ace" with Raft has just signed him for another film, trio-starring George with Randolph Scott and George Brent in "Christmas Eve."

The screenplay, authored by Laurence Stallings sounds interesting on paper. It involves a gentleman, a killer and a cowboy, who arrive on Christmas eve in the home of an eccentric old woman, each to get their share of a $25,000,000 fortune. There are three femme stars yet to be signed to emote opposite George R., George B. and Randy.

George Jessel, the Chauncey Depew of the movies, and I mean that—no one can give an after dinner talk like Jessel—has sent me his new book, "Hellow Mama." It's the telephone conversations he had with his mother over a period of years. Eddie Cantor wrote the foreword. He, too knew Georgie's mother, who died last August. Georgie has been doing all right all around. He's just been handed a western with music, by Darryl Zanuck, titled "Ballad of Furnace Creek," which he'll produce. Victor Mature, Mark Stevens and Martha Stewart have the leads, while Jerome Cady is at work on the screenplay.

Talked with Preston Sturges today and he tells me he's going to New York for the first time since his stage success, "Strictly Dishonorable," was produced there. While in New York he'll arrange to put his new stage play, "Le Papillon" on Broadway, so maybe calling off "Vendetta," wasn't such a bad break for him after all. Certainly wasn't a bad break for J. Carrol Naish, who was able to get his release and will do "The Fugitive" for John Ford in Mexico. Speaking of my friend Mr. Naish, the religious records he made are being used in the diction classes at Immaculate Heart College. He has one of the best speaking voices on the screen.

Said a voice over the telephone, "I have a good story on 'Parlor, Bedroom and Bath.' Could you use something in your column in the Morning Telegraph?" I said to myself "you have got to stop reading those detective stories at night old girl"—then I heard a hearty laugh. It was Russell Janney, author of "Miracle of the Bells," who was in town for a few days to confer with Jesse Lasky. "Do you remember Me?" he laughed. "I was with Al Wood when you were on the Morning Telegraph?" I did as soon as I saw him—because he came to see me later. There is such a wonderful story about "Miracle of the Bells." His whole family prayed for the success of his book and for three years they all helped him. Now, as you know, he sold it for a terrific price to Jesse Lasky, and it's on the best seller list.

Chatter in Hollywood: There was a real reunion when Gloria Swanson, who for her age is the most glamorous woman I know, visited Cecil B. de Mille. In the old days Gloria was the most exciting star that C. B. had—and he had plenty of glamor girls. Her hair-do, her clothes and her nose, along with C. B.'s bathtubs, were the newsworthy items of the day. Since Gloria's been here she has been offered a number of roles, among them a part in "Hollywood Story" by Gregory Ratoff. I am told also, that the lovely Gloria has a new romance, but when was there a time in her life when she didn't have a romance. It's wonderful to keep that young.

I think the title "Pray You Love Remember," Gene Raymond's Broadway show, is terrible. But that's the only thing that's off the beam about it. Jane Cowl, who has held footlight glamor and charm for me ever since she dazzled me in Chicago in "Lilac Time" way back in World War I Days, will direct the play which goes into rehearsals November 25. What a wonderful star she was and has been through the years. The guiding hand of Miss Cowl isn't the only good news about Gene's Broadway venture, Alex Yokel, who put on "Glass Menagerie" is producing. Looks like Gene remains in the east for a long, long time.

It is very good news that Sidney Toler is making such marvelous progress that he'll be able to make another "Charlie Chan" picture for Monogram starting the first week in December. Mrs. Toler tells me that there was a misunderstanding—that Sidney never had a stroke. He had a vein removed in his leg. I am very glad that it isn't as serious as all Sidney's friends thought at first. He received hundreds of wires and so did I. And it's good news that we will be seeing him again soon in "Charlie Chan."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at Random: Arturo De Cordova, who started out as a real Don Juan in Hollywood, has reconciled with his wife and is bringing her and the two children back here to live after he finishes a picture in his native Mexico; the girl to whom Bill Girard was paying such ardent court at Mocambo, was Raven McBride, the very pretty Selznick actress. Is his romance with Claire Jemes now in the dear dead past? . . . . Ann Sheridan flies to Mexico to see a bull fight. She'll be the guest of Manolete, a famous matador. . . . The Jimmy Becks hosted a delightful dinner last evening in honor of Mrs. Sam Van Alen. Atwater Kent's attractive daughter, Mrs. Van Alen is being much feted by all of Atwater's friends. . . . Hear that Marcia Mae Jones and her husband are reconciling and I hope it's true. . . . Sixteen telegrams from La Vegas from people who saw Marie McDonald with Harry Karl there on Sunday. They motored there with a party. . . . I predict that Lena Horne will be a sensation when she leaves on her personal appearance tour. She starts at the Earle Theater in Philadelphia and what a nice place that is to start . . . Marlene Dietrich is reading scripts, believe it or not, and may do a picture in Hollywood before she leaves for Paris . . . Ruth Warrick will be at the premiere of "Song of the South" in Atlanta. Let me say right here and now that "Song of the South" should have been high on my list as one of the best pictures of 1946. . . . Arnold Kunody and Jane Greer, Rudy Vallee's ex, are serious. He's just gifted her with a gold bracelet. That's all today.

Termites Race Builders In South Sea Isle

PAPEETE, Tahiti — (AP) — The housing shortage extends even to this famous South Sea isle.

Tahitians blame cheap lumber imported in recent years. Termites and decay have damaged it so badly that old houses are being pulled down to obtain materials to repair newer ones.

Dance Theater Started With A Dream

FESTIVAL DANCE—Virginia Tanner, Murphy Barshow and Barry Lynn (at rear) put an old dream into practice.

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Dance Theater might have taken some time to get going, but the war, a dream and a series of fast-breaking coincidences got behind and pushed—and the newest group of modern dancers in this country emerged here this fall.

Operating on a shoestring plus a fervent dedication to removing obscurity from modern dance, the group of five dancers and a musical director includes three veterans.

The war set the stage. One director, Barry Lynn, was stationed at the Salt Lake air base early in the war. The other director, Virginia Tanner, had been teaching dance here for some time.

The other male dancer, Murphy Barshow of Macon, Ga., was sent to the air base and joined a dancing class which Lynn had organized.

The dream was one that Doris Humphries, one of the foremost dancers in America, had while teaching in Bennington College, Vermont, about five years ago.

In her near-nightmare, Miss Humphries—who bases all of her works on three types of movement—saw the horrible opposites of her basic theories illustrated by dancers. She told her students about it and one of them, Miss Tanner, composed a satirical dance based on the dream.

Over at Jacob's Pillow, Mass., Lynn was studying dance so his class trotted over to see the Humphries experiment and Barry got the task of analyzing Miss Tanner's number, a tough assignment.

Two years later Lynn got a pass from the air base and joined a dance class in the city only to discover the instructor was the same girl who had given him so much trouble with dance theory at Bennington—Miss Tanner.

The two began to give concerts whenever Lynn could get leave. At the base Barshow joined the others in the concerts.

Both men were shipped overseas. Lynn was discharged early this year and immediately returned to Salt Lake City to join Miss Tanner in organizing the group. Barshow came west when he was released.

Evelyn White Blankman, who came from New York, a few students from Miss Tanner's classes, and Marcel Tyrrel from New Hampshire completed the group.

The group is unique in that any member may compose or contribute to the composition of any number.

"We feel the dancers should have a chance to compose—should not be merely performers," Miss Tanner explained. "Now if I have an idea for a dance, I show the others the framework and they may suggest whole sequences to fill it out or make variations on the original."

Before an audience largely unschooled in modern dance except for a skepticism of its "artiness" the group made its debut Sept. 11.

Chaplain's Wife Is Only Woman "Ham" Operator In American Zone

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—A U. S. Air Corps chaplain's wife, who arrived in Germany recently, is the first and only licensed woman "ham" radio operator in the American occupation zone.

She is Mrs. Hilda B. Andrew, wife of Lt. Col. J. D. Andrew, staff chaplain for the U. S. Air Forces in Europe. The couple formerly lived in Skyland, near Asheville, N. C.

In Wiesbaden, Mrs. Andrew and her husband both operate amateur radio transmitters assembled in a studio that is believed to be the finest of those run by 350 "ham" operators in the zone. Both are deluged with requests from USAFE personnel and their dependents eager to contact friends back home.

Marlene Dietrich is reading scripts, believe it or not, and may do a picture in Hollywood before she leaves for Paris . . . Ruth Warrick will be at the premiere of "Song of the South" in Atlanta. Let me say right here and now that "Song of the South" should have been high on my list as one of the best pictures of 1946. . . . Arnold Kunody and Jane Greer, Rudy Vallee's ex, are serious. He's just gifted her with a gold bracelet. That's all today.

Termites Race Builders In South Sea Isle

PAPEETE, Tahiti — (AP) — The housing shortage extends even to this famous South Sea isle.

Tahitians blame cheap lumber imported in recent years. Termites and decay have damaged it so badly that old houses are being pulled down to obtain materials to repair newer ones.

Dance Theater Started With A Dream

FESTIVAL DANCE—Virginia Tanner, Murphy Barshow and Barry Lynn (at rear) put an old dream into practice.

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Dance Theater might have taken some time to get going, but the war, a dream and a series of fast-breaking coincidences got behind and pushed—and the newest group of modern dancers in this country emerged here this fall.

Operating on a shoestring plus a fervent dedication to removing obscurity from modern dance, the group of five dancers and a musical director includes three veterans.

The war set the stage. One director, Barry Lynn, was stationed at the Salt Lake air base early in the war. The other director, Virginia Tanner, had been teaching dance here for some time.

The other male dancer, Murphy Barshow of Macon, Ga., was sent to the air base and joined a dancing class which Lynn had organized.

The dream was one that Doris Humphries, one of the foremost dancers in America, had while teaching in Bennington College, Vermont, about five years ago.

In her near-nightmare, Miss Humphries—who bases all of her works on three types of movement—saw the horrible opposites of her basic theories illustrated by dancers. She told her students about it and one of them, Miss Tanner, composed a satirical dance based on the dream.

Over at Jacob's Pillow, Mass., Lynn was studying dance so his class trotted over to see the Humphries experiment and Barry got the task of analyzing Miss Tanner's number, a tough assignment.

Two years later Lynn got a pass from the air base and joined a dance class in the city only to discover the instructor was the same girl who had given him so much trouble with dance theory at Bennington—Miss Tanner.

The two began to give concerts whenever Lynn could get leave. At the base Barshow joined the others in the concerts.

Both men were shipped overseas. Lynn was discharged early this year and immediately returned to Salt Lake City to join Miss Tanner in organizing the group. Barshow came west when he was released.

Evelyn White Blankman, who came from New York, a few students from Miss Tanner's classes, and Marcel Tyrrel from New Hampshire completed the group.

The group is unique in that any member may compose or contribute to the composition of any number.

"We feel the dancers should have a chance to compose—should not be merely performers," Miss Tanner explained. "Now if I have an idea for a dance, I show the others the framework and they may suggest whole sequences to fill it out or make variations on the original."

Before an audience largely unschooled in modern dance except for a skepticism of its "artiness" the group made its debut Sept. 11.

Chaplain's Wife Is Only Woman "Ham" Operator In American Zone

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—A U. S. Air Corps chaplain's wife, who arrived in Germany recently, is the first and only licensed woman "ham" radio operator in the American occupation zone.

She is Mrs. Hilda B. Andrew, wife of Lt. Col. J. D. Andrew, staff chaplain for the U. S. Air Forces in Europe. The couple formerly lived in Skyland, near Asheville, N. C.

In Wiesbaden, Mrs. Andrew and her husband both operate amateur radio transmitters assembled in a studio that is believed to be the finest of those run by 350 "ham" operators in the zone. Both are deluged with requests from USAFE personnel and their dependents eager to contact friends back home.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

O'Dwyer's absence in California during the local elections, some local observers think, is a clear indication that he is fed up with politics and would like to bow out of the picture, to get into pictures, maybe. . . Both Donald Nelson and the Right Reverend Monsignor Sheen will be making news out of Chicago any minute. . . . The next big news on the housing situation will be an announcement from (or at least he will be given the credit) Wilson Wyatt, National Housing Administrator, concerning mass production of prefabricated aluminum houses by Douglas and Consolidated-Vultee aircraft plants. . . It is pretty certain that the new Congress will liquidate what's left of the OPA by merely denying it further funds after January.

General Motors Corporation, commenting on a line here, Oct. 29 about cars being shipped abroad, has this interesting explanation: "In normal times one out of every 10 American automotive workmen owes his job to the demand created abroad for cars and trucks. British automobile manufactures today are required by laws to export half of all the cars they produce, and that 50% is two and one-half times their prewar rate. France, too, is exporting cars in increasing quantities—double the 1938 rate. Russia is beginning to export cars to some of the Balkan countries. Though production is limited today, the United States is trying to hold world markets for the day when exporting really can be resumed. It is necessary to have this current trickle of goods abroad in order to keep the dealers around the world in business during this period. Otherwise we might wake up some morning and find that foreign competition had taken over all our dealer outlets. We cannot afford, as a nation, to let that happen. Reducing this point to simple terms, it seems to us to be sound Americanism to export one passenger car out of every 20 produced how to protect the jobs of one automotive worker in every 10—including veterans—in the future."

Dr. J. Frank Armstrong, prominent Negro physician recently murdered in Chicago, was once secretary to Booker T. Washington (something the dispatches neglected to mention) . . .And how come midwestern papers missed the story on the Sonny Dunham stickup, in which the bandleader went for $6,500? . . While Gurnee Munn, Jr., is filing suit for divorce in Florida, his wife's constant escort about the local nite spots is a lawyer. . . Cuernevaca, Mexico, is attracting a lot of the Reno and Las Vegas divorce crowd. A fast five minutes is about all that's required to get it legally over with South of the Border. . . Speaking of divorces, "Park Avenue," the town's newest musical, in which the subject of marital infidelity is harped on for two long and dreary acts, might have been a collaboration between two blighted sophomores, instead of the first wit of Hollywood (Nunnally Johnson) and the first wit of Broadway (George Kaufman) . . . Lovely Leonora Corbett deserves a better vehicle for her return to Broadway. Lovely Martha Stewart, a dead ringer for Irene Delroy, ditto.

Very Incidental Intelligence: Mrs. Benny Goodman, the former Lady (Alice Hammond) Duckworth, may become a disc jockey on a local children's radio program. . . Al Bernie dickering for the purchase of the Fraternal Clubhouse at 39th St. and Madison Ave., formerly the Elks' home, to house a huge restaurant and nite club. . . Balladeer Tom Scott, who makes his concert debut Sunday at Town Hall, was a singing waiter at the Broadway Hofbrau four years ago. . . City Center Opera's new "Butterfly," Neure Jorjorian, earned money for her musical studies by working in a San Francisco vanilla extract factory. . . Due to a line in this column (they say), the Village Vanguard had a block-long queue Saturday trying to get in to hear Richard Dyer-Bennett and Maxine Sullivan. . . The Singapore restaurant announces that it has hired a game warden to care for its singing canaries. All who believe this may stand on their heads.

Cafe Intelligence: Back after a seven-year "exile" to Hollywood, nitelife's N. T. G. brings his perennial bevy of gifted glamor girls to the Greenwich Village Inn tomorrow. . . ."Beauty in one bundle" is the course at the Persian Room the same night when the "incomparable" Hildegarde returns there for her fifth consecutive Winter. . . Wally Vernon heads the new presentation at La Martinique which starts Friday. Vic Damone, Andy Russell's radio understudy, makes his nite club debut in the show.

The last lap is the hardest!

You've probably figured your present car won't have to last much longer.

We hope you're right. For our part, we're doing our best to get those grand new Packards to our customers.

• You know the situation

But, like every other motor car manufacturer, Packard is still struggling with parts and materials shortages.

This year, the industry as a whole has been able to build only 44% of its output for the same period in 1941.

Packard has done better than that, but we'd like to put in a word of caution:

It may be some time yet before you get behind the wheel of your new car.

• Don't take a chance!

Make sure your present car keeps rolling. Test your car with this easy quiz.

If you find any of these symptoms, bring your car in for a quick check-up.

Lots of cars are lasting longer and running better because our expert mechanics are trained to nip trouble before it takes hold!

Winterize Now!

These days, it's doubly important to beat winter to the punch. Bring your car in early for a thorough check-up of your battery, electrical system, and cooling system—as well as pre-winter lubrication and engine tune-up. The last-minute rush will be terrific— and the first cold snap may damage hard-to-get parts!

P.S. Fenders, doors, running boards—in fact, all body parts are scarce. Don't let rust eat them away. Our protective treatment will add to your car's life, appearance and value.

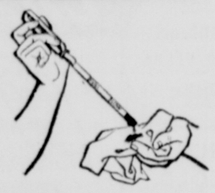
ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

X This home quiz can help you catch little troubles before they become big ones!

1. ENGINE:

Is smoke coming out of the exhaust? Are you using more oil than you used to? If "Yes," better have your piston rings looked at.

OK ☐ Needs Attention ☐



2. CLUTCH:

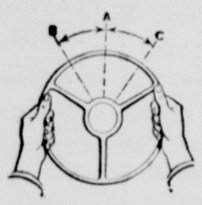
Can you push the pedal down 1" to 1½" before the clutch starts to release? If the distance is less than that, you'd better have it adjusted.

OK ☐ Needs Attention ☐

3. STEERING:

Measure amount of "free play" from "A" to "B" and from "A" to "C". Two inches or more indicates too much lost motion before wheels begin to turn.

OK ☐ Needs Attention ☐



4. BRAKES:

Does your brake pedal travel more than one inch before any braking is felt—and at least one inch of pedal travel left after a full stop in 30 feet at 20 m.p.h.? If not, police will say they are unsafe.

Stock Market Has Series of Dips, Comebacks In Half-Hearted Rally

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Rails led a more or less half-hearted recovery in today's stock market with selected steels, motors, utilities and industrial participating.

The session was a series of dips and comebacks. Dealings were relatively slow throughout. Offerings cropped up in the final hour and extreme gains of fractions to 3 points or so were reduced at the close with numerous losers in evidence. Transfers of 1,140,000 shares compared with 2,000,000 on Wednesday slump.

Santa Fe added 1¾ at 89, Southern Railway 1⅛ at 39¾, Southern Pacific 1⅜ at 44⅛, Chesapeake & Ohio 1¼ at 52⅝, United States Steel 1¼ at 71⅝, Chrysler 1 at 82½, Public Service of New Jersey 1¼ at 21¼ and United States Rubber 2½ at 56¾ (on a pleasing extra.)

Ahead were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Goodyear, International Harvester, American Telephone, North American, Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, Kennecott, Air Reduction, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris, New York Central, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Socony, Texas Company, Distillers Corporation, Paramount Pictures, International Telephone and Liggett & Meyers "B".

On the offside were Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Woolworth, Western Union "A", Westinghouse Electric, United States Gypsum, Baltimore & Ohio and Schenley.

Improved in the curb were Babcock & Wilcox, Cities Service, Middle West Corp., McCord Corp. (on the first dividend since 1930), American Superpower and Fansteel Turnover here was 290,000 shares versus 590,000 yesterday.

The bond market raillied timidly after early losses and at the close advances and declines were in fairly close balance. Changes either way were mostly less than a point.

Trade fell off to $4,480,000 from $5,750,000 Wednesday.

In the over-the-counter market United States governments held steady, with the victory loan December 2 1-2s up 1-32 at 102 19-32 bid.

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.
Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Stock Market Has Series of Dips, Comebacks In Half-Hearted Rally

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Rails led a more or less half-hearted recovery in today's stock market with selected steels, motors, utilities and industrial participating.

The session was a series of dips and comebacks. Dealings were relatively slow throughout. Offerings cropped up in the final hour and extreme gains of fractions to 3 points or so were reduced at the close with numerous losers in evidence. Transfers of 1,140,000 shares compared with 2,000,000 on Wednesday slump.

Santa Fe added 1¾ at 89, Southern Railway 1½ at 39¾, Southern Pacific 1⅝ at 44⅛, Chesapeake & Ohio 1¼ at 52⅜, United States Steel 1¼ at 71⅝, Chrysler 1 at 82½, Public Service of New Jersey 1¼ at 21¼ and United States Rubber 2½ at 56¾ (on a pleasing extra.)

Ahead were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Goodyear, International Harvester, American Telephone, North American, Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, Kennecott, Air Reduction, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris, New York Central, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Socony, Texas Company, Distillers Corporation, Paramount Pictures, International Telephone and Liggett & Meyers "B".

On the offside were Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Woolworth, Western Union "A", Westinghouse Electric, United States Gypsum, Baltimore & Ohio and Schenley.

Improved in the curb were Babcock & Wilcox, Cities Service, Middle West Corp., McCord Corp. (on the first dividend since 1930), American Superpower and Fansteel Turnover here was 290,000 shares versus 590,000 yesterday.

The bond market raillied timidly after early losses and at the close advances and declines were in fairly close balance. Changes either way were mostly less than a point.

Trade fell off to $4,480,000 from $5,750,000 Wednesday.

In the over-the-counter market United States governments held steady, with the victory loan December 2 1-2s up 1-32 at 102 19-32 bid.

GOP May Insist On Pearl Harbor Case Reopening

Senator Brewster Says Emphasis Will Be On Pre-War Diplomacy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me) said today that Republicans, now in the majority, may insist on reopening the Pearl Harbor investigation with emphasis on pre-war diplomatic developments including the Russo-German Non-Aggression Pact.

As another possibility he discussed a broadened inquiry by the Senate War Investigating Committee into war profits; military government in Germany, and delays in the housing program at home. As Senior Republican, Brewster would be in line for chairman of that committee if the Senate decides to keep it in existence.

Complains At Conference

Referring to the Russo-German agreement as a protocol for the division of Europe, Brewster complained at a news conference that it never had been made public in its entirety. He declared that parts were "suppressed" at the Nurenberg war guilt trials

The Maine Senator was a member of the joint Senate-House Pearl Harbor investigating committee which heard months of evidence before formulating its bulky report.

He said he thought the committee covered actual military angles of the surprise Japanese blow with fair thoroughness, but did not dip deeply enough into the diplomatic record.

"Knowing how the last war developed might help us prevent another one," he said.

War Committee Uncertain

Whether the War Investigating Committee once headed by Harry S. Truman will be continued past January 30 is up to the Senate, Brewster said. He expressed belief that members of the committe would "nither urge nor discourage" the committee's continuation.

George Meade, counsel for the Committee, returned today from Germany and probably will lay his findings before the members Monday.

Brewster expressed the belief that not all of the war profits inquiry possibilities had been exhausted by the recent investigation of the Garsson munitions combine in which Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky), now a political casualty, was often mentioned.

W. Va. Election Fraud Charges "Propaganda"

LOGAN, W. Va., Nov. 7 (AP)—Logan County Prosecutor Chauncey described Republican allegations of election fraud today "the beginning of a concerted propaganda campaign" to supply the Senate with an "excuse for refusing Senator Harley Kilgore a seat x x x."

Browning's statement was the first Democratic reply to Republican charges of irregularities in the balloting in which incumbent Democratic Senator Kilgore led his Republican opponent, Thomas B. Sweeney of Wheeling, by a little more than 3,000 votes.

Logan County Republican officials have indicated they would contest the results of the voting there, where Kilgore held a commanding lead.

The Logan prosecutor stated categorically that an accusation by Republican National Committeeman Walter Hallanan "to the effect that armed deputies stood at the polling places of Logan County to prevent voters from exercising their franchise; that Republican ballots were destroyed, and that wholesale election frauds took place is false."

Dangerous Prisoners Escape Army Hospital

WEST BRENTWOOD, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP)—Four prisoners described as "dangerous and armed with clubs" escaped tonight from the Army's Mason General Hospital here after overpowering a wardman and taking his keys, state police announced.

Extra details of state and county police and soldiers from the hospital were combing Suffolk and Nassau counties on Long Island and residents of Nassau County were warned to watch for the men, all of whom wore red hospital pajamas which mark dangerous prisoners.

factions were on friendlier terms.

Dr. Fiderkiewicz himself went down into the vault of the Bank of Montreal branch here in Ottawa today and recovered three trunks of treasure there, one of which he opened to find some of the articles he had believed missing.

Another cache, this one believed to be of tapestries, was uncovered on the top floor of the Redemptionist seminary at Aylmer, Quebec, about 10 miles out of Ottawa. There were three metal-bound trunks there, which a priest said had not been opened.

The Toronto Daily Star in a dispatch from the City of Quebec credited a high official of the Roman Catholic Church with the statement that "the whole of the Polish treasure is definitely safe; but at the present moment it is lost to the present government of Poland."

from Tuesday's elections conclusive, show:

Senate—with two races undecided (West Virginia and Maryland) and Democrats leading in both, Republicans have elected 23 and have a total of 51. Democrats have elected 11 and have a total of 43. A majority is 49.

House—with one contests (1st Utah) in doubt, Republicans have elected 246, Democrats 187, American Labor one. A majority is 218.

Preliminary tabulations of the total vote indicated it may pass the 36,000,000 record set in 1938 for an off-year election.

An Associated Press tabulation of the major party vote, with returns missing from three southern states and incomplete in most others, added up to 32,708,200. The Republicans got 17,914,073 and the Democrats 14,794,127.

Suspect In New York Embezzlement Seen

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation of the United States Embassy said tonight it had been informed that James Collins, 53, wanted for questioning in connection with New York's $832,000 Mergenthaler Linotype Company embezzlement case, was in Mexico City.

The FBI said it was co-operating with local police in an effort to locate him.

The FBI was alerted by the embassy yesterday to be on the lookout for Collins after there were rumors that he had crossed the border into Mexico.

The FBI said it had been informed that Collins was seen at today's Dinodromo De Las Americas races and that a track official had talked with him.

William Arthur Nickel, 40, of New York City, former Mergenthaler cashier, is the central figure in the case. He is charged with having milched the company of about $900,000 in the past year. Shortly after his arrest in Miami, Fla., Brooklyn's Assistant District Attorney Julius Helfand announced that Collins was wanted for questioning in the case.

Collins, also known as Julius Lobell or Julius Davis, is reportedly a "Broadway character and betting commissioner."

Steubenville Clergy "To Clean Up City"

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 7. (AP)—Plans for formation of a city-wide citizens league "to clean up the city" were announced today after city solicitor William J. Weinman maintained city council is without authority to allow 12 protestant pastors to form a "sledgehammer vice patrol" acting independently of police officials.

Calvin Cook, church member and head of a local printing company, invited "all straight-thinking and decent citizens" to join the league to give "any kind of support the ministers may need to clean up the city."

Asked by a newsman if the league would carry guns if requested to do so by the pastors, Cook declared: "We will supply armed patrols packing guns if the ministers request them."

Cook said the organization would be a permanent one "to further establishment of good government in Steubenville. The ministers have thrown the ball," Cook said, "and we as members of the league will carry it for them. We plan to look into misconduct in public office."

Weinman asserted existing local ordinances would compel city council's special session tonight to reject the pastors' petition to carry sledge-hammers to "smash the city's vice centers" and to select 20 armed World War II veterans for a "special vice squad to clean out the underworld."

The ministers in a letter to council demanded the right to serve as special patrolmen under two common pleas judges but asserted they would be "unwilling to serve under any of the officials who are at present the so-called enforcement officials of our city."

More Votes Than

Gettman and Lambert A. Ward, Republicans.

The return sheet listed 322 votes for Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, unsuccessful GOP candidate for governor, and 261 for his Democratic opponent, William Preston Lane, Jr. It listed 346 for Markey against 225 for his rival, Governor O'Conor.

Although only 195 voters were listed as having used one of the two voting machines at the polling place, the supervisors said, 271 Markey votes were recorded from that machine. Other GOP candidates got fewer than 100 votes each.

The board of supervisors set for 2 p. m. tomorrow the opening of the machines.

Meanwhile preparations went ahead for two plenary meetings of the assembly tomorrow (11 a. m. EST and 4 p. m. EST) at the Flushing Meadow Auditorium.

The tentative agenda contained possibilities of an explosive session. First on the docket is the report of the general committee, which has engaged in long and violent quarrels over various propositions since the assembly meeting last Friday.

Arson And Murder Charged Against 2 In Baltimore Fire

Men Listed As Union Candidates For Minor Offices In SIU

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7. (AP)—Two men were charged today with arson and murder in connection with a fire that killed five Latin-American seamen in a waterfront rooming house a week ago.

The two, held without bail on presentments by a Baltimore Grand Jury, are listed on a Seafarers' International Union ballot as candidates for minor offices.

The presentments—a formality leading to voting of indictments—named Walter Haas, 33, and John Hatgimisios, 28.

William Rentz, port agent for the SIU, said Haas was a picket leader for the Union during its recent strike.

Presentments against the two—both of whom are listed as candidates for "patrolman" on a ballot now being voted upon by union members—were returned after the grand jury heard testimony by members of a special police and fire squad which is investigating the case.

Jesse Rodriguez, operator of the rooming house which was burned out last Thursday morning, turned over to police a warning note thrown into his room a week before the fire asking him to "stop rooming Finks in your house."

Rodriguez, who identified himself as a hiring agent for Panamanian Steamship Lines, told investigators he had received union permission the day before the fire to ship some of his men to Newport News, Va., to sail on a Panamanian freighter.

Police Battalion Chief Thomas Heagerty recovered two metal cans from the fire-gutted house and said examination showed they had contained inflammable liquid.

Some tension was produced among seamen during the maritime strike over the manning of foreign-registry ships.

Court Decision

2. Even if employers were held to be required to bargain with supervisory workers, the latter could not be represented by the same union bargaining for rank and file employes

NLRB already has ruled against J. and L. on both these contentions. The company protested and the union filed a charge of unfair labor practices in order to carry the issue to the courts.

Complaints Fall Off

Bane said that since J. and L. supervisory workers had become members of the Technical Workers Union there has been a noticeable drop in number of complaints against miners for safety violations. The supervisors are charged with enforcing safety regulations under Pennsylvania laws.

Samuel Krimsly, the union's attorney, replied there was nothing to indicate the enforcement of safety rules has been relaxed and argued that "no man entering a coal mine will willingly endanger his life."

Bane contended supervisory workers act in behalf of management and that, as union members, they would be "not by any means as free to act with resoluteness in behalf of an employer."

200 Baltimore Truck Drivers, Helpers Strike

Seek Increase In Wages And Shorter Working Week

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8 (AP) — Dr. Merrill Stout, head of the Maryland-District of Columbia Hospital Association, said today he was seeking permission from the striking truck drivers union here to send trucks delivering to hospitals through picket lines.

He said he envisaged serious complications if that permission were not granted, as was done in the recent New York trucking strike. "Unless some pattern is laid down for hospitals, it may mean that the patients will suffer unnecessarily," Stout declared.

Two hundred truck drivers and helpers went on strike here today, picketing eight large wholesale grocers, and 150 warehouse workers refused to cross the lines.

The strikers, members of the Truck Drivers and Helpers Union, Local 355, (AFL) are demanding from 95 to $1.25 and a 40-hour work week in place of the present 45 hours, a warehouse union official said.

Wholesalers said it probably would be several days before the strike is felt in independent stores unless housewives "are true to form" and start a run on retail supplies.

The 150 warehouse workers are members of Local 570, Warehouse Employes, AFL. Their spokesmen said that while they are not yet on strike, they have signified their intention to strike pending the outcome of negotiations now in progress.

A joint announcement by the companies was expected to be forthcoming as a result of today's negotiations with the truckers.

O. C. Shipley, treasurer of H. and M. Wagner Company, said consumers first affected would be hospitals, restaurants, hotels, and others who buy from wholesalers. These groups have about a week's supply on hand, he added.

"We have offered the limit," a company spokesman said, "further increases will have to be absorbed by consumers."

GOP May Insist On Pearl Harbor Case Reopening

Senator Brewster Says Emphasis Will Be On Pre-War Diplomacy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me) said today that Republicans, now in the majority, may insist on reopening the Pearl Harbor investigation with emphasis on pre-war diplomatic developments including the Russo-German Non-Aggression Pact.

As another possibility he discussed a broadened inquiry by the Senate War Investigating Committee into war profits; military government in Germany, and delays in the housing program at home. As Senior Republican, Brewster would be in line for chairman of that committee if the Senate decides to keep it in existence.

Complains At Conference

Referring to the Russo-German agreement as a protocol for the division of Europe, Brewster complained at a news conference that it never had been made public in its entirety. He declared that parts were "suppressed" at the Nurenberg war guilt trials.

The Maine Senator was a member of the joint Senate-House Pearl Harbor investigating committee which heard months of evidence before formulating its bulky report.

He said he thought the committee covered actual military angles of the surprise Japanese blow with fair thoroughness, but did not dip deeply enough into the diplomatic record.

"Knowing how the last war developed might help us prevent another one," he said.

War Committee Uncertain

Whether the War Investigating Committee once headed by Harry S. Truman will be continued past January 30 is up to the Senate, Brewster said. He expressed belief that members of the committe would "nither urge nor discourage" the committee's continuation.

George Meade, counsel for the Committee, returned today from Germany and probably will lay his findings before the members Monday.

Brewster expressed the belief that not all of the war profits inquiry possibilities had been exhausted by the recent investigation of the Garsson munitions combine in which Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky), now a political casualty, was often mentioned.

W. Va. Election Fraud Charges "Propaganda"

LOGAN, W. Va., Nov. 7 (AP)—Logan County Prosecutor Chauncey described Republican allegations of election fraud today "the beginning of a concerted propaganda campaign" to supply the Senate with an "excuse for refusing Senator Harley Kilgore a seat x x x."

Browning's statement was the first Democratic reply to Republican charges of irregularities in the balloting in which incumbent Democratic Senator Kilgore led his Republican opponent, Thomas B. Sweeney of Wheeling, by a little more than 3,000 votes.

Logan County Republican officials have indicated they would contest the results of the voting there, where Kilgore held a commanding lead.

The Logan prosecutor stated categorically that an accusation by Republican National Committeeman Walter Hallanan "to the effect that armed deputies stood at the polling places of Logan County to prevent voters from exercising their franchise; that Republican ballots were destroyed, and that wholesale election frauds took place is false."

Dangerous Prisoners Escape Army Hospital

WEST BRENTWOOD, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP)—Four prisoners described as "dangerous and armed with clubs" escaped tonight from the Army's Mason General Hospital here after overpowering a wardman and taking his keys, state police announced.

Extra details of state and county police and soldiers from the hospital were combing Suffolk and Nassau counties on Long Island and residents of Nassau County were warned to watch for the men, all of whom wore red hospital pajamas which mark dangerous prisoners.

factions were on friendlier terms.

Dr. Fiderkiewicz himself went down into the vault of the Bank of Montreal branch here in Ottawa today and recovered three trunks of treasure there, one of which he opened to find some of the articles he had believed missing.

Another cache, this one believed to be of tapestries, was uncovered on the top floor of the Redemptionist seminary at Aylmer, Quebec, about 10 miles out of Ottawa. There were three metal-bound trunks there, which a priest said had not been opened.

The Toronto Daily Star in a dispatch from the City of Quebec credited a high official of the Roman Catholic Church with the statement that "the whole of the Polish treasure is definitely safe; but at the present moment it is lost to the present government of Poland."

House—with one contests (1st Utah) in doubt, Republicans have elected 246, Democrats 187, American Labor one. A majority is 218.

Preliminary tabulations of the total vote indicated it may pass the 36,000,000 record set in 1938 for an off-year election.

An Associated Press tabulation of the major party vote, with returns missing from three southern states and incomplete in most others, added up to 32,708,200. The Republicans got 17,914,073 and the Democrats 14,794,127.

Suspect In New York Embezzlement Seen

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation of the United States Embassy said tonight it had been informed that James Collins, 53, wanted for questioning in connection with New York's $832,000 Mergenthaler Linotype Company embezzlement case, was in Mexico City.

The FBI said it was co-operating with local police in an effort to locate him.

The FBI was alerted by the embassy yesterday to be on the lookout for Collins after there were rumors that he had crossed the border into Mexico.

The FBI said it had been informed that Collins was seen at today's Dinodromo De Las Americas races and that a track official had talked with him.

William Arthur Nickel, 40, of New York City, former Mergenthaler cashier, is the central figure in the case. He is charged with having milched the company of about $900,000 in the past year. Shortly after his arrest in Miami, Fla., Brooklyn's Assistant District Attorney Julius Helfand announced that Collins was wanted for questioning in the case.

Collins, also known as Julius Lobell or Julius Davis, is reportedly a "Broadway character and betting commissioner."

Steubenville Clergy "To Clean Up City"

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 7. (AP)—Plans for formation of a city-wide citizens league "to clean up the city" were announced today after city solicitor William J. Weinman maintained city council is without authority to allow 12 protestant pastors to form a "sledgehammer vice patrol" acting independently of police officials.

Calvin Cook, church member and head of a local printing company, invited "all straight-thinking and decent citizens" to join the league to give "any kind of support the ministers may need to clean up the city."

Asked by a newsman if the league would carry guns if requested to do so by the pastors, Cook declared: "We will supply armed patrols packing guns if the ministers request them."

Cook said the organization would be a permanent one "to further establishment of good government in Steubenville. The ministers have thrown the ball," Cook said, "and we as members of the league will carry it for them. We plan to look into misconduct in public office."

Weinman asserted existing local ordinances would compel city council's special session tonight to reject the pastors' petition to carry sledge-hammers to "smash the city's vice centers" and to select 20 armed World War II veterans for a "special vice squad to clean out the underworld."

The ministers in a letter to council demanded the right to serve as special patrolmen under two common pleas judges but asserted they would be "unwilling to serve under any of the officials who are at present the so-called enforcement officials of our city."

The return sheet listed 322 votes for Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, unsuccessful GOP candidate for governor, and 261 for his Democratic opponent, William Preston Lane, Jr. It listed 346 for Markey against 225 for his rival, Governor O'Conor.

Although only 195 voters were listed as having used one of the two voting machines at the polling place, the supervisors said, 271 Markey votes were recorded from that machine. Other GOP candidates got fewer than 100 votes each.

The board of supervisors set for 2 p. m. tomorrow the opening of the machines.

Meanwhile preparations went ahead for two plenary meetings of the assembly tomorrow (11 a. m. EST and 4 p. m. EST) at the Flushing Meadow Auditorium.

The tentative agenda contained possibilities of an explosive session. First on the docket is the report of the general committee which has engaged in long and violent quarrels over various propositions since the assembly meeting last Friday.

Arson And Murder Charged Against 2 In Baltimore Fire

Men Listed As Union Candidates For Minor Offices In SIU

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7. (AP)—Two men were charged today with arson and murder in connection with a fire that killed five Latin-American seamen in a waterfront rooming house a week ago.

The two, held without bail on presentments by a Baltimore Grand Jury, are listed on a Seafarers' International Union ballot as candidates for minor offices.

The presentments—a formality leading to voting of indictments—named Walter Haas, 33, and John Hatgimisios, 28.

William Rentz, port agent for the SIU, said Haas was a picket leader for the Union during its recent strike.

Presentments against the two—both of whom are listed as candidates for "patrolman" on a ballot now being voted upon by union members—were returned after the grand jury heard testimony by members of a special police and fire squad which is investigating the case.

Jesse Rodriguez, operator of the rooming house which was burned out last Thursday morning, turned over to police a warning note thrown into his room a week before the fire asking him to "stop rooming Finks in your house."

Rodriguez, who identified himself as a hiring agent for Panamanian Steamship Lines, told investigators he had received union permission the day before the fire to ship some of his men to Newport News, Va., to sail on a Panamanian freighter.

Police Battalion Chief Thomas Heagerty recovered two metal cans from the fire-gutted house and said examination showed they had contained inflammable liquid.

Some tension was produced among seamen during the maritime strike over the manning of foreign-registry ships.

Court Decision

2. Even if employers were held to be required to bargain with supervisory workers, the latter could not be represented by the same union bargaining for rank and file employes.

NLRB already has ruled against J. and L. on both these contentions. The company protested and the union filed a charge of unfair labor practices in order to carry the issue to the courts.

Complaints Fall Off

Bane said that since J. and L. supervisory workers had become members of the Technical Workers Union there has been a noticeable drop in number of complaints against miners for safety violations. The supervisors are charged with enforcing safety regulations under Pennsylvania laws.

Samuel Krimsly, the union's attorney, replied there was nothing to indicate the enforcement of safety rules has been relaxed and argued that "no man entering a coal mine will willingly endanger his life."

Bane contended supervisory workers act in behalf of management and that, as union members, they would be "not by any means as free to act with resoluteness in behalf of an employer."

Eleven Men Join National Guard Units This Week

Continued Progress Being Made In Organizing Reserves Here

Eleven additional men have been enlisted for service in the two local National Guard companies, now in process of organization at the State Armory, according to Capt. Robert C. Matlick, commander of Company C.

Capt. Matlick, and Capt. Robert Powell, who commands Headquarters Company, both declared last night that there are still openings in both companies for experienced men. Those who enlist within the next few weeks, will be enlisted with their rating at time of discharge from service, they said.

Phase I, of the organization of the guard has been completed according to Lt. Col. Oliver H. Bruce III, battalion commander. This involved the enlistment of sufficient men in the two units to obtain Federal recognition. During Phase II, which involves the enlistment of sufficient men to make activities possible, local officers are interested in filling all non-commissioned and key positions with veterans of World War II, if possible.

Qualified Men Wanted

However, consideration will be given to all qualified men, Col. Bruce said. There are openings for communications men, especially radio operators and linesmen, as well as Infantry Platoon leaders and Ammunition platoon leaders. While the local units are Infantry components, Col. Bruce said veterans of any branch of the service may enlist, as well as non-veterans, who desire to become a part of this peace-time reserve force.

Those enlisted last night include a number of veterans and men who saw active service in the European Theater.

Carl Rossi, 506 Bedford street, who served with Company G, the former local guard unit from 1938 to August 1945, enlisted as a mess sergeant.

Harry W. Eyre, 235 Davidson street, who served in the 88th Division during the war, also served with Company G from 1934 until the unit was activated for federal service, when he was transferred. He was discharged from the army as a master sergeant.

August L. Wells, 938 Maryland avenue, served five years in the army with the 100th Division and enlisted as sergeant.

Morris B. Jones, 513 Valley street, who served with Company G from 1932 and saw active service in the European Theater with the 29th Division, being discharged from the Military Police in 1945, enlisted as a sergeant.

John Paul Deremer, 629 Schaidt's Lane, was a former member of Company G, and during the war served with the 413 Infantry Regiment in the 104th Division. He enlisted as a staff sergeant.

George Raymond Drew, of Midlothian, who served in the regular army before the war, enlisted as a supply sergeant for Company C.

Non-Coms Needed

Robert Vincent Baker, 215 Dexter Place, Robert Winfield Myers, 210 Grand avenue and Joseph Patsy, Jr., 213 Virginia avenue, enlisted as privates.

Men between the ages of 18 and 35, with no previous military training, and men between the ages of 18 and 45 with prior service records may enlist at the Armory each Tuesday and Thursday nights, Col. Bruce said.

According to Capt. Powell, about 50 percent of non-commissioned ratings in the two units are still open and men interested should apply before these are exhausted.

Several additional officers will also be appointed here, and some of these will be named from the men enlisting in the two units, it was indicated.

Gallup Poll Is Right Again On Election

Election returns to date again demonstrate the accuracy of the Gallup Poll.

It correctly forecast the full extent of the Republican sweep and came within 1 percent of the precise division of the total popular vote in Congressional races — the fourth best national prediction in the history of the poll. The forecast was 58 percent for Republican candidates for the House and 42 percent for the Democrats. Election returns to date indicate a vote of 57 percent Republican, 43 percent Democratic.

The Gallup Poll also forecast the victories by substantial majorities of Martin, in Pennsylvania; Vandenberg, in Michigan; Lodge, in Massachusetts; Bricker, in Ohio, and Dewey in New York. Its figures on Dewey were right within 4 percent and on Bricker right within 3 percent.

who finished second, got 58 additional votes for a total of 14,445 and Incumbent Charles M. See received an additional 355 votes to increase his total to 14,369.

John T. Fey lost 78 votes in the official count, decreasing his total to 14,299 while Horace P. Whitworth picked up 172 votes for a total of 13,081. William H. Geppert lost one vote, dropping his final total to 12,954. The six successful candidates, all Republicans, were trailed by Stephen L. Cesnick, Democrat, who lost 100 votes to drop to 8,784, and Alexander (Pop) Nicol, Democrat, who picked up 24 votes for a total of 8,045.

Edward R. Muir, Republican nominee for sheriff, picked up 203 more votes while his Democrat opponent, Joseph Buskey, gained 90, a net gain for Muir of 113. Muir's final majority was 6,650 on the basis of his vote of 14,453 and Buskey's vote of 7,803.

The biggest error in the unofficial returns was that in the vote received by Frederick C. Dreyer, who was unopposed for county treasurer. Dreyer picked up 2,705 votes in the official count.

William C. Abbott, unopposed for judge of the Orphans Court, picked up 2,141 votes, and Incumbent Judge J. French Van Meter picked up 2,213 votes.

theless, full opportunity was afforded the minority, he said. "An honest and healthy difference of opinion existed between majority and minority on the issue, but in no way was the minority shackled or restrained."

Wolff said the Celanese Corporation of America was justified in discharging Joseph Patsy since the evidence showed, to his satisfaction, that the employe violated the "no smoking" rule and that the violation occurred in a highly dangerous area.

"For an employe to endanger the lives of his fellow employes is an act which both union and management agree should not be permitted," Wolff added, and pointed out that "consideration for the safety of the ten thousand employes in this plant impells the conclusion that Mr. Patsy's discharge was warranted."

Two Are Injured When Car Upsets

"In view of the Republican sweep throughout the nation, the magnificent victory of Governor Lane, Attorney General Hammond, and Comptroller Lacy "as a remarkable accomplishment, and we are highly gratified that Allegany county played such an important part in the election of Governor O'Conor to the United States Senate.

"While the Republicans with their large book majority in Allegany county naturally won here, the showing made by the Democratic party in this county, even when compared to the nation as a whole, it was outstanding.

"We again congratulate and thank all those who helped in the campaign, and in the words of Mayor McKeldin, we will continue here 'to furnish the loyal opposition.'"

Unemployment Here Dropped During October

The number of unemployed in Cumberland dropped sharply during the month of October, according to the monthly report of the U. S. Employment Service office.

Patrick J. Carroll, USES office manager, said the most significant drop was in the number of claims by war veterans. Carroll attributes this to the large number who left for college or else took up training in trade schools.

There were almost 1,000 less claims for unemployment in October than for the preceding month of September, Carroll pointed out. He said he expects the number of unemployed to remain fairly steady until next April, the starting of the next benefit year for unemployment compensation.

Stemple To Deliver Armistice Day Talk

Some new thoughts regarding Armistice Day will be expressed in a radio address over WTBO, Monday at 6:45 p. m. by Past Commander James E. Stemple of Henry Hart Post No. 1411 Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In announcing the broadcast, Commander Raymond Reynolds said, the armistice of 1918 has become a "day of the future."

"Armistice Day is no longer an occasion on which we recall memories of the dim past," Commander Reynolds declared. "The men who fought in World War I, and those who returned from the second world conflict, look upon this Armistice Day as the beginning of a new era in the affairs of men. The armistice of 1918 gave us the formula for the peace we are trying to develop.

"If we as individuals refuse to respect the rights of our neighbors of foreign extraction we are injuring the cause of unity based on understanding between our country and other nations. Universal peace must be built on the solid foundation of mutual respect between peoples first, and then nations," Reynolds said.

Lt. Comdr. Eleven Men Join National Guard Units This Week

Continued Progress Being Made In Organizing Reserves Here

Eleven additional men have been enlisted for service in the two local National Guard companies, now in process of organization at the State Armory, according to Capt. Robert C. Matlick, commander of Company C.

Capt. Matlick, and Capt. Robert Powell, who commands Headquarters Company, both declared last night that there are still openings in both companies for experienced men. Those who enlist within the next few weeks, will be enlisted with their rating at time of discharge from service, they said.

Phase I, of the organization of the guard has been completed according to Lt. Col. Oliver H. Bruce III, battalion commander. This involved the enlistment of sufficient men in the two units to obtain Federal recognition. During Phase II which involves the enlistment of sufficient men to make activities possible, local officers are interested in filling all non-commissioned and key positions with veterans of World War II, if possible.

Qualified Men Wanted

However, consideration will be given to all qualified men, Col. Bruce said. There are openings for communications men, especially radio operators and linesmen, as well as Infantry Platoon leaders and Ammunition platoon leaders. While the local units are Infantry components, Col. Bruce said veterans of any branch of the service may enlist, as well as non-veterans, who desire to become a part of this peace-time reserve force.

Those enlisted last night include a number of veterans and men who saw active service in the European Theater.

Carl Rossi, 508 Bedford street, who served with Company G, the former local guard unit from 1938 to August 1945, enlisted as a mess sergeant.

Harry W. Eyre, 235 Davidson street, who served in the 88th Division during the war, also served with Company G from 1934 until the unit was activated for federal service, when he was transferred. He was discharged from the army as a master sergeant.

August L. Wells, 938 Maryland avenue, served five years in the army with the 100th Division and enlisted as sergeant.

Morris B. Jones, 513 Valley street, who served with Company G from 1932 and saw active service in the European Theater with the 29th Division, being discharged from the Military Police in 1945, enlisted as a sergeant.

John Paul Deremer, 629 Schaidt's Lane, was a former member of Company G, and during the war served with the 413 Infantry Regiment in the 104th Division. He enlisted as a staff sergeant.

George Raymond Drew, of Midlothian, who served in the regular army before the war, enlisted as a supply sergeant for Company C.

Non-Coms Needed

Robert Vincent Baker, 215 Dexter Place, Robert Winfield Myers, 210 Grand avenue and Joseph Patsy, Jr., 213 Virginia avenue, enlisted as privates.

Men between the ages of 18 and 35, with no previous military training, and men between the ages of 18 and 45 with prior service records may enlist at the Armory each Tuesday and Thursday nights, Col. Bruce said.

According to Capt. Powell, about 50 percent of non-commissioned ratings in the two units are still open and men interested should apply before these are exhausted.

Several additional officers will also be appointed here, and some of these will be named from the men enlisting in the two units, it was indicated.

Gallup Poll Is Right Again On Election

Election returns to date again demonstrate the accuracy of the Gallup Poll.

It correctly forecast the full extent of the Republican sweep and came within 1 percent of the precise division of the total popular vote in Congressional races — the fourth best national prediction in the history of the poll. The forecast was 58 percent for Republican candidates for the House and 42 percent for the Democrats. Election returns to date indicate a vote of 57 percent Republican, 43 percent Democratic.

The Gallup Poll also forecast the victories by substantial majorities of Martin, in Pennsylvania; Vandenberg, in Michigan; Lodge, in Massachusetts; Bricker, in Ohio, and Dewey in New York. Its figures on Dewey were right within 4 percent and on Bricker right within 3 percent.

Allegany and LaSalle will clash tonight at the local stadium at 8 o'clock in the eighteenth game of their gridiron series which was launched on Thanksgiving Day in 1928.

Both schools scored their initial victories of the season last weekend, Allegany after suffering five defeats and playing one tie while LaSalle crashed the victory column for the first time after losing three and tying two.

Comparative scores, which mean little when city rivals come to grips, tend to give LaSalle a slight edge, yet the showing AHS made against Martinsburg last Saturday night was so impressive that many fans believe the Blue and White will be hard to stop in its remaining games.

Aerials Versus Powers

LaSalle bowed to Fort Hill by the score of 14-0 while the Campers fell before the Sentinels to the tune of 19-0. Against Hagerstown, Allegany was steamrollered 38-0 here while LaSalle was mowed down 27-0 in the Hub City.

The Explorers and AHS showed big improvement last week over their previous games and the schools may put on a ding dong battle tonight. LaSalle will likely depend on passing as its main offensive weapon while the Campers will rely on an overland attack with Tommy Powers as the key man.

Last Friday in its victory over St. Francis Prep, LaSalle was outrushed by the Spring Grove team, 276 to 112 yards, but Coach John J. Long's team completed 11 of 21 passes for a total of 165 yards and two of the aerials netted touchdowns. Allegany outrushed Martinsburg 201 to 196 yards and showed up exceptionally well with a pass defense that stopped the visitors nine times in twelve tries.

Allegany holds an 11 to 5 edge in wins in its series with LaSalle and also a four-game winning streak at the expense of the Explorers, who last won in 1943. Two games were played in 1944 and a like number each year. One of the 17 games ended in a tie.

"Let's-Get-Even" Notre Dame Squad Headed East For Army

By SID FEDER

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 7 (AP)—Notre Dame's "let's-get-even" football squad—36 strong and full of fight—headed east tonight for revenge on Army, with the hospital contingent all improving and sparkplug Quarterback Johnny Lujack proclaiming there was especially no cause to worry about him.

All three of the ailing gridders—hustling halfback Floyd Simmons and Ziggy Czarobski, the bruising tackle, along with Lujack,—left aboard the Irish Revenge Special with the rest of the squad at 4 p. m. (CST) today after turning out for the final two-hour home practice this morning.

Both Lujack, much of the swelling on his ankle gone, and Czarobski, still handicapped by a torn hip muscle, actually got into the light work-out. Simmons, whose overnight improvement from a ruptured leg blood vessel was described by the school physician as "remarkable", contented himself with jogging half a dozen times around the field.

The quick return of Lujack enabled the Irish—from Coach Frank Leahy right down to the waterboys—to draw their first comfortable breath since late yesterday when the keyman of the team sprained his right ankle in the final full-dress drill.

Johnny jogged around the field a few times without a limp and finally took his place in the varsity backfield in a sharpening-up session on pass offense. "Don't worry about me—especially not for this one," he said. "I'll be in there."

As the gridders pulled out of South Bend, amid student cheers, the large questions remaining were: (a) Whether Lujack could work his all-important moleskin magic, particularly on defense, for a large part—if not all—of the 60 minutes, and (b) how much action Simmons, who hit his peak as a ball-carrier in the Navy game last Saturday, and Czarobski, in the vital right tackle slot against Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, would be able to see.

Penn State will be one of two Eastern teams on Pitt's 1947 football schedule. The Panthers will play six Western Conference teams.

The visiting team is coached by Homer Brooks, of Cumberland, and has bowled over seven foes since losing the opener to Masontown High School on September 20. Since that reverse the Panthers took Kingwood, Belington, Thomas, Petersburg, Elkins High "B," the West Virginia Industrial School at Pruntytown, and Terra Alta.

Ridgeley, coached by Jesse Riggleman, is playing .500 ball with two wins, two losses and two tie games. The ties were played with Allegany and Fort Hill, the wins were scored over Fort Ashby and Romney and the losses were at the hands of Keyser and Moorefield.

Jackets To Close PVC Season Today

Seek Sixth Win In Row; Keyser, Romney Will Play Games Away

Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets are favored to defeat Fort Ashby today and thereby clinch the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference for the second straight year.

The Jackets have won five straight conference games and another win today would enable Coach Johnny Paugh's Hardy Countians to close the campaign with an unblemished record. Fort Ashby has won one and lost four on the seven-school circuit.

Moorefield will conclude its ten-game schedule on November 15 by meeting Allegany in Cumberland.

Other conference games on tap for tomorrow bring Keyser and Franklin together at Franklin and Romney versus Petersburg at the latter place. Keyser concludes its season on November 15 by playing host to Petersburg while Romney plays at Beall, November 16, and meets LaSalle in Cumberland, November 22. Franklin lowers the curtain with a game at Ridgeley November 15 while Petersburg has two more games to play—Keyser, away, November 15, and Ridgeley at home, November 22.

SALEM SUFFERS 14TH STRAIGHT GRID LOSS

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The St. Vincent College Bearcats walloped Salem College of West Virginia, 45-6 here tonight to break a three-game losing streak.

The loss was Salem's 14th in succession over a two-season stretch.

The Tigers' only score came in the second quarter with Bearett subs on the field for St. Vincent. After a drive of more than 40 yards, Primozic caught Sherman's pass on the 16 yard line and dashed over the goal line standing up.

The Pennsylvanians accounted for 12 first downs to the West Virginians four.

Mountaineers Favored

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 7 (AP)—Coach Bill Kern told his West Virginia Mountaineers today that despite their creditable showing against Army they should stay on their toes to avert any surprise from Fordham here Saturday.

Fordham's 68-0 defeat by Penn State, coupled with West Virginia's showing against Army, has served to install the Mountaineers as favorites.

Baksi's Triumph Draws Criticism Of Sport Writers

Mills Conceded American 27 Pounds; Winner Pockets $20,000

LONDON, Nov. 7 — Ponderous Joe Baksi, American heavyweight trying to make good in Europe, fired a shot still being heard around the kingdom when he stopped Freddie Mills, Britain's popular light heavyweight champion.

After a non-stop barrage of assertions by sports columnists that the 211 pound Yank and the 184 pound Britain never should have been matched, President R. E. Myddelton of the British Boxing Board of Control said tonight that the board of stewards previously had considered blackballing the fight because of Baksi's size.

Col. Myddelton said the stewards would have backed up the southern area council, which watches over professional fight promotions in London, if the latter had taken any steps to prevent the bout.

And council Chairman Victor Berlinger countered:

"Our council was not in a position to discuss this match and was not allowed to appoint the referee which was done direct by the board."

Earlier Promoter Jack Solomons said he delayed making the catch until after the managers and fighters agreed that they wanted it.

Meanwhile, the ex-Pennsylvania miner, who thought the fight ended when the nearly blinded Mills failed to answer the bell in the seventh round, pocketed a putative $20,000 and hoped to offer himself for a similar sum to Bruce Woodcock.

Terps Brush Up Passing For Homecoming Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—There promises to be plenty of passing when Maryland entertains South Carolina at Byrd stadium here Saturday in the Terps' annual homecoming game.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy has had the Old Liners concentrating on passes all week in an effort to sharpen the pitching accuracy of his two star quarterbacks — Vic Turyn and Mont. The plan has shown results, too. Stan Lavine, another quarterback, also has developed considerable skill.

At least two and perhaps all three of this trio will go up against a pair of highly touted Gamecock passers, Harold Hagan and Jimmy Atwell.

The gridiron fracas is a feature attraction of the homecoming festivities on the Maryland campus. At half time there will be a parade of floats and presentation of the homecoming queen.

Blaik Hopes Notre Dame Team Is At Full Strength For Game

Army Coach Rates Tucker, Unsung Backfield Star, Lujack's Equal

By WHITNEY MARTIN

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP)—Army's football players, so quiet and apparently unperturbed that Coach Earl Red Blaik wondered a little about it, took their final workout on their home sod today and tomorrow morning will head for New York where Saturday afternoon at Yankee Stadium they meet Notre Dame in the football battle of the century.

Blaik was not worried about the seeming casualness of his pupils toward the big game, however.

"It's a quiet bunch of boys, anyway," he said. "Against Michigan they never said a word. I've seen some teams whoop and yell in practice, then play a whale of a game. Other teams say nothing, and also play a whale of a game. So it means nothing."

With the exception of big Herschel (Ug) Fuson, definitely out of action with a shoulder separation, the squad is in excellent condition. Two light scrimmages were the extent of the contact work this week, and Blaik admitted that outside of Fuson "we have no complaints."

He said he honestly hoped that Notre Dame had none either. He remarked he was pretty sure Johnny Lujack, the Irish T master who turned an ankle yesterday, would play, and he added:

"That's the way it should be. I'd hate to play them without Lujack."

Good as Lujack is, Blaik feels he has his equal in Arnold Tucker, the comparatively unsung operative in the Army backfield. Asked to compare the two, Blaik pondered the question, then replied thoughtfully:

"Lujack may be as good, but I don't think he is a better football player than Tucker in all around play. If Tucker had the time to devote to football that Lujack has, he'd be just as good at calling signals. I only meet with him once a week. Most quarterbacks meet with their coaches every day. I haven't talked to him this week at all about Notre Dame. I asked him to come up today, but he hasn't come yet."

SOUTH CAROLINIANS SAY THEY CHARTERED TOBACCO BOWL GAME

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 7 (AP)—Officials of South Carolina's chartered New Year's day collegiate Tobacco Bowl Football Association were "up in arms" tonight over announcement from Lexington, Ky., of proposal for a pre-New Year's Day bowl game there with the same name.

"We chartered our bowl game and the name with our secretary of state a year ago," State Senator Edgar A. Brown of Barnwell, an officer of the association, said, "and I will put it mildly when I say we resent any infringement.

"Well, I don't know whether we'll sue or not!"

Governor Ransome J. Williams, another officer and one of a small group of prominent men who put up $20,000—"it's still up" — to inaugurate the bowl here, had "no comment, but it certainly looks to me like somebody is a year behind the times."

American University of Washington, D. C., is the only newcomer on Penn State's 19-game basketball schedule.

McFarland Slated To Start At End For Catamounts

Yewcic And Baisi Will Play In California Game Tomorrow

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 7 — Announcement was made today by Coach Dana "Horse" Lough that Jim McFarland will start at left end for Potomac State Saturday afternoon when the Catamounts face the California Teachers from California, Pa.

McFarland is a converted tackle weighing 190 pounds. He has had experience before at the end post and Lough said that McFarland was chosen because of his defensive play.

Another bit of cheering news coming out of Potomac State camp today was that Mike Yewcic, swivel-hipped left halfback for the Hilltoppers, had worked off his charley horse and will be in condition to start at the wingback post for the Cats.

More news to brighten Potomac State conference hopes came when Lough stated that the team physician gave the green light to Neal Baisi for limited service in this game and a go ahead signal for the contest next week against West Liberty. Baisi has been the Cats' regular right guard all season.

The Catamounts were run through their final paces this afternoon, the practice consisting of another dummy scrimmage to preserve players for the game.

Game time Saturday is 2 p. m. Tickets again will be sold in the form of tags which must be worn by purchasers.

West Liberty, which will be met here next week, will play Concord this weekend. Potomac State holds a 13-6 decision over Concord.

Reese Likes Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn shortstop, found Braves Field to his liking this year, slapping out 19 hits in 41 tries for a .463 mark. In the final three game series between Brooklyn and Boston, Reese got seven hits, including two triples and a double.

All Look Alike

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Alabama's Fred Grant, fullback, is the only football player ever to lead two major conferences in scoring. As a freshman at Wake Forest in 1943 Grant led the Southern Conference point-makers and paced the Southeastern Conference scorers last season when he tallied 66 points.

Johnny jogged around the field a few times without a limp and finally took his place in the varsity backfield in a sharpening-up session on pass offense. "Don't worry about me—especially not for this one," he said. "I'll be in there."

As the gridders pulled out of South Bend, amid student cheers, the large questions remaining were: (a) Whether Lujack could work his all-important moleskin magic, particularly on defense, for a large part—if not all—of the 60 minutes, and (b) how much action Simmons, who hit his peak as a ball-carrier in the Navy game last Saturday, and Czarobski, in the vital right tackle slot against Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis, would be able to see.

Penn State will be one of two Eastern teams on Pitt's 1947 football schedule. The Panthers will play six Western Conference teams.

Grindle To Attend District Meeting

Bruce Coach To Represent County At Hagerstown Session Saturday

John E. "Chip" Grindle, soccer coach of Bruce High School, Westernport, will be Allegany county's representative at the meeting to be held Saturday in Hagerstown to make plans for District No. 1 teams competing in the statewide soccer tournament.

Elmer Chandlee, principal of Walkersville High School, will be Frederick county's representative. Garrett county's spokesman will be Bruce Jenkins, of Oakland, while Washington county's representative will be Douglas M. Bivens, principal of Boonsboro High School.

Allegany county will enter three teams in the tourney. Beall will compete in Class "A" and Flintstone High School will be in Class "D". The outcome of today's game between Bruce and Central in Westernport will determine Allegany county's Class "C" representative.

Arthur G. Ramey, of the Allegany County Board of Education and executive board member for District No. 1, comprising Garrett, Allegany, Frederick and Washington counties, will preside at the Hagerstown meeting.

LEAD EAGLES—Head coach of the Boston College team, Denny Myers, left, is shown talking to his captain, Bill Quinn. The Eagles are the standout club in New England, having won four straight games after losing an early season opener to powerful Wake Forest, which later knocked off Tennessee. In the Eagles' most recent game, the New Englanders beat N.Y.U., 72-6. Myers served as line coach at West Virginia University in the days when Earl "Greasy" Neale was head coach. Denny played pro ball with the Ironton (Ohio) Tanks under Neale before going to Morgantown.

Since that reverse the Panthers took Kingwood, Belington, Thomas, Petersburg, Elkins High "B," the West Virginia Industrial School at Pruntytown, and Terra Alta.

Ridgeley, coached by Jesse Riggleman, is playing .500 ball with two wins, two losses and two tie games. The ties were played with Allegany and Fort Hill, the wins were scored over Fort Ashby and Romney and the losses were at the hands of Keyser and Moorefield.

Jackets To Close PVC Season Today

Seek Sixth Win In Row; Keyser, Romney Will Play Games Away

Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets are favored to defeat Fort Ashby today and thereby clinch the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference for the second straight year.

The Jackets have won five straight conference games and another win today would enable Coach Johnny Paugh's Hardy Countians to close the campaign with an unblemished record. Fort Ashby has won one and lost four on the seven-school circuit.

Moorefield will conclude its ten-game schedule on November 15 by meeting Allegany in Cumberland.

Other conference games on tap for tomorrow bring Keyser and Franklin together at Franklin and Romney versus Petersburg at the latter place. Keyser concludes its season on November 15 by playing host to Petersburg while Romney plays at Beall, November 16, and meets LaSalle in Cumberland, November 22. Franklin lowers the curtain with a game at Ridgeley November 15 while Petersburg has two more games to play—Keyser, away, November 15, and Ridgeley at home, November 22.

SALEM SUFFERS 14TH STRAIGHT GRID LOSS

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—The St. Vincent College Bearcats walloped Salem College of West Virginia, 45-6 here tonight to break a three-game losing streak.

The loss was Salem's 14th in succession over a two-season stretch.

The Tigers' only score came in the second quarter with Bearcat subs on the field for St. Vincent. After a drive of more than 40 yards, Primozic caught Sherman's pass on the 16 yard line and dashed over the goal line standing up.

The Pennsylvanians accounted for 12 first downs to the West Virginians four.

Mountaineers Favored

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 7 (AP)—Coach Bill Kern told his West Virginia Mountaineers today that despite their creditable showing against Army they should stay on their toes to avert any surprise from Fordham here Saturday.

Fordham's 68-0 defeat by Penn State, coupled with West Virginia's showing against Army, has served to install the Mountaineers as favorites.

Mills Conceded American 27 Pounds; Winner Pockets $20,000

LONDON, Nov. 7 — Ponderous Joe Baksi, American heavyweight trying to make good in Europe, fired a shot still being heard around the kingdom when he stopped Freddie Mills, Britain's popular light heavyweight champion.

After a non-stop barrage of assertions by sports columnists that the 211 pound Yank and the 184 pound Britain never should have been matched, President R. E. Myddelton of the British Boxing Board of Control said tonight that the board of stewards previously had considered blackballing the fight because of Baksi's size.

Col. Myddelton said the stewards would have backed up the southern area council, which watches over professional fight promotions in London, if the latter had taken any steps to prevent the bout.

And council Chairman Victor Berlinger countered:

"Our council was not in a position to discuss this match and was not allowed to appoint the referee which was done direct by the board."

Earlier Promoter Jack Solomons said he delayed making the catch until after the managers and fighters agreed that they wanted it.

Meanwhile, the ex-Pennsylvania miner, who thought the fight ended when the nearly blinded Mills failed to answer the bell in the seventh round, pocketed a putative $20,000 and hoped to offer himself for a similar sum to Bruce Woodcock.

Terps Brush Up Passing For Homecoming Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—There promises to be plenty of passing when Maryland entertains South Carolina at Byrd stadium here Saturday in the Terps' annual homecoming game.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy has had the Old Liners concentrating on passes all week in an effort to sharpen the pitching accuracy of his two star quarterbacks — Vic Turyn and Mont. The plan has shown results, too. Stan Lavine, another quarterback, also has developed considerable skill.

At least two and perhaps all three of this trio will go up against a pair of highly touted Gamecock passers, Harold Hagan and Jimmy Atwell.

The gridiron fracas is a feature attraction of the homecoming festivities on the Maryland campus. At half time there will be a parade of floats and presentation of the homecoming queen.

Blaik Hopes Notre Dame Team Is At Full Strength For Game

Army Coach Rates Tucker, Unsung Backfield Star, Lujack's Equal

By WHITNEY MARTIN

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 7 (AP)—Army's football players, so quiet and apparently unperturbed that Coach Earl Red Blaik wondered a little about it, took their final workout on their home sod today and tomorrow morning will head for New York where Saturday afternoon at Yankee Stadium they meet Notre Dame in the football battle of the century.

Blaik was not worried about the seeming casualness of his pupils toward the big game, however.

"It's a quiet bunch of boys, anyway," he said. "Against Michigan they never said a word. I've seen some teams whoop and yell in practice, then play a whale of a game. Other teams say nothing, and also play a whale of a game. So it means nothing."

With the exception of big Herschel (Ug) Fuson, definitely out of action with a shoulder separation, the squad is in excellent condition. Two light scrimmages were the extent of the contact work this week, and Blaik admitted that outside of Fuson "we have no complaints."

He said he honestly hoped that Notre Dame had none either. He remarked he was pretty sure Johnny Lujack, the Irish T master who turned an ankle yesterday, would play, and he added:

"That's the way it should be. I'd hate to play them without Lujack."

Good as Lujack is, Blaik feels he has his equal in Arnold Tucker, the comparatively unsung operative in the Army backfield. Asked to compare the two, Blaik pondered the question, then replied thoughtfully:

"Lujack may be as good, but I don't think he is a better football player than Tucker in all around play. If Tucker had the time to devote to football that Lujack has, he'd be just as good at calling signals. I only meet with him once a week. Most quarterbacks meet with their coaches every day. I haven't talked to him this week at all about Notre Dame. I asked him to come up today, but he hasn't come yet."

SOUTH CAROLINIANS SAY THEY CHARTERED TOBACCO BOWL GAME

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 7 (AP)—Officials of South Carolina's chartered New Year's day collegiate Tobacco Bowl Football Association were "up in arms" tonight over announcement from Lexington, Ky., of proposal for a pre-New Year's Day bowl game there with the same name.

"We chartered our bowl game and the name with our secretary of state a year ago," State Senator Edgar A. Brown of Barnwell, an officer of the association, said, "and I will put it mildly when I say we resent any infringement.

"Well, I don't know whether we'll sue or not!"

Governor Ransome J. Williams, another officer and one of a small group of prominent men who put up $20,000—"it's still up"—to inaugurate the bowl here, had "no comment, but it certainly looks to me like somebody is a year behind the times."

American University of Washington, D. C., is the only newcomer on Penn State's 19-game basketball schedule.

McFarland Slated To Start At End For Catamounts

Yewcic And Baisi Will Play In California Game Tomorrow

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 7 — Announcement was made today by Coach Dana "Horse" Lough that Jim McFarland will start at left end for Potomac State Saturday afternoon when the Catamounts face the California Teachers from California, Pa.

McFarland is a converted tackle weighing 190 pounds. He has had experience before at the end post and Lough said that McFarland was chosen because of his defensive play.

Another bit of cheering news coming out of Potomac State camp today was that Mike Yewcic, swivel-hipped left halfback for the Hilltoppers, had worked off his charley horse and will be in condition to start at the wingback post for the Cats.

More news to brighten Potomac State conference hopes came when Lough stated that the team physician gave the green light to Neal Baisi for limited service in this game and a go ahead signal for the contest next week against West Liberty. Baisi has been the Cats' regular right guard all season.

The Catamounts were run through their final paces this afternoon, the practice consisting of another dummy scrimmage to preserve players for the game.

Game time Saturday is 2 p. m. Tickets again will be sold in the form of tags which must be worn by purchasers.

West Liberty, which will be met here next week, will play Concord this weekend. Potomac State holds a 13-6 decision over Concord.

Reese Likes Boston

All Look Alike

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Alabama's Fred Grant, fullback, is the only football player ever to lead two major conferences in scoring. As a freshman at Wake Forest in 1943 Grant led the Southern Conference point-makers and paced the Southeastern Conference scorers last season when he tallied 66 points.

TODAY'S GAME

Central at Bruce
(End of Season)

Coach Edward Finzel's Beall High School booters won the championship of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League yesterday by defeating a stubborn Flintstone High School eleven on the Flintstone pitch by the score of 2 to 0.

Flintstone, playing its first season in the league, held the Frostburg eleven scoreless from the field until the last minute of play when Souders, outside right of the Mountain City team, hammered a field goal through the uprights. Beall had held a 1-0 lead up to that time as a result of Paul Myers' penalty goal in the second quarter.

Beall concluded its season with a record of seven victories and one tie game. In the eight contests, Coach Finzel's team racked up 30 points while holding the opposition to six tallies.

The Frostburg eleven will compete in the Class "A" state championship soccer tournament. Beall is the only Class "A" school in Garrett, Washington or Allegany county represented by a soccer team.

Flintstone, victorious over Barton in two games, has qualified for the statewide Class "D" tournament.

Bruce and Central, of Lonaconing, will lower the curtain on the W. M. I. League season when they clash today at 3:30 at Memorial Park, Westernport.

Coach Grindle's eleven can qualify for the state Class "C" tournament by winning or playing a tie game with Central. Bruce already holds a decision over Central. A victory for Central may necessitate an extra game to decide Allegany county's standard bearer in the Class "C" games. Yesterday's lineups:

TOM DALY, 50, FORMER MAJOR LEAGUER, DIES

MEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 7—Tom Daly, 50, Boston Red Sox coach since 1933 and former major league catcher, died today after a year's illness.

A native of Saint John, N. B., Daly broke in with the Chicago White Sox in 1914 and later played with Cleveland, the Chicago Cubs, and in the Pacific Coast League.

He managed Toronto in 1932—his last year as an active player—and joined the Red Sox as coach the following season.

Davis Cup Team Will Leave November 15

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—The U. S. Davis Cup squad will leave San Francisco by air for Australia on Nov. 15, non-playing captain Walter L. Pate said today.

The squad is made up of Jack Kramer, Frank Parker, Ted Schroeder, Billy Talbert, Gardnar Mulloy and Tom Brown.

The party will reach New Zealand on Nov. 19 and will compete in a team match with that nation's best on Nov. 21. The U. S. squad will leave New Zealand for Australia on Nov. 23. Davis Cup matches with Australia are scheduled for Melbourne Dec. 26 to 28.

Scout Says Polidor's Run "Planned Maneuver"

VILLANOVA, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—Bob Polidor's record-breaking 109-yard touchdown run was a planned maneuver, Villanova College Scout Jerry Neri said today.

The 160-pound ex-marine made his dash against the University of Miami (Fla) Friday night—but the groundwork was laid beforehand Neri added.

The scout said he had noticed the Miami team loafed going down under Harry Ghaul's deep kickoffs and he had passed along the information to Coach Jordan Olivar who mapped out a "perfect maneuver" for returning the boot all the way.

Incidentally, Charles Eckles, who was head linesman for the game, said Polidor's feet were inches shy of the out-of-bounds line when he caught the kick and that he ought to be credited for a run of 109¾ yards.

Hotels Report Sellout For Saturday's Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Football's annual battle of the titans, the Army-Notre Dame game, has resulted in a sellout for the City's hotels with every room reserved the Hotel Association of New York said today.

The association had only one suggestion for out-of-towners intent on comins to the city without reservations: bring cots along and set them up in a parking lot.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

Notre Dame's Best Bet

Red Smith, assistant coach of the football Giants and the Chicago Cubs, a former Notre Dame football star, one of the ablest men we know in sport, had one important point to offer in connection with the Army-Notre Dame meeting on Saturday.

Here was Red's angle: "On form and copy paper Army rates slightly over Notre Dame, largely through greater team experience. But don't forget this—on a big day, in a big game, no single team in the country, year after year, can match Notre Dame with the will to win, the spirit of victory, the give everything you have—and something more.

"This has been a Notre Dame attribute since an underrated Notre Dame team with Dorais and Rockat West Point some 30 years ago, at West Point some 0 years ago. Army has all the spirit that Notre Dame or any other team has. No team ever fights harder than Army. But this time the incentive belongs to Notre Dame after those two terrible beatings in 1944 and 1945; 107 to 0 against Notre Dame. Don't forget what this means to Notre Dame. It can't mean as much to Army.

"And don't forget this," Red Smith continued. "Notre Dame has the manpower. No Davis. No Blanchard. But wave after wave. And all good. Army will need a nice lead before the fourth quarter starts. For, unless they are supermen, this will be a worn, tired and battered Army team by that time; for in clean, hard play—and I mean hard play—Army will get more jolts than it has ever known.

"This time Army will be matched in manpower, man for man, and here Notre Dame has the call. Notre Dame can afford to lose men that Army can't. The weather can make a big difference. Army has the speed—Notre Dame, the driving power. A wet field or rain goes with driving power over speed. A rainy day or a wet ball will certainly hurt Lujack. But it will also affect Tucker and Davis in the passing game. A rainy day will hurt Army's passing attack more than it will Notre Dame's. Army has one of the most varied and one of the most effective passing attacks in football — three fine passers and four fine pass receivers. What team can match that? I know Notre Dame can't. I'll have to ride with Notre Dame manpower and Notre Dame spirit on a big day. But I wouldn't bet even a dime on the result, if I were a betting man."

These are words to consider if you haven't made up your mind. On a fairly dry field we still move along with Blanchard and Davis.

The Round Up

ARMY-NOTRE DAME: The toughest of all Army-Notre Dame games to pick. Denny Myers of Boston College says Notre Dame by 20 or more points. Our western scouts say Notre Dame by 14 points. We like Army's team-play experience over Notre Dame's bulge in manpower. Army by 7 points.

COLUMBIA - PENNSYLVANIA: Here Pennsylvania has all the edge in manpower, line play and surplus backs. Penn was rated just back of Army and Notre Dame until Princeton swiped the atomic bomb, undoubtedly tipped off by Professor Einstein. Both are due for a rebound. Pennsylvania by 10 points.

NAVY-GEORGIA TECH: Navy's battered team gets no breathers. At least Georgia Tech, one of the best in the South, won't be any such animal. Georgia Tech by 19 points.

HARVARD-DARTMOUTH: Harvard due to resume her winning ways again by 14 points.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA-CALIFORNIA: A West Coast headliner. Southern California improving. A 10 point margin for USC.

WAKE FOREST - DUKE: Wake Forest, conquerors of Tennessee with only a single defeat, has a slight edge. Wallace Wade has already dropped four games and is due for a rebound. Wake Forest by 7 points.

Cornell is picked over Syracuse in a good game and Yale has the call over Brown by 19 points. Princeton may be due for a slump but the Tiger has a 20-point margin over Virginia.

L.S.U. - ALABAMA: One of the big games of the South. Alabama has the call in a hard game against a strong opponent. Albama by 7 points.

We like Boston College over Georgetown, 14 points; and Rutgers over Lafayette, 19 points.

West Virginia is far too strong for Fordham. Around 30 points.

Penn State is picked over Temple and Colgate over Holy Cross.

GEORGIA - FLORIDA: Unbeaten and untied Georgia is too good for Florida with Trippi operating. Georgia by 24 points.

U.C.L.A.-OREGON: Unbeaten and untied U.C.L.A. leading the Rose Bowl march looks to be 21 points above Oregon, beaten badly by U.S.C.

NORTHWESTERN-INDIANA: An important Big Nine game. One that should be close. Northwestern by 7 points.

Tennessee is much too strong for Mississippi and Tulane has too much for Clemson.

Missouri is named over Colorado and Ohio State has a 19-point margin over Pittsburgh. South Carolina is called over Maryland and Michigan is around 19 points above Michigan State. North Carolina State looks about 14 points above Vanderbilt.

Ben Hogan Takes North-South Open Title With 282

Beats Snead And Turnesa By Two Strokes; Adds $1,500 To Winnings

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 7 (AP) — Shooting consistent sub-par Golf Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., won the 45th annual North and South Open Golf Tournament today with a six-under-par 282. It was his third victory in the event and added $1,500 to his winnings, already tops for the touring pros.

Hogan won over Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., who deadlocked for second with 284.

Hogan had consecutive rounds of 71-71-70-70 over the country club's 6,879-yard No. 2 course to live up to his role of favorite.

He entered the 36-hole finals today trailing Mike Turnesa by one stroke and Dutch Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., by two.

Snead birdied the first hole of the final round to take a three stroke lead over Turnesa, with whom he was paired. However, the latter took only ten putts on the first nine and with three birdies had 33 while Snead slipped to 37. Turnesa picked up five strokes in the last six holes of the first nine, putting him two strokes up on the Virginian.

Snead birdied the short 16th while Turnesa was one over, to square matters, and they parred the last two. Turnesa hit his drive into a trap on the 17th and blasted out 100 yards short of the green while Snead was on in two. Snead two-putted, but Turnesa knocked in a 15-foot putt to tie him.

Hogan, two holes back, then had to shoot a 71 to win by a strike. He finished one better than that with a 35 on each side of the long layout despite the rain which fell during most of the final round.

He was three under through six holes, but went one over on the next two holes. He parred the remaining ten with exception of a birdie at the 16th.

Harison came in with 73 for a 289 total and fourth place, leaving only Hogan, Turnesa and Snead with subpar totals.

Ed Furgol was fifth with 291, one stroke in Front of Dai Rees, one of two British pros entered, and Stan Horne of Montreal.

Green Is Favorite

AKRON, O., Nov. 7 (AP)—Welterweight Johnny Green of Buffalo, N. Y., victor over Joe Curcio, Izzy Jannazzo and California Jackie Wilson, will be the 7 to 5 favorite to topple Jerome Frazier, stablemate of Sugar Ray Robinson, in a feature 10-rounder here tomorrow night.

Unbeaten Elevens Shift Grid Game To Philadelphia

Muhlenberg And Delaware Will Clash Nov. 23 At Shibe Park

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Nov. 23 football game between Muhlenberg College and the University of Delaware, two of the nation's finest small college teams, may be moved to Philadelphia's 40,000-seat Shibe Park to satisfy the thousands who want to see the battle.

Both team are heavily favored to defeat their next two foes and come up to this game with undefeated records. Muhlenberg has amassed 199 points to 47 in six victories while Delaware has overpowered seven straight foes scoring 229 points against only 12.

The Blue Hens of Delaware, who haven't tasted defeat in their last 28 games dating back to 1940, face one of their toughest adversaries of the season Saturday in Bucknell University, which has come back to win three straight after dropping its first three. Then Delaware must get past a lightly-regarded Washington College (Md) team.

Muhlenberg has an easier prospect against Gettysburg and Moravian College, both with lukewarm records.

The Muhlenberg-Delaware game is scheduled for Wilmington Park, Del., which can seat only 5,000 fans. Officials at Mulhenberg reported that thousands of others are seeking seats and in order to accommodate them, the game may be moved to the Philadelhia baseball park.

De Paul Will Play 25 Basketball Games

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP) — De Paul University's basketball team, ranked one of the nation's top collegiate quintets last season, this season will play a 25-game schedule, listing opponents from 13 different states and 12 appearances at Chicago Stadium.

On the stadium double-header program in which De Paul cooperates with Northwestern, the Blue Demons will face Oklahoma A & M, North Carolina, Kentucky, Texas, Notre Dame, Rice Institute, Micnigan State, Loyola of Chicago, Marquette, Bradley, Kansas and possibly Bowling Green of Ohio.

Missouri trappers and fur hunters took 625,241 pelts of all species during the 1945-46 season and sold them for $1,280,233.

Cadets Increase Lead In Race For Trophy

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Penn's defeat by Princeton last weekend cost it heavily in the Quakers' race with Army for the Lambert Trophy, an award given annually to the team rated the strongest in the east.

Army, winner of the trophy for the past two years, was only one point ahead of Pennsylvania in last week's compilation of votes cast by a tribunal of sports writers and broadcasters. Now the Cadets lead by seven, 987 to 980. Boston College is third with 979.

Dudley To Get Rest

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 (AP)—Coach Jock Sutherland hopes to be able to give his badly battered ace, Halfback Bill Dudley, a well-earned rest when the Pittsburgh Steelers engage the Detroit Lions at Detroit Sunday.

Sutherland intends to use Johnny Clement in Dudley's place in the Steeler backfield if the Pittsburgh club can function efficiently with the change.

TODAY'S GAME

Central at Bruce
(End of Season)

Coach Edward Finzel's Beall High School booters won the championship of the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League yesterday by defeating a stubborn Flintstone High School eleven on the Flintstone pitch by the score of 2 to 0.

Flintstone, playing its first season in the league, held the Frostburg eleven scoreless from the field until the last minute of play when Souders, outside right of the Mountain City team, hammered a field goal through the uprights. Beall had held a 1-0 lead up to that time as a result of Paul Myers' penalty goal in the second quarter.

Beall concluded its season with a record of seven victories and one tie game. In the eight contests, Coach Finzel's team racked up 30 points while holding the opposition to six tallies.

The Frostburg eleven will compete in the Class "A" state championship soccer tournament. Beall is the only Class "A" school in Garrett, Washington or Allegany county represented by a soccer team.

Flintstone, victorious over Barton in two games, has qualified for the statewide Class "D" tournament.

Bruce and Central, of Lonaconing, will lower the curtain on the W. M. I. League season when they clash today at 3:30 at Memorial Park, Westernport.

Coach Grindle's eleven can qualify for the state Class "C" tournament by winning or playing a tie game with Central. Bruce already holds a decision over Central. A victory for Central may necessitate an extra game to decide Allegany county's standard bearer in the Class "C" games. Yesterday's lineups:

TOM DALY, 50, FORMER MAJOR LEAGUER, DIES

MEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 7—Tom Daly, 50, Boston Red Sox coach since 1933 and former major league catcher, died today after a year's illness.

A native of Saint John, N. B., Daly broke in with the Chicago White Sox in 1914 and later played with Cleveland, the Chicago Cubs, and in the Pacific Coast League.

He managed Toronto in 1932—his last year as an active player—and joined the Red Sox as coach the following season.

Davis Cup Team Will Leave November 15

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—The U. S. Davis Cup squad will leave San Francisco by air for Australia on Nov. 15, non-playing captain Walter L. Pate said today.

The squad is made up of Jack Kramer, Frank Parker, Ted Schroeder, Billy Talbert, Gardnar Mulloy and Tom Brown.

The party will reach New Zealand on Nov. 19 and will compete in a team match with that nation's best on Nov. 21. The U. S. squad will leave New Zealand for Australia on Nov. 23. Davis Cup matches with Australia are scheduled for Melbourne Dec. 26 to 28.

Scout Says Polidor's Run "Planned Maneuver"

VILLANOVA, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—Bob Polidor's record-breaking 109-yard touchdown run was a planned maneuver, Villanova College Scout Jerry Neri said today.

The 160-pound ex-marine made his dash against the University of Miami (Fla.) Friday night—but the groundwork was laid beforehand Neri added.

The scout said he had noticed the Miami team loafed going down under Harry Ghaul's deep kickoffs and he had passed along the information to Coach Jordan Olivar who mapped out a "perfect maneuver" for returning the boot all the way.

Incidentally, Charles Eckles, who was head linesman for the game, said Polidor's feet were inches shy of the out-of-bounds line when he caught the kick and that he ought to be credited for a run of 109¾ yards.

Hotels Report Sellout For Saturday's Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Football's annual battle of the titans, the Army-Notre Dame game, has resulted in a sellout for the City's hotels with every room reserved the Hotel Association of New York said today.

The association had only one suggestion for out-of-towners intent on coming to the city without reservations: bring cots along and set them up in a parking lot.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

Notre Dame's Best Bet

Red Smith, assistant coach of the football Giants and the Chicago Cubs, a former Notre Dame football star, one of the ablest men we know in sport, had one important point to offer in connection with the Army-Notre Dame meeting on Saturday.

Here was Red's angle: "On form and copy paper Army rates slightly over Notre Dame, largely through greater team experience. But don't forget this—on a big day, in a big game, no single team in the country, year after year, can match Notre Dame with the will to win, the spirit of victory, the give everything you have—and something more.

"This has been a Notre Dame attribute since an underrated Notre Dame team with Dorais and Rockat West Point some 30 years ago, at West Point some 0 years ago. Army has all the spirit that Notre Dame or any other team has. No team ever fights harder than Army. But this time the incentive belongs to Notre Dame after those two terrible beatings in 1944 and 1945; 107 to 0 against Notre Dame. Don't forget what this means to Notre Dame. It can't mean as much to Army.

"And don't forget this," Red Smith continued. "Notre Dame has the manpower. No Davis. No Blanchard. But wave after wave. And all good. Army will need a nice lead before the fourth quarter starts. For, unless they are supermen, this will be a worn, tired and battered Army team by that time; for in clean, hard play—and I mean hard play—Army will get more jolts than it has ever known.

"This time Army will be matched in manpower, man for man, and here Notre Dame has the call. Notre Dame can afford to lose men that Army can't. The weather can make a big difference. Army has the speed—Notre Dame, the driving power. A wet field or rain goes with driving power over speed. A rainy day or a wet ball will certainly hurt Lujack. But it will also affect Tucker and Davis in the passing game. A rainy day will hurt Army's passing attack more than it will Notre Dame's. Army has one of the most varied and one of the most effective passing attacks in football — three fine passers and four fine pass receivers. What team can match that? I know Notre Dame can't. I'll have to ride with Notre Dame manpower and Notre Dame spirit on a big day. But I wouldn't bet even a dime on the result, if I were a betting man."

These are words to consider if you haven't made up your mind. On a fairly dry field we still move along with Blanchard and Davis.

The Round Up

ARMY-NOTRE DAME: The toughest of all Army-Notre Dame games to pick. Denny Myers of Boston College says Notre Dame by 20 or more points. Our western scouts say Notre Dame by 14 points. We like Army's team-play experience over Notre Dame's bulge in manpower. Army by 7 points.

COLUMBIA - PENNSYLVANIA: Here Pennsylvania has all the edge in manpower, line play and surplus backs. Penn was rated just back of Army and Notre Dame until Princeton swiped the atomic bomb, undoubtedly tipped off by Professor Einstein. Both are due for a rebound. Pennsylvania by 10 points.

NAVY-GEORGIA TECH: Navy's battered team gets no breathers. At least Georgia Tech, one of the best in the South, won't be any such animal. Georgia Tech by 19 points.

HARVARD-DARTMOUTH: Harvard due to resume her winning ways again by 14 points.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA-CALIFORNIA: A West Coast headliner. Southern California improving. A 10 point margin for USC.

WAKE FOREST - DUKE: Wake Forest, conquerors of Tennessee with only a single defeat, has a slight edge. Wallace Wade has already dropped four games and is due for a rebound. Wake Forest by 7 points.

Cornell is picked over Syracuse in a good game and Yale has the call over Brown by 19 points. Princeton may be due for a slump but the Tiger has a 20-point margin over Virginia.

L.S.U. - ALABAMA: One of the big games of the South. Alabama has the call in a hard game against a strong opponent. Albama by 7 points.

We like Boston College over Georgetown, 14 points; and Rutgers over Lafayette, 19 points.

West Virginia is far too strong for Fordham. Around 30 points.

Penn State is picked over Temple and Colgate over Holy Cross.

GEORGIA - FLORIDA: Unbeaten and untied Georgia is too good for Florida with Trippi operating. Georgia by 24 points.

U.C.L.A.-OREGON: Unbeaten and untied U.C.L.A. leading the Rose Bowl march looks to be 21 points above Oregon, beaten badly by U.S.C.

NORTHWESTERN-INDIANA: An important Big Nine game. One that should be close. Northwestern by 7 points.

Tennessee is much too strong for Mississippi and Tulane has too much for Clemson.

Missouri is named over Colorado and Ohio State has a 19-point margin over Pittsburgh. South Carolina is called over Maryland and Michigan is around 19 points above Michigan State. North Carolina State looks about 14 points above Vanderbilt.

Ben Hogan Takes North-South Open Title With 282

Beats Snead And Turnesa By Two Strokes; Adds $1,500 To Winnings

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 7 (AP) — Shooting consistent sub-par Golf Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., won the 45th annual North and South Open Golf Tournament today with a six-under-par 282. It was his third victory in the event and added $1,500 to his winnings, already tops for the touring pros.

Hogan won over Sammy Snead of Hot Springs, Va., and Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N. Y., who deadlocked for second with 284.

Hogan had consecutive rounds of 71-71-70-70 over the country club's 6,879-yard No. 2 course to live up to his role of favorite.

He entered the 36-hole finals today trailing Mike Turnesa by one stroke and Dutch Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., by two.

Snead birdied the first hole of the final round to take a three stroke lead over Turnesa, with whom he was paired. However, the latter took only ten putts on the first nine and with three birdies had 33 while Snead slipped to 37. Turnesa picked up five strokes in the last six holes of the first nine, putting him two strokes up on the Virginian.

Snead birdied the short 16th while Turnesa was one over, to square matters, and they parred the last two. Turnesa hit his drive into a trap on the 17th and blasted out 100 yards short of the green while Snead was on in two. Snead two-putted, but Turnesa knocked in a 15-foot putt to tie him.

Hogan, two holes back, then had to shoot a 71 to win by a stroke. He finished one better than that with a 35 on each side of the long layout despite the rain which fell during most of the final round.

He was three under through six holes, but went one over on the next two holes. He parred the remaining ten with exception of a birdie at the 16th.

Harison came in with 73 for a 289 total and fourth place, leaving only Hogan, Turnesa and Snead with subpar totals.

Ed Furgol was fifth with 291, one stroke in Front of Dai Rees, one of two British pros entered, and Stan Horne of Montreal.

Green Is Favorite

AKRON, O., Nov. 7 (AP)—Welterweight Johnny Green of Buffalo, N. Y., victor over Joe Curcio, Izzy Jannazzo and California Jackie Wilson, will be the 7 to 5 favorite to topple Jerome Frazier, stablemate of Sugar Ray Robinson, in a feature 10-rounder here tomorrow night.

Unbeaten Elevens Shift Grid Game To Philadelphia

Muhlenberg And Delaware Will Clash Nov. 23 At Shibe Park

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Nov. 23 football game between Muhlenberg College and the University of Delaware, two of the nation's finest small college teams, may be moved to Philadelphia's 40,000-seat Shibe Park to satisfy the thousands who want to see the battle.

Both team are heavily favored to defeat their next two foes and come up to this game with undefeated records. Muhlenberg has amassed 199 points to 47 in six victories while Delaware has overpowered seven straight foes scoring 229 points against only 12.

The Blue Hens of Delaware, who haven't tasted defeat in their last 28 games dating back to 1940, face one of their toughest adversaries of the season Saturday in Bucknell University, which has come back to win three straight after dropping its first three. Then Delaware must get past a lightly-regarded Washington College (Md) team.

Muhlenberg has an easier prospect against Gettysburg and Moravian College, both with lukewarm records.

The Muhlenberg-Delaware game is scheduled for Wilmington Park, Del., which can seat only 5,000 fans. Officials at Mulhenberg reported that thousands of others are seeking seats and in order to accommodate them, the game may be moved to the Philadelhia baseball park.

De Paul Will Play 25 Basketball Games

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP) — De Paul University's basketball team, ranked one of the nation's top collegiate quintets last season, this season will play a 25-game schedule, listing opponents from 13 different states and 12 appearances at Chicago Stadium.

On the stadium double-header program in which De Paul cooperates with Northwestern, the Blue Demons will face Oklahoma A & M, North Carolina, Kentucky, Texas, Notre Dame, Rice Institute, Micnigan State, Loyola of Chicago, Marquette, Bradley, Kansas and possibly Bowling Green of Ohio.

Missouri trappers and fur hunters took 625,241 pelts of all species during the 1945-46 season and them for $1,280,233.

Cadets Increase Lead In Race For Trophy

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Penn's defeat by Princeton last weekend cost it heavily in the Quakers' race with Army for the Lambert Trophy, an award given annually to the team rated the strongest in the east.

Army, winner of the trophy for the past two years, was only one point ahead of Pennsylvania in last week's compilation of votes cast by a tribunal of sports writers and broadcasters. Now the Cadets lead by seven, 987 to 980. Boston College is third with 979.

Dudley To Get Rest

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 (AP)—Coach Jock Sutherland hopes to be able to give his badly battered ace, Halfback Bill Dudley, a well-earned rest when the Pittsburgh Steelers engage the Detroit Lions at Detroit Sunday.

Sutherland intends to use Johnny Clement in Dudley's place in the Steeler backfield if the Pittsburgh club can function efficiently with the change.

Horsemen Demand Apology From State

Brann And Labrot Condemn Actions Of Racing Group

Declare False Charges Against Trainers Is Stain On Racing

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—Two prominent Maryland horsemen in an open letter to Governor O'Conor today demanded "an apology from some responsible official of the state" and told the executive "it is your duty to terminate the disgraceful and outrageous manner in which the affairs of the Maryland Racing Commission are being conducted."

The letter was signed by W. L. Brann of Glade Valley Farm, Frederick, and Sylvester W. Labrot, Jr., Hackett's Point Farm, Annapolis, whose trainers were suspended by the racing commission a year ago in connection with alleged horse "doping" cases at Pimlico.

It declared that Brann's trainer, Edward A. Christmas, and Clay Sutphin Labrot's trainer, as well as the owners, had "suffered under the false charges and reckless actions of your commission."

Letter Is Withheld

The letter was withheld, until after the election, the horsemen said, "so as to make sure it could not be used for political purposes in Maryland." O'Conor was the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, and had appointed George P. Mahoney chairman of the racing commission. The Brann-Labrot letter served to emphasize the turmoil that has embroiled Maryland racing.

Last year saliva samples, previously sent to the New York Racing Commission chemist, suddenly were switched to a Pennsylvania chemist, and within a few days five different trainers were suspended. The new biological test with use of white mice was termed unreliable by the horsemen.

They carried the case to the Maryland Court of Appeals, where the racing commission rule making trainers absolutely responsible for their horses was declared arbitrary and invalid.

The commission later reinstated Christmas and Sutphin and returned the winning purses of the horses involved to Brann and Labrot.

"These unfounded and unjustified charges have now been completely abandoned and dropped by the commission, without a word of apology or regret, although the fact is the commission never had any evidence of violation whatever against either the owners or trainers," the printed, 20 page letter to O'Conor said.

It was included in a 92-page booklet which contained a report by the horsemen's chemist, bills of complaint, opinions of the circuit court and court of appeals and the racing commission's answer.

Says Evidence Insufficient

"The truth is that the commission had no more evidence against our trainers than against us, and the commission's rather grandiose manner of handing out acquittals and convictions, without evidence sufficient to sustain findings either way, is but another illustration of the ignorant, irresponsible, reckless and illegal manner in which the affairs of this agency of the state are being administered," the letter said.

"The stain on racing in Maryland will take years to eradicate. Owners are jeopardizing their good names and their investments in racing when they bring their horses into Maryland, and their trainers are jeopardizing their reputations and means of livelihood.

"We believe we have made a substantial contribution to racing in Maryland and we cannot, so far as we are personally concerned, leave the ugly mess created by your racing commission where it now is."

DRIVER AT 63 — Although she's 63 and a grandmother, Mrs. Forrest Burright, above, of Oregon, Ill., continues to drive in harness races and wins, too. Mrs. Burright recently drove her speedy pacer, Puzette, to a triumph in a seven-horse pace at Northville Downs, Mich. Mrs. Burright is the mother of seven children and has been driving for 30 years.

Earshot Captures Pimlico Handicap

Helis Filly Wins By Neck Over Nomadic To Cop $9,975 Purse

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—Earshot, a 3-year-old daughter of Petrose and Hermana, owned by William G. Helis, New Orleans' sportsman, showed her fondness for the Pimlico strip when she was a neck victor in the tenth running of the Lady Baltimore Handicap, feature event here today. A. G. Vanderbilt's Nomadic was second a half length to the good of Calumet Farm's Good Blood while the Argentine bred Rosa Blanca racing in the colors of Boone Hall Stable, was fourth in the field of eleven fillies and mares.

Approximately 13,000 fans were on hand as the field went postward. A fast track prevailed although there was a slight drizzle. Earshot picked up $9,975 and brought her total earnings for the year to $38,645. She was second in the Pimlico Oaks this spring and came off that effort to win the Acorn Stakes at Belmont Park.

Earshot was given a good ride by Larney Hansman.

Completely overlooked in the betting, Earshot paid $35.30 straight. The running time for the mile and sixteenth was 1:45 4-5.

Musial Retracts Banquet Remarks

Stan Says He's Never Given Serious Thought To 1947 Salary

DONORA, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—Stan Musial credited himself with an error today for a "hot stove league" discussion of a price tag on future services with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals which would put him into baseball's top player-pay bracket.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said Musial declared a report that he would seek $100,000 for a three-year stint was not authorized by him but that he "intimated he would seek a sum in excess of $30,000 a year."

The Sun-Telegraph's baseball writer, Charles J. (Chilly) Doyle said Musial "may become the National League's No. 1 holdout" and "was out for a long contract x x x and a big boost in pay."

Musial's remarks were made at a banquet given him here last night by his home town friends.

Today, however, Musial said he was merely "batting the breeze" in the discussion.

"I've never given a serious thought to next year's salary," Stan confessed. "This embarrasses me because it's created something unfortunate. Baseball still is a long way off and I don't think this is the time to discuss it. I'm afraid it was a little premature."

Horsemen Demand Apology From State

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—Two prominent Maryland horsemen in an open letter to Governor O'Conor today demanded "an apology from some responsible official of the state" and told the executive "it is your duty to terminate the disgraceful and outrageous manner in which the affairs of the Maryland Racing Commission are being conducted."

The letter was signed by W. L. Brann of Glade Valley Farm, Frederick, and Sylvester W. Labrot, Jr., Hackett's Point Farm, Annapolis, whose trainers were suspended by the racing commission a year ago in connection with alleged horse "doping" cases at Pimlico.

It declared that Brann's trainer, Edward A. Christmas, and Clay Sutphin Labrot's trainer, as well as the owners, had "suffered under the false charges and reckless actions of your commission."

Letter Is Withheld

The letter was withheld, until after the election, the horsemen said, "so as to make sure it could not be used for political purposes in Maryland." O'Conor was the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, and had appointed George P. Mahoney chairman of the racing commission. The Brann-Labrot letter served to emphasize the turmoil that has embroiled Maryland racing.

Last year saliva samples, previously sent to the New York Racing Commission chemist, suddenly were switched to a Pennsylvania chemist, and within a few days five different trainers were suspended. The new biological test with use of white mice was termed unreliable by the horsemen.

They carried the case to the Maryland Court of Appeals, where the racing commission rule making trainers absolutely responsible for their horses was declared arbitrary and invalid.

The commission later reinstated Christmas and Sutphin and returned the winning purses of the horses involved to Brann and Labrot.

"These unfounded and unjustified charges have now been completely abandoned and dropped by the commission, without a word of apology or regret, although the fact is the commission never had any evidence of violation whatever against either the owners or trainers," the printed, 20 page letter to O'Conor said.

It was included in a 92-page booklet which contained a report by the horsemen's chemist, bills of complaint, opinions of the circuit court and court of appeals and the racing commission's answer.

Says Evidence Insufficient

"The truth is that the commission had no more evidence against our trainers than against us, and the commission's rather grandiose manner of handing out acquittals and convictions, without evidence sufficient to sustain findings either way, is but another illustration of the ignorant, irresponsible, reckless and illegal manner in which the affairs of this agency of the state are being administered," the letter said.

"The stain on racing in Maryland will take years to eradicate. Owners are jeopardizing their good names and their investments in racing when they bring their horses into Maryland, and their trainers are jeopardizing their reputations and means of livelihood.

"We believe we have made a substantial contribution to racing in Maryland and we cannot, so far as we are personally concerned, leave the ugly mess created by your racing commission where it now is."

Earshot Captures Pimlico Handicap

Helis Filly Wins By Neck Over Nomadic To Cop $9,975 Purse

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—Earshot, a 3-year-old daughter of Petrose and Hermana, owned by William G. Helis, New Orleans' sportsman, showed her fondness for the Pimlico strip when she was a neck victor in the tenth running of the Lady Baltimore Handicap, feature event here today. A. G. Vanderbilt's Nomadic was second a half length to the good of Calumet Farm's Good Blood while the Argentine bred Rosa Blanca racing in the colors of Boone Hall Stable, was fourth in the field of eleven fillies and mares.

Approximately 13,000 fans were on hand as the field went postward. A fast track prevailed although there was a slight drizzle. Earshot picked up $9,975 and brought her total earnings for the year to $38,645. She was second in the Pimlico Oaks this spring and came off that effort to win the Acorn Stakes at Belmont Park.

Earshot was given a good ride by Larney Hansman.

Completely overlooked in the betting, Earshot paid $35.30 straight. The running time for the mile and sixteenth was 1:45 4-5.

Musial Retracts Banquet Remarks

Stan Says He's Never Given Serious Thought To 1947 Salary

DONORA, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—Stan Musial credited himself with an error today for a "hot stove league" discussion of a price tag on future services with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals which would put him into baseball's top player-pay bracket.

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said Musial declared a report that he would seek $100,000 for a three-year stint was not authorized by him but that he "intimated he would seek a sum in excess of $30,000 a year."

The Sun-Telegraph's baseball writer, Charles J. (Chilly) Doyle said Musial "may become the National League's No. 1 holdout" and "was out for a long contract x x x and a big boost in pay."

Musial's remarks were made at a banquet given him here last night by his home town friends.

Today, however, Musial said he was merely "batting the breeze" in the discussion.

"I've never given a serious thought to next year's salary," Stan confessed. "This embarrasses me because it's created something unfortunate. Baseball still is a long way off and I don't think this is the time to discuss it. I'm afraid it was a little premature."

Harold E. Stassen is to sit in the answer seat for the Meet the Press Interview of MBS at 10:30.

From the Marine corps birthday ball at Toledo, Ohio, ABC is to pick up the music of Sonny Dunham's band for 25 minutes at 12:30 a. m. . . . Earlier NBC at 10:45 p. m. will interview Gen. A. A. Vandergrift, Marine commandant.

Fighting Fighters Get Back On Air In Tonight's Match

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 — Figthing fighters get back on the air Friday via voice relay when ABC at 10 again puts its microphone down at the ringside in New York. The event is another welterweighter, pitting Bernard Bocusen against Vince La Salva.

Frank Sinatra, making a round of guestings, shows up in the Durante and Moore show of CBS at 9:30. It's in a return for a visit Durante paid to his broadcast this week.

Jim Ameche, performing the lead in the newly created Love Story Theater of MBS at 8:30, is billed in "A Voyage to Beshtara." In this one there seems to be more adventure than love.

Pacing along the drama lanes, comes the Mystery Theater at 10 on NBC. It is to be the postponed appearance of Bert Lytell. The particular thriller is listed as "Not Quite Perfect." . . . Then there's the NBC World's Great Novels at 11:30, which will be going into part II of "Anna Karenina."

A soprano from Seattle, Wash., now in Hollywood, will come forth with the singing for Meredith Wilson's music of CBS at 7:30. She's Jean Nelson.

Harold E. Stassen is to sit in the answer seat for the Meet the Press Interview of MBS at 10:30.

From the Marine corps birthday ball at Toledo, Ohio, ABC is to pick up the music of Sonny Dunham's band for 25 minutes at 12:30 a. m. . . . Earlier NBC at 10:45 p. m. will interview Gen. A. A. Vandergrift, Marine commandant.

In Memoriam

Sibley—In loving memory of our Mother and Grandmother, Mrs. Minnie I. Sibley, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 7, 1945.

Dear Mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.

SON, DAUGHTER-IN-LAW AND GRANDCHILDREN.
11-7-1t-TN

In loving memory of our daughter, Joyce Lee (Rusty) Garlitz, who passed away four years ago, Nov. 8, 1942.

Gone, dear Rusty, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left to remember,
None on earth can take your place.

How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

MOTHER & FATHER,
MR. AND MRS. GILBERT GARLITZ,
AND GRANDPARENTS.
11-8-1t-N

SINGLETON, Peggy—Died November 8, 1943.

Nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.

Sadly missed by her,
MOTHER, BROTHER AND AUNTS.
11-8-1t-N

In loving memory of our Father, Jacob W. Whitacre, who died six years ago today, November 8.

It was on one Friday morning
Just six years ago today,
I held you in my arms
And I saw you pass away.

I fed you at the table
And I tucked you into bed,
And when it was rising time
I gently bathed your head.

I did my best, God only knows,
I tried to fulfill all your wishes,
And if I failed in any way,
I hope I'll be forgiven.

Sadly missed by his daughter,
MRS. SARAH OLIVER
AND FAMILY.

PICKED MEN WANTED
for interesting work in Japan
ALL EXPENSES PAID AND
$90 PER MONTH

U. S. Army Ground Forces units now on peacetime duty in the Far East include some of the most famous combat divisions of the war. The First Cavalry Division, for example, now mechanized in Japan, made an unforgetable record. It was the first U. S. unit that reached Manila and Tokyo, and received Distinguished Unit citations for action on Los Negros, Kwajalein and Leyte.

Picked young men who can meet the high standards of the Regular Army, and who enlist for three years, can now join this great division, after initial training in the U. S., and help enforce peace in the Orient.

Service in the Far East today provides excellent living conditions and recreation facilities. Sightseeing is encouraged. Swimming pools, athletic fields, well-equipped clubs are available to soldiers. Overseas pay, 20% higher than at home, starts at $90 a month for a Private, plus food, clothing, quarters, medical and dental care and other benefits. Enlistments open to men 18 to 34 inclusive (17 with parents' consent). Full details at U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 111 Union St., Cumberland, Md. 11-8-1t-N

THE FAMILY.
11-8-1t-N

We wish to thank our neighbors, friends and relatives for their acts of love and sympathy during the recent loss of our beloved husband and Father, Edward W. Valentine. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

MRS. EDWARD VALENTINE,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS.

In Memoriam

Sibley—In loving memory of our Mother and Grandmother, Mrs. Minnie I. Sibley, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 7, 1945.

Dear Mother, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.

SON, DAUGHTER-IN-LAW AND GRANDCHILDREN.
11-7-1t-TN

In loving memory of our daughter, Joyce Lee (Rusty) Garlitz, who passed away four years ago, Nov. 8, 1942.

Gone, dear Rusty, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left to remember,
None on earth can take your place.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

MOTHER & FATHER,
MR. AND MRS. GILBERT GARLITZ
AND GRANDPARENTS.
11-8-1t-N

SINGLETON, Peggy—Died November 8, 1943.
You're not forgotten, darling,
Nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.

Sadly missed by her,
MOTHER, BROTHER AND AUNTS
11-8-1t-N

In loving memory of our Father, Jacob W. Whitacre, who died six years ago today, November 8.

It was on one Friday morning
Just six years ago today,
I held you in my arms
And I saw you pass away.

I fed you at the table
And I tucked you into bed,
And when it was rising time
I gently bathed your head.

I did my best, God only knows,
I tried to fulfill all your wishes,
And if I failed in any way,
I hope I'll be forgiven.

Sadly missed by his daughter,
MRS. SARAH OLIVER
AND FAMILY.

PICKED MEN WANTED
for interesting work in Japan
$90 PER MONTH

U. S. Army Ground Forces units now on peacetime duty in the Far East include some of the most famous combat divisions of the war. The First Cavalry Division, for example, now mechanized in Japan, made an unforgetable record. It was the first U. S. unit that reached Manila and Tokyo, and received Distinguished Unit citations for action on Los Negros, Kwajalein and Leyte.

Picked young men who can meet the high standards of the Regular Army, and who enlist for three years, can now join this great division, after initial training in the U. S., and help enforce peace in the Orient.

Service in the Far East today provides excellent living conditions and recreation facilities. Sightseeing is encouraged. Swimming pools, athletic fields, well-equipped clubs are available to soldiers. Overseas pay, 20% higher than at home, starts at $90 a month for a Private, plus food, clothing, quarters, medical and dental care and other benefits. Enlistments open to men 18 to 34 inclusive (17 with parents' consent). Full details at U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 111 Union St., Cumberland, Md. 11-8-1t-N

Official Canvass Makes Changes In County Returns

D'Conor Picks Up 10 Votes; Reed Leads Six Delegate Winners

Although the official count changed the unofficial total vote received by all but two candidates in Tuesday's general election, two by more than 2,000, the canvass, completed at 10 o'clock last night, made no difference in the outcome of the balloting from the standpoint of successful candidates.

One change, however, reduced by 10 the majority by which Gen. D. John Markey, Republican, carried the county over his Democratic opponent for the United States Senate, Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor.

O'Conor last night appeared to have defeated Markey in their close state-wide battle, and the official canvass here gave him a margin of 10 more votes. Markey's official vote in this county is 12,366 to 10,401 for O'Conor, a majority of 1,965 votes. The governor's vote was not changed by the official count.

In the contest for House of Representatives from the Sixth District, Rep. Glenn Beall lost 77 votes in this county to his Democratic opponent, Arch McDonald, but this loss was more than offset by the fact that Beall, a Republican, gained 998 votes in Washington County, a net gain for the two counties of 921 votes.

Beall actually picked up 24 votes in this county but McDonald gained 101, reducing Beall's majority to 5,588. However, the official count for the two counties plus the unofficial count from Garrett, Frederick and Montgomery counties gave Beall a majority of 14,890 votes in the district.

McKeldin Loses 46

The majority of Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin over Democrat William Preston Lane was reduced by 46 votes when McKeldin lost 59 in the official canvass and Lane lost 13. McKeldin's total amounted to 13,304 to Lane's 9,963, a majority of 3,341.

Doub Gains 1,079

Doub, in the official count picked up 999 votes, boosting his total to 13,841, while Hammond dropped 80 votes for a final total of 8,178.

The majority of Alexander T. Grier, Republican candidate for comptroller, over his Democrat opponent, James J. Lacy, remained the same, 3,619, in the official count, but the former dropped six votes and the latter picked up the same number. Their final totals are Grier 12,760, Lacy 9,141.

A. Charles Stewart, Republican register of wills-elect, increased his majority over Register of Wills Thomas E. Stakem, Democrat, by 229 votes on the strength of picking up 184 in the official canvass while Stakem lost 45. Stewart's total vote was 13,138 to 9,624 for Stakem, a majority of 3,514.

In the contest of the state senate, Senator Robert B. Kimble, Republican, picked up 279 votes while his Democratic opponent, Thomas B. Finan, lost 103, increasing the incumbent's margin 382 votes to 5,108. Kimble polled 13,840 to 8,732 for Finan.

Two Results Unchanged

Besides Gov. O'Conor, the unofficial vote reported for Charles N. (Jerry) Wilkinson in the balloting for county commissioner was the only one to remain unchanged in the official canvass. Wilkinson's total of 16,166 remainded the same but William H. Lemmert, who topped the ticket, increased his total by 26 votes to 16,559. The vote for James Holmes, third successful candidate for county commissioner, tallied 13,400, an increase of 21. Samuel T. Weatherholt, only Democrat opposing the three Republicans lost one vote, his total dropping to 8,229. He was defeated.

The biggest change in the standing of candidates was noted in the House of Delegates contest, with the official count putting Republican Incumbent Lester B. Reed in front of the eight-man race. In the unofficial count Reed finished fourth.

Reed picked up 581 votes to boost his total to 14,470. Noel Speir Cook,

Unions May Place "Hot Cargo" Label On Virginia Poultry

A showdown in the joint drive of Local 453, Teamsters Union, and Local 387, Meat Cutters Union, to organize the poultry industry of the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia has been threatened for the week before Thanksgiving, according to the Trade Union Courier, an AFL publication.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of the local Teamsters union, and Lester E. Travers, of the Meat Cutters International, the article said, have served notice upon some 40 poultry producers and commission firms that their produce will be declared "hot cargo" unless contracts with the unions are signed by that date.

The unions have been working for several months to organize some 500 drivers and over 2,000 production workers employed in the industry.

Poultry Drivers Local 167 and Inland Warehouse Local 818 have pledged they will not deliver such cargo to the New York market or distribute the poultry products to retail outlets in that area, union officials were quoted as saying.

A union official here said the embargo would not mean that New Yorkers would go without poultry for Thanksgiving since, he said, the chief source of supply for that area is the nearby Del-Mar peninsula.

William Krapf, president of Local 332, Meat Cutters Union here, has been assisting in the drive with Mike Roth of the Meat Cutters international.

One Stephens City, Va., and a Winchester, Va., firm have already signed up with the union, officials said.

Woman Is Granted Partial Divorce At Court Hearing

Complainant Sought Absolute Divorce From Romney, W. Va., Man

Following an all-day hearing in Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge Walter C. Capper granted a partial divorce to Mrs. Thelma Darr, Cumberland, from Robert Darr, Romney, W. Va. She also was awarded the custody of five children, all under 16.

Mrs. Darr had filed suit for an absolute divorce on grounds of desertion and cruelty, and Darr on a cross-bill accused her of desertion.

Married in 1921, the couple lived near Romney until she left him because of his cruel treatment on September 9, 1942, and came to Cumberland, according to testimony.

It was testified that Mrs. Darr went back to Romney from time to time to look after the children and lived with her husband occasionally until June 19, 1945, when she came to Cumberland for medical treatment. The children, it was said, have been living with her since about June 1946.

Mrs. Darr said her husband beat her on numerous occasions, was continually drunk and failed to properly support her and the children.

Darr, however, denied her accusations and said that he suffered from infantile paralysis and was able to do but little work.

In Judge Capper's oral opinion he held that Mrs. Darr was not entitled to an absolute divorce since there was no continuous separation or abandonment for 18 months as required by statute.

While requiring the defendant to pay the costs of the proceedings, Judge Capper said he would not

Flook Postpones Decision On Port Restaurant Plan

Commission Proposes Three Amendments To Lease Agreement

Amendments to a proposed lease agreement regarding the construction and operation of a restaurant at the Cumberland Municipal Airport by Harry E. Flook, Jr., were discussed at a meeting of the Municipal Airport Commission last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Flook, who attended the meeting with Roland W. Hamilton, said he will study the amendments and notify the commission within a week as to his decision. He said Hamilton will represent him in the event further discussions are held and he is unable to attend.

Amendments Listed

The amendments, submitted in writing by Thomas Lohr Richards, local attorney and a commission member, provide that all activities under the lease agreement will be subject to approval by the commission, representing the city, as well as by Cumberland Airways, Incorporated, which operates the field on a lease from the city.

Specifically, the three amendments state that Flook may not use the restaurant building for any other purpose than that specified in the lease; that the commission will have the same right to cancel the lease as Cumberland Airways; and that the commission may cancel the lease whenever it decides that the welfare of the port will be advanced by so doing.

Edmund S. Burke, commission chairman, explained that the third amendment is deemed necessary because of possible future expansion at the airport, which may involve construction of a permanent administration building and leasing of restaurant facilities by an airline.

Although the commission is willing to aid Flook as much as possible, Burke said, he pointed out that the group must remain in a "flexible position" until permanent operation is established, to protect the city's interests.

Arthur J. Weber said it may be several years before the hill at the port is removed, making room for a permanent administration building, and Flook said he hopes to get a full return on his initial investment in two years' time.

Questions regarding estimated cost of building and equipping the restaurant, Flook said that he is still waiting for the contractor to give him an estimate, but that his total investment will probably be less than $10,000.

John A. Chapman, airport manager for Cumberland Airways, said that in the event a major airline does not offer to operate here and build a permanent structure, William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of the corporation, plans to construct the building. Flook would then have first chance to apply for the restaurant concession in the new building, Chapman added.

The commission agreed that the concellation clause should provide for six months' notice to Flook.

Mayor Post suggested that the commission might reimburse Flook for any loss in the event he does not get a return on his investment before other arrangements for the restaurant concession are made, but Burke said the commission could not make any such commitment, and suggested that Flook might work out an arrangement with Cumberland Airways in regard to rental procedure.

Local Resident Forced To Wait Several Months To Read Letter

Finnish Legation Supplies Translation For Miss Ruth Lester

Most persons, when they get mail, are anxious to read it immediately, and Miss Ruth Lester is no exception. But she had to wait until yesterday before reading a letter she received several months ago.

Miss Lester, one of the operators in a local beauty shop, knitted a sweater two years ago under the production program of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross. The sweater was among other articles of clothing shipped to destitute countries overseas.

On May 27 of this year, Mrs. Elsa Ollikainen, who received Miss Lester's sweater, sat down and wrote a letter of thanks from her home in Kokkola, Linnuspera, Finland.

The airmail letter reached Cumberland a short time later, but Miss Lester could find no one able to read Finnish, although she inquired at the local library and the high schools.

Finally, she sent the letter to the Legation of Finland in Washington, D. C., and received an English translation yesterday from the legation secretary, Olavi Munkki.

The letter, addressing her as "Dear Unknown Friend," said: "I thank you heartily for the Red Cross clothing-gift, which was so welcome for me, a needy Karelian emigrant. It was the first time that I received one of the gifts from you who are so far away. How happy we are that our Finland is being remembered and helped, now undergoing so many difficulties. It was a pleasure to receive your address, so I can personally thank you."

Mrs. Ollikainen went on to say that her husband is a painter, and that they have a 7-year-old son.

"The children here have not even seen chocolate and other delicacies during the past seven years, which have been war years in Finland," she wrote. "There is a shortage of most foodstuffs, everything is rationed; the same is true of clothing, which are difficult to obtain. Clothing is such a welcome gift from America for those of us here who are so in need of wearing apparel."

Miss Lester plans to reply to the letter with the assistance of the Finnish legation.

Celanese Position On Seniority Is Upheld In Award

Arbitrator Says Company Was Justified In Discharging Employe

The position of the Celanese Corporation of America was upheld by Sidney A. Wolff, New York arbitrator, in awards from hearings on disputes between the company and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in connection with the discharge of Joseph Patsy and the seniority ratings of some 1,000 employes of the spinning department of the Amcelle plant.

In the first award, released to the press by Edward A. Allan, personnel manager of the Celanese plant, Wolff points out that a working agreement, not in writing, was reached in 1937 concerning the seniority status of the 9,000 employes of the plant on the basic plan that each employe was to be granted seniority in the subdivision in which he was assigned and working on January 1, 1937, and that his seniority was to date from the first day of employment in the plant except that the seniority date of any employe absent for any reason for nine months or more prior to January, 1937, was to be the date of his re-employment after such absence and not the date of his original employment.

Union Asked Change

The union was seeking, the brief stated, to have seniority status of the people transferred to spinning prior to 1937 redetermined in accordance with the seniority provisions of the present contract dated September 30, 1945.

That agreement provides that on permanent transfer from one division or subdivision to another, an employe loses his seniority already earned and takes seniority as of the date of transfer.

In the case, involving seniority ratings of about 1,000 employes of the spinning department of the Amcelle plant, the arbitrator disallowed the union position that the provisions of the present contract providing for a two year cut-off period in determining seniority be applied retroactively to 1937.

To allow the union's request, Wolff said, would mean that the seniority ratings of the employes would be computed in a manner different from that in which ratings are computed throughout the rest of the plant.

A seniority system, he added, truly to be effective, "ought to be applied on the same basis throughout a plant" and added "no valid reason has been presented to justify a departure from that system insofar as the spinning people are concerned."

He added further that to change the method of computing seniority ratings of spinning employes would affect the ratings of over 600 persons prior to January 1, 1937 and would result in the loss to about 120 persons the average of 149 places on the seniority lists while 507 other employes would gain an average of 34 places.

Rights Are Valuable

"The seniority rights of the minority," Wolff said, "have already vested. Those rights are valuable property rights and before they may be impaired, it must clearly appear that the parties intended that result when the various agreements were made."

The arbitrator paid tribute to the union, whose position favored the majority, for allowing full participation of the minority who, if the union's pasition were sustained, would have been adversely affected.

Although the union, through its counsel, presented its contentions on behalf of the majority, never-

Dr. Rav Visits Several City Offices For Survey

Dr. Joseph M. Ray, of the University of Maryland, is spending several days in Cumberland to gather additional material for a survey of Cumberland's municipal government, which he is making at the request of Mayor Thomas S. Post and the City Council.

Dr. Ray visited the Water Department office, the department warehouse, and the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday, and conferred with members of the Board of Civil Service Commissioners. In the afternoon he attended a special meeting of the board of directors of the Evitts Creek Water Company at the invitation of Mayor Post, who is vice president and a director of the company.

After returning to College Park tomorrow, according to present plans, Dr. Ray does not expect to be able to revisit Cumberland until some time next month because of the press of other duties. He is head of the Department of Government and Politics of the College of Business and Public Administration at the university.

Towner Stresses State's Wealth In Scenic Values

Kiwanis Speaker Urges Wide Participation In Conservation

Asserting that nature has endowed Maryland with vast resources and that the wealth of the state is enormous if handled properly, Merle E. Towner, of Baltimore, general purchasing agent for the Western Maryland Railway Company, told members of the Kiwanis Club in an address at Central YMCA yesterday that we must not throw our resources away, and to destroy them is not only wanton but cowardly.

Pointing out that by proper conservation soil, forests, water, coal, marble and brick can be replaced, he declared that we must give as well as take from land, forests, and mines and that we must not throw away the resources God has given the state.

Urges Partnership

Speaking on the subject "Conservation And Perpetuation Of The Natural Resources of Maryland," Towner said that we as citizens should be partners with out city, county, state and nation in affairs of government, because all of us, he said, are affected by what happens in our state.

Asserting that he had traveled all over the United States as well as abroad, Towner told the Kiwanians that nowhere in the world could any prettier scenery be found than right here in Western Maryland. He said that the scenic values of the state are teeming with wealth if managed properly.

Lashing out at pollution of Maryland streams, Towner declared that we "have a right to demand clean and unpolluted streams in the state and we should see to it that we get them." He added that there should be more oysters, crabs and fish taken from Maryland water and with proper conservation we should get five times as many oysters as are now being taken, three times as many crabs and much more fish.

Conservation Termed Vital

Prevention of soil erosion, conservation of forests and wildlife and prevention of stream pollution are absolutely necessary in Maryland, Towner asserted. He said that conservation means building up and to protect the resources of the state it is imperative that conservation be practiced.

Towner told of the creation of the Board of Natural Resourses in Maryland and outlined some of the work it is doing, explaining its program for the future. He touched on forests and parks and said that new timber-cutting practices have been put into effect which will mean much to conservation of forests. He spoke of the research and educational work going on in the state in the conservation field and added that school children are now being told what is happening and can happen in conservation of natural resources.

Part of his address was devoted to the work being done by the Soil Conservation Service. He said there are now 22 conservation districts in the state. Many farmers in Maryland, he added, are now practicing soil and water conservation, are using contour and strip cultivation and are protecting their woodlands and wildlife.

Guests at the meeting included Dr. Joseph Ray and Edward Davis, of the University of Maryland.

Local Man Buys 291-Acre Tract Near Lake Koon

$7,000 Paid By Morgret To Be Turned Over To City Account

A tract of land known as the Cooper farm property, comprising 291 acres near the upper end of Lake Koon dam in Bedford county, Pa. was sold to William D. Morgret, 338 Baltimore avenue, yesterday by the Evitts Creek Water Company, in a deed transaction held at a special meeting of the company's board of directors in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Purchase price was $7,000. On the motion of Richard C. Snyder, director-solicitor, it was voted to turn the money over to the city, to be placed in the water operating account. The motion was seconded by Mayor Post.

The special meeting was scheduled after it was decided at a previous board meeting two weeks ago to ask for sealed bids on the property and to open them November 7. The action was taken when George Henderson, local attorney, appeared at the earlier meeting to protest the board's procedure in arranging to convey the property to Morgret without asking for bids. No other bids were received, however.

In another motion at yesterday's meeting, Snyder suggested that a resolution be passed to amend the bylaws by stating that in the future no property owned by the Evitts Creek Water Company shall be sold except on the written recommendation of the Mayor and Council. The motion, seconded by Mayor Post, was passed unanimously, and the resolution will be voted at the next board meeting in January.

Morgret's offer of $7,000 for the Cooper farm property was previously recommended by Charles J. Bruce, superintendent of the company, and approved by the Mayor and Council at a meeting August 12. The property was purchased by the company in 1931 for $7,000.

George G. Young, president, presided at the meeting.

Two Runaways Are Held

Two Concord, N. H., youths, one 15 and the other 16, were picked up here yesterday morning at 4 o'clock by Officer C. C. Roby. Police said last night the parents of the runaway youths have been notified and are on their way here to return the boys to their homes.

ENGINEER—R. E. Small, of the Jet Propulsion Division of General Electric Company, Lynn, Mass., delivered an informative talk and illustrated lecture last night before members of Cumberland Engineering Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Small predicts that all commercial and military planes of the future will be high-speed jet propelled affairs.

R. E. Small Tells Engineers About Jet Propulsion

General Electric Expert Outlines Progress And Future Plans

Outlining new developments in power motivation, R. E. Small of the Jet Propulsion Division of the General Electric Company, Lynn, Mass., addressed members of the Cumberland Engineering Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club last night.

Introduced by the club president, Robert W. McGibbon, Small exhibited motion picture films and slides, showing the development of new jet propulsion motors and gave a resume of progress and a word-picture of things to come in the field.

He explained in detail the principal of jet propulsion and also showed various types of jet propulsion engines now in use, explaining the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Small predicted that in the future, most of the military planes and naval planes of this country, now in use will be replaced by some type of jet propulsion power plant.

Speeds up to 650 miles per hour have been obtained by this type of energy, he said, and further improvement in design and development of materials may step this figure ahead. Jet propelled planes operate best, fastest and most economically at high altitudes the speaker declared.

In the question period which followed his interesting lecture, Small said he believed jet propulsion would not be used on private planes for many years, because of maintenance and high initial cost. He also suggested that few private plane owners want such high speeds, and couldn't handle it if they had it.

He also said that jet propulsion is being viewed with interest by large commercial airlines, and considerable progress has been made in this field. The real opportunity for manufacturers, scientists and engineers, interested in the subject, lies in this large field. He declared that trans-oceanic and transcontinental air travel will soon utilize the principal of jet propulsion almost entirely.

Three new members were elected last night to the club's executive committee. They are Edgar Duke LaVale and James Thayer, Park Heights from the Kelly Springfield Tire Company and William Stearn, Karns avenue representing the Celanese Corporation of America.

The executive committee will meet November 20 and elect officers for the new year. The next meeting of the club will be held December 18.

Balch Transferred To Staunton Plant

Celanese Man Will Become Assistant Manager Of Weaving Mill

The transfer of Ralph H. Balch, of the research weaving department at the Celanese plant here, to the Staunton Textile Company, Staunton, Va., as assistant manager, was announced last night. The Staunton firm is a subsidiary of the Celanese Corporation.

Balch's transfer to the Staunton weaving mill, which employes about 500 workers, becomes effective November 18.

A native of New Hampshire, Balch has been associated with the textile business all his life, and was employed in the research department of Pacific Mills, Lawrence Mass., before coming to the Celanese plant here 15 years ago.

At the present time Mr. and Mrs. Balch and their two daughters live at Park Heights. The family intends to move to Staunton as soon as a home can be located there.

Court Is Unable To Select Jury For Cosner Trial

Case Continued Until Dec. 9; To Draw Jurors From Tucker County

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 7—After failure of repeated efforts to complete a jury panel of 20 men, Judge Ernest A. See, of Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday postponed the murder trial of Oscar Cosner, 36, until Monday, December 9, with instructions to call for a jury from Tucker county.

Under West Virginia law, Judge See explained, when it becomes evident at the discretion of the court, that a qualified jury cannot be found, a court order may be issued drawing a jury panel from another county.

Cosner's three defense attorneys argued that the procedure violated the jury trial amendment of the Constitution of the United States, and Section 14 of the West Virginia Constitution.

"We are insisting on a trial by jury in Mineral county, by a jury from Mineral county," defense counsel H. G. Shores declared.

Examined 96 Citizens

West Virginia Court procedure provides that 20 men must be selected for a panel, and of that number 12 are selected for the jury. After working all day Wednesday and throughout the forenoon today 19 men had been selected by the court for the panel. A total of 128 names had been drawn, and 96 of those appeared in court in answer to jury duty summons. Of this 96, the majority said they had already formed opinions in the case, and a few opposed capital punishment. Either reason automatically disqualified them.

After the 20 men are selected for a jury panel, then attorneys on either side have the right to challenge any or all of the jurors, and the court believed that few of the 19 would remain after this procedure was followed.

He declined to order the clerk to draw another 40 names from the jury box, repeating his assertion of Wednesday, "we are only wasting time."

Jurors summoned to court are paid mileage and by the day for the time served. Each of the 96 summoned was paid a day's pay by the county in addition to mileage.

Cosner Very Attentive

The defendant, Oscar Cosner, a letter carrier at the Keyser post office for several years and former student at Potomac State College, paid close attention to the procedure in court. Calm and composed, he followed each move closely and as each prospective juror was called, Cosner scrutinized him carefully.

The young man, accused by the state of beating his wife, Hazel Alt Cosner, to death with a baseball bat in the early morning hours of September 3, has been highly regarded in the community and is generally considered a highly intelligent and diligent young man.

When he appeared in court today, he was neatly attired in a blue suit with white pin stripes, was neatly

D'Conor Picks Up 10 Votes; Reed Leads Six Delegate Winners

Although the official count changed the unofficial total vote received by all but two candidates in Tuesday's general election, two by more than 2,000, the canvass, completed at 10 o'clock last night, made no difference in the outcome of the balloting from the standpoint of successful candidates.

One change, however, reduced by 10 the majority by which Gen. D. John Markey, Republican, carried the county over his Democratic opponent for the United States Senate, Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor.

O'Conor last night appeared to have defeated Markey in their close state-wide battle, and the official canvass here gave him a margin of 10 more votes. Markey's official vote in this county is 12,366 to 10,401 for O'Conor, a majority of 1,965 votes. The governor's vote was not changed by the official count.

In the contest for House of Representatives from the Sixth District, Rep. Glenn Beall lost 77 votes in this county to his Democratic opponent, Arch McDonald, but this loss was more than offset by the fact that Beall, a Republican, gained 998 votes in Washington County, a net gain for the two counties of 921 votes.

Beall actually picked up 24 votes in this county but McDonald gained 101, reducing Beall's majority to 5,588. However, the official count for the two counties plus the unofficial count from Garrett, Frederick and Montgomery counties gave Beall a majority of 14,890 votes in the district.

McKeldin Loses 46

The majority of Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin over Democrat William Preston Lane was reduced by 46 votes when McKeldin lost 59 in the official canvass and Lane lost 13. McKeldin's total amounted to 13,304 to Lane's 9,963, a majority of 3,341.

Doub Gains 1,079

The canvass served to increase the majority in this county of George Cochran Doub, Republican candidate for attorney general, to 5,663, an increase of 1,079 over his unofficial majority over his Democratic foe, Hall Hammond.

Doub, in the official count picked up 999 votes, boosting his total to 13,841, while Hammond dropped 80 votes for a final total of 8,178.

The majority of Alexander T. Grier, Republican candidate for comptroller, over his Democrat opponent, James J. Lacy, remained the same, 3,619, in the official count, but the former dropped six votes and the latter picked up the same number. Their final totals are Grier 12,760, Lacy 9,141.

A. Charles Stewart, Republican register of wills-elect, increased his majority over Register of Wills Thomas E. Stakem, Democrat, by 229 votes on the strength of picking up 184 in the official canvass while Stakem lost 45. Stewart's total vote was 13,138 to 9,624 for Stakem, a majority of 3,514.

In the contest of the state senate, Senator Robert B. Kimble, Republican, picked up 279 votes while his Democratic opponent, Thomas B. Finan, lost 103, increasing the incumbent's margin 382 votes to 5,108. Kimble polled 13,840 to 8,732 for Finan.

Two Results Unchanged

Besides Gov. O'Conor, the unofficial vote reported for Charles N. (Jerry) Wilkinson in the balloting for county commissioner was the only one to remain unchanged in the official canvass. Wilkinson's total of 16,166 remainded the same but William H. Lemmert, who topped the ticket, increased his total by 26 votes to 16,559. The vote for James Holmes, third successful candidate for county commissioner, tallied 13,400, an increase of 21. Samuel T. Weatherholt, only Democrat opposing the three Republicans lost one vote, his total dropping to 8,229. He was defeated.

The biggest change in the standing of candidates was noted in the House of Delegates contest, with the official count putting Republican Incumbent Lester B. Reed in front of the eight-man race. In the unofficial count Reed finished fourth.

Reed picked up 581 votes to boost his total to 14,470. Noel Speir Cook,

Unions May Place "Hot Cargo" Label On Virginia Poultry

A showdown in the joint drive of Local 453, Teamsters Union, and Local 387, Meat Cutters Union, to organize the poultry industry of the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia has been threatened for the week before Thanksgiving, according to the Trade Union Courier, an AFL publication.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent of the local Teamsters union, and Lester E. Travers, of the Meat Cutters international, the article said, have served notice upon some 40 poultry producers and commission firms that their produce will be declared "hot cargo" unless contracts with the unions are signed by that date.

The unions have been working for several months to organize some 500 drivers and over 2,000 production workers employed in the industry.

Poultry Drivers Local 167 and Inland Warehouse Local 818 have pledged they will not deliver such cargo to the New York market or distribute the poultry products to retail outlets in that area, union officials were quoted as saying.

A union official here said the embargo would not mean that New Yorkers would go without poultry for Thanksgiving since, he said, the chief source of supply for that area is the nearby Del-Mar peninsula.

William Krapf, president of Local 332, Meat Cutters Union here, has been assisting in the drive with Mike Roth of the Meat Cutters international.

One Stephens City, Va., and a Winchester, Va., firm have already signed up with the union, officials said.

Woman Is Granted Partial Divorce At Court Hearing

Complainant Sought Absolute Divorce From Romney, W. Va., Man

Following an all-day hearing in Circuit Court yesterday, Associate Judge Walter C. Capper granted a partial divorce to Mrs. Thelma Darr, Cumberland, from Robert Darr, Romney, W. Va. She also was awarded the custody of five children, all under 16.

Mrs. Darr had filed suit for an absolute divorce on grounds of desertion and cruelty, and Darr on a cross-bill accused her of desertion.

Married in 1921, the couple lived near Romney until she left him because of his cruel treatment on September 9, 1942, and came to Cumberland, according to testimony.

It was testified that Mrs. Darr went back to Romney from time to time to look after the children and lived with her husband occasionally until June 19, 1945, when she came to Cumberland for medical treatment. The children, it was said, have been living with her since about June 1946.

Mrs. Darr said her husband beat her on numerous occasions, was continually drunk and failed to properly support her and the children.

Darr, however, denied her accusations and said that he suffered from infantile paralysis and was able to do but little work.

In Judge Capper's oral opinion he held that Mrs. Darr was not entitled to an absolute divorce since there was no continuous separation or abandonment for 18 months as required by statute.

While requiring the defendant to pay the costs of the proceedings, Judge Capper said he would not

Flook Postpones Decision On Port Restaurant Plan

Commission Proposes Three Amendments To Lease Agreement

Amendments to a proposed lease agreement regarding the construction and operation of a restaurant at the Cumberland Municipal Airport by Harry E. Flook, Jr., were discussed at a meeting of the Municipal Airport Commission last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Flook, who attended the meeting with Roland W. Hamilton, said he will study the amendments and notify the commission within a week as to his decision. He said Hamilton will represent him in the event further discussions are held and he is unable to attend.

Amendments Listed

The amendments, submitted in writing by Thomas Lohr Richards, local attorney and a commission member, provide that all activities under the lease agreement will be subject to approval by the commission, representing the city, as well as by Cumberland Airways, Incorporated, which operates the field on a lease from the city.

Specifically, the three amendments state that Flook may not use the restaurant building for any other purpose than that specified in the lease; that the commission will have the same right to cancel the lease as Cumberland Airways; and that the commission may cancel the lease whenever it decides that the welfare of the port will be advanced by so doing.

Edmund S. Burke, commission chairman, explained that the third amendment is deemed necessary because of possible future expansion at the airport, which may involve construction of a permanent administration building and leasing of restaurant facilities by an airline.

Although the commission is willing to aid Flook as much as possible, Burke said, he pointed out that the group must remain in a "flexible position" until permanent operation is established, to protect the city's interests.

Arthur J. Weber said it may be several years before the hill at the port is removed, making room for a permanent administration building, and Flook said he hopes to get a full return on his initial investment in two years' time.

Questions regarding estimated cost of building and equipping the restaurant, Flook said that he is still waiting for the contractor to give him an estimate, but that his total investment will probably be less than $10,000.

John A. Chapman, airport manager for Cumberland Airways, said that in the event a major airline does not offer to operate here and build a permanent structure, William J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of the corporation, plans to construct the building. Flook would then have first chance to apply for the restaurant concession in the new building, Chapman added.

The commission agreed that the concellation clause should provide for six months' notice to Flook.

Mayor Post suggested that the commission might reimburse Flook for any loss in the event he does not get a return on his investment before other arrangements for the restaurant concession are made, but Burke said the commission could not make any such commitment, and suggested that Flook might work out an arrangement with Cumberland Airways in regard to rental procedure.

Local Resident Forced To Wait Several Months To Read Letter

Finnish Legation Supplies Translation For Miss Ruth Lester

Most persons, when they get mail, are anxious to read it immediately, and Miss Ruth Lester is no exception. But she had to wait until yesterday before reading a letter she received several months ago.

Miss Lester, one of the operators in a local beauty shop, knitted a sweater two years ago under the production program of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross. The sweater was among other articles of clothing shipped to destitute countries overseas.

On May 27 of this year, Mrs. Elsa Ollikainen, who received Miss Lester's sweater, sat down and wrote a letter of thanks from her home in Kokkola, Linnuspera, Finland.

The airmail letter reached Cumberland a short time later, but Miss Lester could find no one able to read Finnish, although she inquired at the local library and the high schools.

Finally, she sent the letter to the Legation of Finland in Washington, D. C., and received an English translation yesterday from the legation secretary, Olavi Munkki.

The letter, addressing her as "Dear Unknown Friend," said: "I thank you heartily for the Red Cross clothing-gift, which was so welcome for me, a needy Karelian emigrant. It was the first time that I received one of the gifts from you who are so far away. How happy we are that our Finland is being remembered and helped, now undergoing so many difficulties. It was a pleasure to receive your address, so I can personally thank you."

Mrs. Ollikainen went on to say that her husband is a painter, and that they have a 7-year-old son.

"The children here have not even seen chocolate and other delicacies during the past seven years, which have been war years in Finland," she wrote. "There is a shortage of most foodstuffs, everything is rationed; the same is true of clothing, which are difficult to obtain. Clothing is such a welcome gift from America for those of us here who are so in need of wearing apparel."

Miss Lester plans to reply to the letter, with the assistance of the Finnish legation.

Celanese Position On Seniority Is Upheld In Award

Arbitrator Says Company Was Justified In Discharging Employe

The position of the Celanese Corporation of America was upheld by Sidney A. Wolff, New York arbitrator, in awards from hearings on disputes between the company and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in connection with the discharge of Joseph Patsy and the seniority ratings of some 1,000 employes of the spinning department of the Amcelle plant.

In the first award, released to the press by Edward A. Allan, personnel manager of the Celanese plant, Wolff points out that a working agreement, not in writing, was reached in 1937 concerning the seniority status of the 9,000 employes of the plant on the basic plan that each employe was to be granted seniority in the subdivision in which he was assigned and working on January 1, 1937, and that his seniority was to date from the first day of employment in the plant except that the seniority date of any employe absent for any reason for nine months or more prior to January, 1937, was to be the date of his re-employment after such absence and not the date of his original employment.

Union Asked Change

The union was seeking, the brief stated, to have seniority status of the people transferred to spinning prior to 1937 redetermined in accordance with the seniority provisions of the present contract dated September 30, 1945.

That agreement provides that on permanent transfer from one division or subdivision to another, an employe loses his seniority already earned and takes seniority as of the date of transfer.

In the case, involving seniority ratings of about 1,000 employes of the spinning department of the Amcelle plant, the arbitrator disallowed the union position that the provisions of the present contract providing for a two year cut-off period in determining seniority be applied retroactively to 1937.

To allow the union's request, Wolff said, would mean that the seniority ratings of the employes would be computed in a manner different from that in which ratings are computed throughout the rest of the plant.

A seniority system, he added, truly to be effective, "ought to be applied on the same basis throughout a plant" and added "no valid reason has been presented to justify a departure from that system insofar as the spinning people are concerned."

He added further that to change the method of computing seniority ratings of spinning employes would affect the ratings of over 600 persons prior to January 1, 1937 and would result in the loss to about 120 persons the average of 149 places on the seniority lists while 507 other employes would gain an average of 34 places.

Rights Are Valuable

"The seniority rights of the minority," Wolff said, "have already vested. Those rights are valuable property rights and before they may be impaired, it must clearly appear that the parties intended that result when the various agreements were made."

The arbitrator paid tribute to the union, whose position favored the majority, for allowing full participation of the minority who, if the union's position were sustained, would have been adversely affected.

Although the union, through its counsel, presented its contentions on behalf of the majority, never-

Dr. Ray Visits Several City Offices For Survey

Dr. Joseph M. Ray, of the University of Maryland, is spending several days in Cumberland to gather additional material for a survey of Cumberland's municipal government, which he is making at the request of Mayor Thomas S. Post and the City Council.

Dr. Ray visited the Water Department office, the department warehouse, and the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, yesterday, and conferred with members of the Board of Civil Service Commissioners. In the afternoon he attended a special meeting of the board of directors of the Evitts Creek Water Company at the invitation of Mayor Post, who is vice president and a director of the company.

After returning to College Park tomorrow, according to present plans, Dr. Ray does not expect to be able to revisit Cumberland until some time next month because of the press of other duties. He is head of the Department of Government and Politics of the College of Business and Public Administration at the university.

Towner Stresses State's Wealth In Scenic Values

Kiwanis Speaker Urges Wide Participation In Conservation

Asserting that nature has endowed Maryland with vast resources and that the wealth of the state is enormous if handled properly, Merle E. Towner, of Baltimore, general purchasing agent for the Western Maryland Railway Company, told members of the Kiwanis Club in an address at Central YMCA yesterday that we must not throw our resources away, and to destroy them is not only wanton but cowardly.

Pointing out that by proper conservation soil, forests, water, coal, marble and brick can be replaced, he declared that we must give as well as take from land, forests, and mines and that we must not throw away the resources God has given the state.

Urges Partnership

Speaking on the subject "Conservation And Perpetuation Of The Natural Resources of Maryland," Towner said that we as citizens should be partners with out city, county, state and nation in affairs of government, because all of us, he said, are affected by what happens in our state.

Asserting that he had traveled all over the United States as well as abroad, Towner told the Kiwanians that nowhere in the world could any prettier scenery be found than right here in Western Maryland. He said that the scenic values of the state are teeming with wealth if managed properly.

Lashing out at pollution of Maryland streams, Towner declared that we "have a right to demand clean and unpolluted streams in the state and we should see to it that we get them." He added that there should be more oysters, crabs and fish taken from Maryland water and with proper conservation we should get five times as many oysters as are now being taken, three times as many crabs and much more fish.

Conservation Termed Vital

Prevention of soil erosion, conservation of forests and wildlife and prevention of stream pollution are absolutely necessary in Maryland, Towner asserted. He said that conservation means building up and to protect the resources of the state it is imperative that conservation be practiced.

Towner told of the creation of the Board of Natural Resources in Maryland and outlined some of the work it is doing, explaining its program for the future. He touched on forests and parks and said that new timber-cutting practices have been put into effect which will mean much to conservation of forests. He spoke of the research and educational work going on in the state in the conservation field and added that school children are now being told what is happening and can happen in conservation of natural resources.

Part of his address was devoted to the work being done by the Soil Conservation Service. He said there are now 22 conservation districts in the state. Many farmers in Maryland, he added, are now practicing soil and water conservation, are using contour and strip cultivation and are protecting their woodlands and wildlife.

Guests at the meeting included Dr. Joseph Ray and Edward Davis, of the University of Maryland.

$7,000 Paid By Morgret To Be Turned Over To City Account

A tract of land known as the Cooper farm property, comprising 291 acres near the upper end of Lake Koon dam in Bedford county, Pa., was sold to William D. Morgret, 338 Baltimore avenue, yesterday by the Evitts Creek Water Company, in a deed transaction held at a special meeting of the company's board of directors in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Purchase price was $7,000. On the motion of Richard C. Snyder, director-solicitor, it was voted to turn the money over to the city, to be placed in the water operating account. The motion was seconded by Mayor Post.

The special meeting was scheduled after it was decided at a previous board meeting two weeks ago to ask for sealed bids on the property and to open them November 7. The action was taken when George Henderson, local attorney, appeared at the earlier meeting to protest the board's procedure in arranging to convey the property to Morgret without asking for bids. No other bids were received, however.

In another motion at yesterday's meeting, Snyder suggested that a resolution be passed to amend the bylaws by stating that in the future no property owned by the Evitts Creek Water Company shall be sold except on the written recommendation of the Mayor and Council. The motion, seconded by Mayor Post, was passed unanimously, and the resolution will be voted at the next board meeting in January.

Morgret's offer of $7,000 for the Cooper farm property was previously recommended by Charles J. Bruce, superintendent of the company, and approved by the Mayor and Council at a meeting August 12. The property was purchased by the company in 1931 for $7,000.

George G. Young, president, presided at the meeting.

Two Runaways Are Held

Two Concord, N. H., youths, one 15 and the other 16, were picked up here yesterday morning at 4 o'clock by Officer C. C. Roby. Police said last night the parents of the runaway youths have been notified and are on their way here to return the boys to their homes.

ENGINEER—R. E. Small, of the Jet Propulsion Division of General Electric Company, Lynn, Mass., delivered an informative talk and illustrated lecture last night before members of Cumberland Engineering Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Small predicts that all commercial and military planes of the future will be high-speed jet propelled affairs.

R. E. Small Tells Engineers About Jet Propulsion

General Electric Expert Outlines Progress And Future Plans

Outlining new developments in power motivation, R. E. Small of the Jet Propulsion Division of the General Electric Company, Lynn, Mass., addressed members of the Cumberland Engineering Club at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club last night.

Introduced by the club president, Robert W. McGibbon, Small exhibited motion picture films and slides, showing the development of new jet propulsion motors and gave a resume of progress and a word-picture of things to come in the field.

He explained in detail the principal of jet propulsion and also showed various types of jet propulsion engines now in use, explaining the advantages and disadvantages of each.

Small predicted that in the future, most of the military planes and naval planes of this country, now in use will be replaced by some type of jet propulsion power plant.

Speeds up to 650 miles per hour have been obtained by this type of energy, he said, and further improvement in design and development of materials may step this figure ahead. Jet propelled planes operate best, fastest and most economically at high altitudes, the speaker declared.

In the question period which followed his interesting lecture, Small said he believed jet propulsion would not be used on private planes for many years, because of maintenance and high initial cost. He also suggested that few private plane owners want such high speeds, and couldn't handle it if they had it.

He also said that jet propulsion is being viewed with interest by large commercial airlines, and considerable progress has been made in this field. The real opportunity for manufacturers, scientists and engineers, interested in the subject, lies in this large field. He declared that trans-oceanic and transcontinental air travel will soon utilize the principal of jet propulsion almost entirely.

Three new members were elected last night to the club's executive committee. They are Edgar Duke LaVale and James Thayer, Park Heights from the Kelly Springfield Tire Company and William Stearn, Karns avenue representing the Celanese Corporation of America.

The executive committee will meet November 20 and elect officers for the new year. The next meeting of the club will be held December 18.

Celanese Man Will Become Assistant Manager Of Weaving Mill

The transfer of Ralph H. Balch, of the research weaving department at the Celanese plant here, to the Staunton Textile Company, Staunton, Va., as assistant manager, was announced last night. The Staunton firm is a subsidiary of the Celanese Corporation.

Balch's transfer to the Staunton weaving mill, which employes about 500 workers, becomes effective November 18.

A native of New Hampshire, Balch has been associated with the textile business all his life, and was employed in the research department of Pacific Mills, Lawrence Mass., before coming to the Celanese plant here 15 years ago.

At the present time Mr. and Mrs. Balch and their two daughters live at Park Heights. The family intends to move to Staunton as soon as a home can be located there.

Court Is Unable To Select Jury For Cosner Trial

Case Continued Until Dec. 9; To Draw Jurors From Tucker County

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 7—After failure of repeated efforts to complete a jury panel of 20 men, Judge Ernest A. See, of Mineral County Circuit Court yesterday postponed the murder trial of Oscar Cosner, 36, until Monday, December 9, with instructions to call for a jury from Tucker county.

Under West Virginia law, Judge See explained, when it becomes evident at the discretion of the court, that a qualified jury cannot be found, a court order may be issued drawing a jury panel from another county.

Cosner's three defense attorneys argued that the procedure violated the jury trial amendment of the Constitution of the United States, and Section 14 of the West Virginia Constitution.

"We are insisting on a trial by jury in Mineral county, by a jury from Mineral county," defense counsel H. G. Shores declared.

Examined 96 Citizens

West Virginia Court procedure provides that 20 men must be selected for a panel, and of that number 12 are selected for the jury. After working all day Wednesday and throughout the forenoon today 19 men had been selected by the court for the panel. A total of 128 names had been drawn, and 96 of those appeared in court in answer to jury duty summons. Of this 96, the majority said they had already formed opinions in the case, and a few opposed capital punishment. Either reason automatically disqualified them.

After the 20 men are selected for a jury panel, then attorneys on either side have the right to challenge any or all of the jurors, and the court believed that few of the 19 would remain after this procedure was followed.

He declined to order the clerk to draw another 40 names from the jury box, repeating his assertion of Wednesday, "we are only wasting time."

Jurors summoned to court are paid mileage and by the day for the time served. Each of the 96 summoned was paid a day's pay by the county in addition to mileage.

Cosner Very Attentive

The defendant, Oscar Cosner, a letter carrier at the Keyser post office for several years and former student at Potomac State College, paid close attention to the procedure in court. Calm and composed, he followed each move closely and as each prospective juror was called, Cosner scrutinized him carefully.

The young man, accused by the state of beating his wife, Hazel Alt Cosner, to death with a baseball bat in the early morning hours of September 3, has been highly regarded in the community and is generally considered a highly intelligent and diligent young man.

When he appeared in court today, he was neatly attired in a blue suit with white pin stripes, was neatly
